Governors plan to boost ailing railroads

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eleven governors appealed to President Ford Saturday for massive federal aid to revitalize the nation's ailing railroads. Most also opposed plans for abandonment of unprofitable branch lines.

Gov. William Milliken, of Michigan, a Republican, said they found Ford "open minded" and willing to consider their views and recommendations in developing a railroad program that must be sent to Congress by July 26.

Milliken, who briefed reporters inside the White House, said there was no support among the governors for government takeover of the entire national railroad system. He said he urged more time for the states to work out a plan for abandonment of unprofitable branch lines and suggested a two-year moratorium and federal-state matching funds over a 10-year period while some solution is worked out.

Transportation Secretary William Coleman, who joined in the 90-minute session, said that "we are attempting to develop a program which the government will support and will solve the problem."

Coleman said the President had instructed him to continue to talk with the governors to help come up with such a program.

Pennsylvania Gov. Milton Shapp, a Democrat, said "the governors pretty much agreed that the U.S. Railway Association plan is not going to work." This was a reference to a quasi-government agency that was set up to work out a plan for presentation to Congress on reorganizing the national railroad system, particularly the bankrupt or financially disabled lines in the Midwest and New Englnd areas.

Shapp said that only Gov. Otis R. Bowen of Indiana, a Republican, supported the plan that calls for the substantial abandonment of unprofitable lines.

"If any administration proposal includes the abandonment of substantial lines in our state, we'll be destroyed," said Gov. Brendan Byrne, D-N.J.

Gov. Ella T. Grasso, D-Conn., said: "We felt that the subsidies would have to be substantial, otherwise they would be cosmetic," referring to the governor's request for massive federal aid.

U.S. wins aviation 'deal of century'

Belgium, 3 other nations to buy U.S. jets (YF16) in billion dollar pact

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Belgium decided Saturday to buy the American YF16 jet fighter rather than the French Mirage, paving the way for a multibillion dollar "deal of the century" — the biggest series of sales in the history of aviation.

Belgium joins Holland, Denmark and Norway to take 306 planes, nearly $1.9 billion worth at $6.1 million each. Beginning in 1979 they replace the F104g Starfighter. Additional orders are expected later both from these four countries and from other West European allies.

The U.S. Air Force wants at least 650. With the psychological boost from the European purchase, representatives of General Dynamics Corp. are expected to push even harder for sales around the globe from Japan to Chile. They hope to sell as many as 3,000, which would be more than $18 billion worth.

In Paris, General Dynamics Board Chairman David F. Lewis, attending the international air show, said it was "a great day" not only for the company and the United States but also for the Western alliance. But French Premier Jacques Chirac, in a speech to 4,000 guests at the air show, said, "We were very disappointed by this decision and the government will now take whatever action is necessary to support the momentum of the French aeronautics industry."

In Ft. Worth, Tex., where the F16 is built, city leaders, politicians and others called the Belgian decision "great news ... tremendous ... a coup." A General Dynamics spokesman at corporate headquarters in St. Louis, Mo., said the company felt the NATO consortium "couldn't have made a better choice."

It was fierce competition in Belgium. Both President Ford and Valery Giscard d'Estaing of France saw Belgian Premier Leo Tindemans last month and talked about the deal. Earlier there had been repeated charges of bribery and undue political pressure.

Belgium has strong ties with France, sentimental as well as economic. Tindemans tried to use the prospect of a big order for the Mirage to win Giscard's support for a united European aircraft industry to compete with big American firms like General Dynamics.

AVIATION DEAL OF THE CENTURY

Belgium decided Saturday the aviation "deal of the century" in favor of the United States, selecting the YF16 lightweight fighter plane built by General Dynamics Corp. over the French Mirage F1. Premier Leo Tindemans announced the decision.

$9 million a week for teachers too

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Teachers, eligible for summer unemployment benefits for the first time, could collect as much as $9 million a week in federal funds in California if all those eligible apply.

An estimated 100,000 teachers are expected to apply for the benefits, said a spokesman for the state Employment Development Department.

Congress recently enacted legislation making teachers who do not work during the summer months eligible for the benefits.

Teachers will be eligible "even if they have a 12-month contract and plan to return to school in the fall," the employment spokesman said.

The benefits range up to $90 a week in California.

Racially-troubled Hamlet under heavy police patrols

HAMLET, N.C. (AP) — Hamlet was under curfew and heavy police surveillance Saturday following a night of racial violence.

Three persons, including a fireman and his son, were injured, and four buildings were hit by fire Friday night. No further trouble was reported Saturday.

A white police officer was arrested Saturday morning and charged with assaulting a black woman who said the officer shot her early Thursday when she was arrested on charges of resisting arrest and disorderly conduct.

Blacks staged a march Friday afternoon, charging that the black woman, 21-year-old Rhonda Scott, was a victim of police brutality.

Miss Scott said city police Sgt. James Bryant shot her, but police Chief Ernest King said she only suffered bruises when she fell to the pavement during the arrest.

However, Richmond County Sheriff Raymond W. Goodman, whose deputies arrested Sgt. Bryant, told the city council Saturday that Miss Scott had "in my opinion a gunshot wound in her back."

The sheriff emphasized that he was making no allegations about how, when or by whom the wound was inflicted.

Miss Scott was taken to Hamlet Hospital for treatment Thursday, but hospital administrator S.B. Bowers said Saturday that he could not confirm or deny her claim that she suffered a bullet wound.

He said hospital reports said she had a small laceration on her head and two holes on the right side of her back about an eighth of an inch deep. Bowers said a doctor did not see Miss Scott, but other hospital employes treated her.

He said she was no longer at the hospital. Her whereabouts were not known.

Miss Scott had said earlier that police pulled her out of a taxi when she refused to get out after being told she was under arrest. "When I didn't, Sgt. Bryant was beating me with his slapjack and I struggled with him and got away," she said.

"He threw the slapjack at me and when I picked it up he began beating me with a flashlight. The he pulled a gun and shot and hit my back," Miss Scott said.

Meanwhile, investigators said they had found evidence that Friday night's fires at four buildings and a vacant lot were set deliberately.

"We've found soft drink bottles at three of the buildings and all the wicks were made out of the same material," said one investigator.

Mayor J. Earl Covington said Friday night's disorders were due to too many people on the streets in ghamlet, a railroad town of 5,000 near the famed Pinehurst golf resort.

Covington declared a state of emergency and imposed the 9 p.m. to 5 a.m. curfew, which Sheriff Goodman extended to surrounding Monks Creek township.

'On-strike' prostitutes spread church sit-ins

PARIS (AP) — French prostitutes spread their church sit-ins to Paris and other cities Saturday, pushing demands that the world's oldest profession be formally recognized as a job like any other. One of the movement's leaders, in an effort to buttress the prostitutes' cause, declared "most of us are good mothers."

Other prostitutes in the Riviera resorts of Cannes and Nice went "on strike" over the weekend and kept off their normal sidewalk beats in solidarity with the demonstrators.

About 200 girls flocked to a modern chapel in a new office development in central Paris overnight. Another 200 occupied a church in Marseille, about 100 were in the sixth day of occuption of a major church in Lyon, where the sit-in action started, and a smaller group took over a church annex in Grenoble, leaving the church itself free for services.

Heroic action saves 2 from burning car

By JON MORRIS
PB Staff Writer

Two middle-aged women are "lucky to be alive" today, according to a highway patrolman who helped pull them from their burning car, after it was rear-ended by another auto following a high-speed pursuit on the San Bernardino Freeway.

Dennis Rice, 21, of Loma Linda, was booked into County-USC Medical Center's jail ward for felony drunk driving after his car, traveling at speeds of 100 miles an hour, struck the auto of Frederick Able, 50, of Glendora, late Friday night.

Able's wife, Lorraine, 49, and a passenger, Grace Schube, 62, of Anderson, Ind., were pulled from the auto, which burst into flames after the collision.

CHP Officer W. Baker and Able pulled the women, who were in the rear seat, from the car. Mrs. Able suffered singed hair, and Mrs. Schube has rib and hip injuries. Both were reported in fair condition at Pomona Valley Community Hospital.

Able was treated and released from the same hospital.

Rice originally had struck a car on the freeway at Rosemead Boulevard, and continued from there at high speeds until he passed a highway patrol car near the Via Verde offramp in the San Dimas area.

Officer C. Brown said Rice was pursued speeds of at 100 miles an hour until he struck the Able car at the Dudley Street offramp in Pomona.

Rice's car continued on the freeway, but hit a center divider and finally stopped, officers said. The driver was pulled, unconscious, from the auto and taken to the Pomona hospital. He was later transferred to the medical center jail ward in Los Angeles, and was reported in good condition.

Ford ponders report on CIA this weekend

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford expects to finish reading the Rockefeller Commission's report on the Central Intelligence Agency over the weekend and make a decision this week on releasing it, his chief spokesman said Saturday.

"I assume the report will be made public," Press Secretary Ron Nessen told reporters in an apparent effort to ease speculation that the administration had switched plans on disclosing the contents.

Ford, meanwhile, scheduled a news conference Monday at 7:30 p.m., EDT, in which the Rockefeller report was sure to be a major topic of questioning.

The news conference will be broadcast live on national radio and television by all the major networks and Nessen said that weather permitting would be held outdoors in the White House Rose Garden. It would be the second such outdoor news conference for Ford.

Considerable controversy had been raised over the CIA probe report, which Vice President Nelson A. Rockefeller delivered to the President Friday. The commission staff had indicated to the news media that it would be made public probably this weekend.

But, at a news briefing, Friday, Nessen told reporters that Ford would have to read the 300-page report and then make the decision on whether it would be made public.

He said firmly, "As far as the White House is concerned, the question of releasing the report always has depended upon the President first having an opportunity to read it."

Nearly deaf man killed by train

A 55-year-old Ontario man whose relatives said was nearly deaf was killed by a freight train about 8:10 a.m. Saturday.

Pronounced dead at the scene was Vegil Clifford Donaldson, 808-A Nocta St., Ontario.

Engineer Ned Wakeham of Garden Grove said his Union Pacific freight train was eastbound when he saw Donaldson step onto the tracks at the end of Garfield Avenue and Jefferson Street.

He said he blew the train's whistle, that Donaldson backed off the tracks and then stepped on them again.

Donaldson died of multiple injuries.

Weather

Low clouds this morning with a chance of light drizzle. Hazy sunshine this afternoon with highs in the low 70's. Slightly warmer Monday. Lows tonight in the low 50s. Sunset tonight at 8:01 p.m., sunrise Monday 5:39 a.m.

Onassis left daughter kiss . . . and $1 billion

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — In a will handwritten during an Acapulco-New York jet flight and signed "with my last kiss, daddy," Aristotle Onassis left the bulk of his estimated $1 billion estate to his daughter Christina and gave $250,000 a year to his widow, the former Jacqueline Kennedy.

But Onassis stipulated that $50,000 of the widow's share must be set aside for her two children, Caroline and John Jr., until they reach "adulthood."

The contents of the will were disclosed Saturday by Stelios Papadimitriou, legal adviser to the Onassis-owned Springfield Shipping Co., based in the port city of Piraeus.

The 18-page will was written by Onassis on Jan. 3, 1974, during a six-hour flight aboard his private jet, the adviser said. It creates two private companies to absorb shares in his various far flung business interests to go toward financing the nonprofit Alexander Onassis Foundation.

Alexander, only son of the billionaire shipping magnate, died in a plane crash in January 1973.

The will, which begins "To my dear daughter," stipulates that Christina, 24, is responsible for executing her father's wishes.

The will lists inheritors ranging from Onassis' three sisters who are to receive $60,000 each annually for life to employes of his various enterprises.

Christina also receives $250,000 a year for life as well as controlling interest of her father's shipping empire and 500 shares of the two companies that will fund the non-profit foundation. If she marries, Christina's husband would receive $50,000 a year for life.

The publication of the will came two days after Papadimitriou read a statement on behalf of Christina disclosing that half of her father's estate would be given away through the non-profit foundation.

High-flying 'copter' convict is captured

LESLIE, Mich. (AP) — Dale Otto Remling, the hog thief and rubber check artist who flew from the yard of Southern Michigan Prison to freedom in a hijacked helicopter, was captured Saturday in a bar.

The arresting officer said Remling grinned and surrendered without incident.

Remling, 46, had been free about 30 hours when a plainclothes state trooper picked him up in a bar in Leslie, about 13 miles north of Jackson where the dramatic aerial escape began Friday morning.

Remling told reporters his penchant for escape stems from a dislike of prisons. "I think cages are for something other than people. You talk about problems with people, the prison system breeds it into you."

The man who hijacked a charter helicopter at knifepoint to begin the aerial breakout still is sought by police. He was identified by State Police as 20-year-old Morris Colosky of Weberville.

Three women have been arrested as accomplices in the breakout, and a fourth is being sought.

Remling hopped aboard the pirated chopper Friday morning after the hijacker directed pilot Richard Jackson to set down next to the license plate plant in the world's largest walled prison.

Remling's freedom was short-lived, however. After police heard there was a stranger in Leslie, about half-a-dozen plainclothes officers went into the town to search for Remling.

Trooper William Flower from the Lansing State Police post said he saw Remling coming out of a grocery store and followed him into Huffie's Bar.

"He turned and took two steps, I stopped him but he got into the crowd. I pulled my gun on him, told him to raise his hands and shook him down," said Flower.

"He just grinned."

He said Remling talked very casually about horses and didn't mention the escape, which followed closely the plot of a new movie, "Breakout," which recently had played in the city of Jackson.

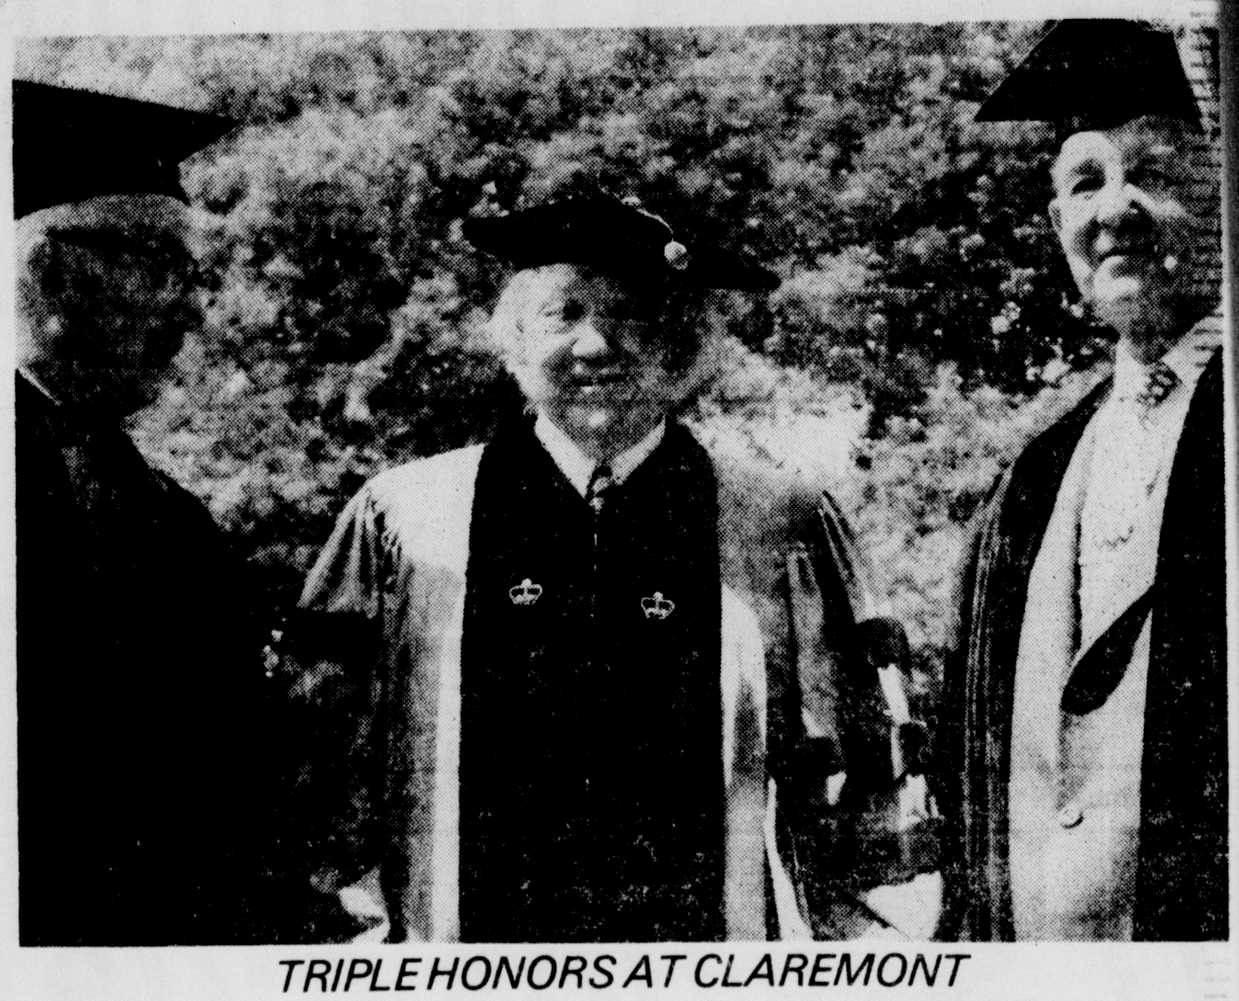
Said Remling, "There was no use for me to shed tears. He had the cannon on me, I didn't have it on him."

Flower said "by the looks of him, he probably spent the night in the bushes. He was scratched in the face."

Police said Remling gave a statement describing the helicopter escape, but he did not name any other person.

Meanwhile, State Police said Donald Hill of Fowlerville, who was picked up Friday, "had been absolved of any responsibility in the escape." He was picked up just hours after the breakout, and officers said then he was believed to be the hijacker.

Three women, two of them arrested Saturday, have been arrested and charged with aiding and abetting the escape.



TRIPLE HONORS AT CLAREMONT

Recipients of honorary doctorates from Claremont Graduate School chatting before the academic procession Saturday afternoon are, from left, Robert Fox Bacher, professor of physics at Cal Tech; Henry Steele Commager, historian and principal speaker at the ceremony; and John A. Vieg, professor of government emeritus at Pomona College and Claremont Graduate School.

'All problems are global,' noted historian tells grads

CLAREMONT — In an address to the graduating scholars of Claremont Graduate School Sunday afternoon, the eminent historian, Henry Steele Commager, said that "the kind of nationalism we have known in the past two centuries must be profoundly modified if mankind is to survive."

Commager later joined the 172 persons who received degrees from CGS when the school presented him an honorary doctor of humane letters degree. In the presentations, the Amherst College professor was described as "historian to the nation" — the author of 20 books, editor of another 24, and the writer of hundreds of scholarsly articles.

Commager said the world is confronted with two concepts: first, it has become a world of shortages in which "we are running out of almost everything but people," and, second, isolationism has come to a "real and final end."

"Time was when we assumed that we could sovle our own problems within the framework of our own national boundaries or — at an extreme — within what we called the Atlantic community," he said. "And there are still people in Washington who think that way. But we know better. All our problems are globat . . What is called for now is radical rethinking and reconstruction. What is required are new philosophical and moral as well as new political approaches."

Commager said not only is competitive nationalism a threat to mankind's survival, but "it is a serious question whether the workd can afford much longer to leave the exploitation of the oil and water and forest and soil to the vagaries of private enterprise."

"You can certainly make out a case that all the wealth of nature in America belongs to the people," he said. "We may have to make out a case that the wealth of nature everywhere on the globe belongs to mankind, and that its exploitation must be controlled — or at least regulated — by international agencies which speak for the interests of mankind."

The graduate school conferred two other honoary degrees during the ceremonies. A doctor of laws degree went to Robert Fox Bacher, professor of physics and former provost at Cal Tech, one of the original five members of the Atomic Energy Commission and a member of the Claremont University Center Board of Fellows. Another doctor of laws degree went to John A. Vieg, professor of government, emeritus, at Pomona College and Claremont Graduate School. Vieg is the author of two political science books and many articles and monographs and the coauthor of six other books. He has been an active participant in government from the Lend Lease Administration to the Claremont Planning Commission.

CGS President Barnaby C. Keeney presented 59 doctor of philosophy degrees, 19 master of fine arts degrees, and 94 master's degrees. The ceremony was held in Bridges Auditorium.

Russ actress missing

STAMFORD, Conn. (AP) — There was no sign here Saturday of a Russian actress Victoria Fyodorova and the American pilot she reportedly was to marry.

More than a dozen reporters, photographers and camera crew members waited outside the home of Pan American World Airways pilot Frederick Pouy, but there was no indication that either Pouy or Miss Fyodorova was inside. Dark curtains were drawn over the windows.

Seniors to be honored Monday

Five graduating seniors will be presented awards at the Pomona Coordinating Council's Student Recognition Day luncheon Monday at Sir George's restaurant.

They are Bernadette Mendiendo of Pomona Catholic Girls High School; Korla Burbanks and James Lacey of Ganesha High School; Alfredo Escoto of Pomona High School; and Steven Trenholme of Garey High School.

Selection for awards was based on achievement, leadership, scholarship, community awareness and character.

Pomona Councilman Charles Bader will make the presentations. Students and their parents will be luncheon guests of the council.

Miss Mendiendo has contributed more than 400 hours as a Candy Striper at Pomona Valley Community Hospital. She is an officer at school and a member of the Future Nurses Club. She was a yearbook photographer. She has been active in 4H, raising cattle and sewing. She provides music at Basque celebrations.

Miss Burbanks, also a Candy Striper with 385 volunteer hours to her credit, is a Sunday school teacher, youth choir secretary and an executive board representative.

Her school activities have included Future Teachers, Student Action for Education, Ushers, Coronets, Black Student Union and Pep Club.

Lacey, associated student body president at Ganesha, was athletic commissioner his junior year. He has been involved in YMCA youth and government programs two years. He is a three-year Key Club member and an all-league San Antonio League football payer. He works as a boxboy at a market.

Escoto, student body president at Pomona High, is a 1974-75 member of the Mayor's Youth Commission. He was Outstanding Club President of 1974. He serves on the GLACCA Area Council I Youth Committee. He was commended for working with gang problems in the city. Escoto, a baker for a food market, works fulltime.

Trenholme, Progress-Bulletin Teen Scope correspondent at Garey, is the recipient of a national writing award. He is captain of Garey's track and cross-country teams.

Infants found abandoned

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Two newborn infants were found abandoned within a 13-hour span in Los Angeles County, authorities said Saturday.

Both infants were reported in good health at local hospitals.

Three teen-agers found a newborn boy in a paper sack on a front lawn in suburban Downey late Friday night. The infant was taken to Kaiser Hospital, where doctors said it appeared to be about two hours old.

The infant was later taken to County-USC Medical Center.

Refuse collector Archie Edwards found a newborn girl in a trash can in Pasadena on Friday. He was ready to dump the can into his truck when he saw a tiny hand protruding from beneath the refuse.

The infant girl was taken to Huntington Memorial Hospital, where doctors estimated her age at two hours.

Officers said both infants appeared to be of Latin descent.

Authorities in Pasadena and Downey were unable to turn up any trace of the mothers.

Cuba linked to terrorists

SANTO DOMINGO, Dominican Republic (AP) — Urban guerrillas have "clandestinely entered the country from Cuba to perform terrorist acts including kidnapings and sabotage against public and private property," Dominican officials announced Saturday.

They said the group was believed near San Jose de Ocoa, a small mountain community about 10 miles from the Caribbean on the country's south coast and about 50 miles west of Santo Domingo.

The number in the band was not given, but officials said they were all Dominicans.

A secret service report alerted the military to the urban terrorist threat, a communique said. As a result, security measures were started across the country three days ago.

Veterans benefits

Death compensation facts

By RAY CROMLEY
(Sixth in a Series)

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Public Law 93-295 increases dependency and indemnity compensation for widows and orphans of veterans whose deaths are service connected.

Peacetime death compensation is now paid to eligible widows and dependant parents at the full wartime rate, rather than at 80 per cent of wartime levels.

Eligible widows of enlisted men get from $215 to $294 a month, depending on rank. Eligible widows of officers and warrant officers are paid from $271 a month to $549.

A widow with one or more children of the deceased veteran below the age of 18 receives an additional $26 a month for each child. If the child is 18 or over but not yet 23 and studying at an approved education institution, he receives $55 a month in addition to education benefits.

If one such eligible child became permanently incapable of self-support before age 18, from that age on he or she is paid $108 a month.

When there is no widow receiving dependency and indemnity compensation, payment is made in equal shares to the veteran's children. One child will now receive $108 a month, two $156, and three, $201. For each additional child, payments are increased by $40 a month. Those over 18 who became permanently incapable of self support before that age, receive $64 a month.

Other legislation provides that a dependent parent of a veteran whose death is service connected may receive as much as $123 a month, if living alone and if other income is not more than $800 a year.

Public Law 93-527 increased by an average 12 per cent pensions paid to widows, widowers and orphans of totally and permanently disabled veterans whose afflictions were not service related. The law also increased by $400 the maximum annual income limitations for survivors receiving pensions.

The maximum a widow living alone may receive is $108 a month; with one dependent she may be paid as much as $128. But to receive these top rates she must have an income or no more than $300 a year or less.

If there is no eligible widow, children entitled to pensions receive monthly payments, but no pension is paid an orphan whose annual income, exclusive of earnings, is greater than $2,000. Forty-four dollars a month is paid for one child. The money is divided equally.

Payments for widows and dependent parents decrease with the size of their yearly income.

Site probed for nuclear power plant

MODESTO (AP) — Pacific Gas & Electric Co. began soil tests this week on a proposed nuclear power plant site in the Sierra Nevada foothills of eastern Stanislaus County.

A spokesman said Tuesday crews will dig eight trenches 3,000 feet long and 20 feet deep.

After soil tests are made, a tower will be constructed for weather testing, the utility said.

CENTRAL OFFRAMP OF THE SAN BERNARDINO FREEWAY

LO VIEJO Y LO NUEVO — Un pasatiempo al viejo estilo es una novedad para jovenes camperos de hoy en dia.

Ayude un nino a campar

La "Donrey Public Foundation Inc." esta realizando esfuerzos para enviar muchachos necesitados de la localidad a un campor de verano en las montanas de San Bernardino durante una semana. El compo es para muchachos de ocho a trece anos de edad, y la duracion de la estancia es del 5 al 12 de julio.

EL PROGRESS BULLETIN, se permite solicitar apoyo pecuniario para est proyecto en sus escritos diarios. No hay consto administrativo para esta empresa, y todo el proposito de mandar estos muchachos al campo.

La Fundacion ha seleccionado un Comite para elegir los ninos que iran al Campo. El Comite esta integrado por cinco prominentes personalidades del Valle. Estas personas pertenecen al Inter Group Outreach Program, Pomona Office of Community Relations, Boy's Club, South Hills Service Center y YMCA Outreach Program.

Si usted conoce algun nino que quisiera ir al Campo, y cuyos padres no pueden proporcionarselo, a el o a ella, por favor, Pongase en contacto con la Oficina de Relaciones de su localidad. Todas las ciudades del Valle tienen su oficina relacionada con este proyecto que pueden localizar llamando al Municipio de su localidad, (City Hall).

Si usted desea contribuir a la campana, sirvase enviar su contribucion a la "Donrey Public Foundation Inc.", P.O. Box 2708, Pomona, Ca. 91766.

Su contribucion es deducible de sus impuestos y todos los dias el PROGRESS BULLETIN, publicara una relacion de los donantes, a menos que el contribuyente reclame el anonimo.

Estudiaran necesidad de comision policiaca

Un acuerdo para estudiar las necesidades para una comision de policia en Pomona y implementar una variedad de nuevos procedimientos en el departamento de policia de la ciudad fue aprobado en la noche del lunes por el Concejo de la Ciudad de Pomona.

El acuerdo, redactado por oficiales de la ciudad y representantes de una Coalicion de Minorias pro Recta Justicia hace seis semanas, fue formalmente aprobado por el concejo por unanimidad de votos.

El punto clave en el acuerdo es un estudio factible de la necisidad de una comision de policia en Pomona, un proyecto que ha sido fuertemente discutido en tiempos recientes por los legisladores municipales y las minorias residentes.

Bajo el acuerdo, el estudio sera completado en 90 dias por el mismo grupo que planeo y discutio el asunto.

La accion del lunes del concejo da fin a una situacion embarazosa que se inicio en enero durante una sesion municipal, en la cual miembros de las minorias residentes en la localidad protestaron de la actitud policiaca relacionada con las mismas.

A continuacion de la reunion, fue llamado el Sr. Angel Alderete, del Comite del Servicio de Relaciones Sociales del Departamento de Justicia de los EE. UU., para promover un dialogo amistoso y constructivo entre los residentes y las autoridades de la ciudad.

Durante los meses previos, representates de ambos puntos de vista fueron seleccionados y los mismos trabajaron hasta lograr el proyecto aprobado en procipio por la municipalidad el lunes.

Ademas del estudio de la comision de policia factible, el acuerdo propone que so nombren empleados bilungues en la seccion de quejas del departamento de policia.

Tambien propone un incremento de personal perteneciente a los grupos minoritarios, con el proposito de que sean destinados a determinadas areas geograficas de la ciudad.

Aunque la mayoria de los acuerdos se relacionan con la policia, tambien sugieren que el Adminstrador de la Ciudad, Sr. Jerrold Gonce, inicie conversaciones entre representantes del PROGRESS BULLETIN y las minorias resiedentes concernientes al reportaje de noticias relativas con las mismas.

Loa miembros de los grupos firmantes del acuerdo fueron: Gonce, Jefe de Policia F. P. Wallich, el Abogado de la Ciudad senor Patric Sampson, concejar Sr. Banjamin Ochoa, todos en representacion de la ciudad, y Rafael Estupinian, John Owsey, Robert L. Smtih, Rudy Gutierrez y Eddie Garcia, en representacion de la Coalicion de Recta Justicia, igual para todos.

El Sr. Ochoa alabo a todos los participantes, por sus muchas horas de esfuerzo realizado durante las negociaciones, y enfatizo la necesidad de seguir cooperando.

Viet family moves happily to Chino

The 45-year-old Vietnamese father speaks almost no English, but when asked how he likes his new home in Chino, he beams with pride.

"I'm happy, happy," he repeats.

His sponsor, Arturo Petit, a Cuban refugee who lives in Chino, said Nguyen Van Long is relieved to have a home here.

"Everyone needs help," says Petit, who arranged with several other Cuban refugees for the rent and furniture for the family of seven Vietnamese.

Petit and the other Cubans, all employes at General Telephone Co. in Pomona, helped move the Vietnamese into the home at 13165 Monte Vista Ave., this week.

The other Cubans are Jose and Elizabeth Valcarce, Jesus Perera and Rene Nunez, all of Pomona, and Angel Torres of East Los Angeles.

"We knew what they needed in furniture and belongings, having also fled from Communists, and arrived in a new country," said Petit, 42.

Like the Vietnamese refugees, Petit was hoping America would give him a chance to build a new life. Petit had to work hard as a dishwasher and factory worker at first, but now leads a comfortable life in Chino.

The sponsoring Cubans are pledging $50 to $100 per month to assist the Vietnamese until they become self-supporting.

Long was a construction worker for an American company in Saigon, Petit said. He is a carpenter by trade but "he will take any job now. He isn't choosy."

The Vietnamese father has six other persons to provide for, and it won't be easy. He and his wife, Nguyen Thi Dieu, have four boys, aged 16, 13, 7 and 3. The boys' grandmother, Nguyen Thi Loc, also is living with them.

But Petit says Long will work hard at any job to make ends meet. And the important thing is, he is "happy," and relieved to be in the United States.

Former Cuban refugee Arturo Petit, left, welcomes Vietnamese family of seven to its new home at 13165 Monte Vista Ave., Chino. From left are Nguyen Thi Loc, grandmother; Nguyen Van Long, father; Nguyen Thai Hong, 13; Nguyen Thi Dieu, mother; Nguyen Thanh Liem, 16; and in front, Nguyen Thai Hiep, 3, and Nguyen Thai Ha, 7. They arrived last week.

Move murder trial to L. A.

The murder-kidnaping trial of four reported motorcycle gang members has been transferred from Pomona into Los Angeles for trial because of a new state law having to do with the manner in which juries are selected.

The four, Donald Kelson, 25, Ontario, Charles Evans, 34, Lawndale, David Dupres, 19, Torrance, and Gregory White, 20, Rowland Heights, are accused of murdering two men, kidnaping one of the victims and wounding a third. The prosecution has indicated that the death penalty will be sought against White, apparently accused of the actual slayings.

The incident occurred Feb. 5 at a motorcycle shop in Industry. One victim, Adelbert Hempy, 34, Ontario, was shot to death there. A second, Michael O'Hara, 25, Pomona, was kidnaped, shot and his body dumped out in Chino. The third victim, Anteleon Sanchez, 29, Walnut, was wounded in one leg.

Investigators said the shootings were the result of a feud between the Vagos and the Warlords clubs.

The trial was transferred by Pomona Superior Court Judge Charles Vogel who reportedly wanted to take no chances of a legal technicality upsetting the lengthy trial.

The law, which went into effect Jan. 1, requires that juries for a trial be selected on a county-wide basis instead of only from the judicial district in which the case is being tried. It has not been implemented, however, but implementation is expected July 1. If found to be valid, the change would probably end the practice of jurors drawn from the Pomona area sitting together in judgment on a case which occurred in the Pomona area.

The four defendants appeared Friday before Los Angeles Superior Court Judge Earl C. Broady who scheduled a hearing on various pretrial motions July 18. All four are in custody.

Pleads guilty: mental tests ordered

Jasper Bently Jr. of Fontana has been sent to the California Institution for Men's diagnostic center prior to sentencing after pleading guilty to a charge of vehicular manslaughter in West Valley Superior Court.

Bently on Nov. 1, 1974 was involved in a head-on traffic collision on Haven Avenue north of Base Line Road in Alta Loma that took the life of William Frederick Jamieson, 60, of 992 Indian Hill Blvd., Upland, and seriously injured his wife Jacqueline L. Jamieson.

Highway patrolmen investigating the accident arrested Bently on the manslaughter charges after finding that he was driving on the wrong side of the highway when the fatal accident occurred.

Bently appeared before Judge Clifton L. Allen in the Superior Court for pronouncement of judgment after pleading guilty to the charge. Judge Allen ordered Bently to spend 30 to 60 days at the CIM diagnostic center to determine if he should go to prison. A person found guilty of vehicular manslaughter could face from one to 15 years in a state prison.

Pomona College hikes tuition

Tuition at Pomona College will be increased Sept. 1 from $2,950 to $3,000, and room and board charges will be raised from $1,600 to $1,750, according to David Alexander, president of the college.

Increases, blamed on "general price inflation," were announced in letters to the 1,300 students and their parents.

Alexander's letter also noted that even with the increases announced, no student will pay more than one-half the cost of education. Gifts, endowment income and other sources provide subsidy of the other half of the cost of education to every student, including those who receive no financial aid.

Council to study RTD's valley plan

A report concerning the Southern California Rapid Transit District's study of transportation needs in the San Gabriel Valley area will be presented to the Pomona City Council Monday night.

The staff report will highlight the results of the Wilbur Smith study completed for RTD for both the East and West San Gabriel Valley areas and its recommendations for improved service.

Other agenda items for the 8 p.m. meeting include a report to the council concerning homesteading in Pomona. The city currently has one property designated for homesteading, and may receive up to 40 abandoned properties for homesteading purposes by late this summer.

The council will also receive a report concerning the outdoor display of merchandise by second-hand furniture dealers in the city. The dealers have recently protested a city ordinance which bans outdoor displays of furniture and other wares.

Pomona's proposed budget for the new fiscal year will be formally presented to the council, which is expected to set public hearing dates on the budget for June 23 and July 7. The budget, which totals $19,818,689, calls for no change in the city's $2.459 property tax rate.

Elderly education program

Claremont Graduate School has scheduled community meetings to explore the special needs of active older persons for employment and educational opportunity, beginning Monday from 7 to 9 p.m. in McManus Lounge, Ninth Street between College and Dartmouth avenues, Claremont.

The series of discussions is called "Aging and Community Responsibilities."

The discussion series, open to the public, is offered by the Public Policy Department of the Claremont Graduate School.

Baccalaureate services today

Baccalaureate services for the Class of 1975 at Chaffey High School in Ontario will be at 4 p.m. today in Gardiner W. Spring Auditorium.

The sermon will be delivered by the Rev. Msgr. William Bolger, pastor at St. George Catholic Church in Ontario. His subject will be "Another Look at the Elder Generation."

Music will be provided by the a cappella choir, directed by Jeanette Harris. Soloists will be Craig Sipps, Mike Stokke, Sue Scott and Robyn Young.

Baccalaureate services for the Ontario High School Class of 1975 will be at 3 p.m. today in the school auditorium.

Following prelude and processional by the string ensemble, the Rev. Byron Mayfield of the Temple Baptist Church of Fontana will offer invocation.

The a cappella choir, accompanied by the string ensemble, will sing "Canticle of Praise."

Mr. Mayfield will deliver the baccalaurate address.

Montclair High School's baccalaureate service for the Class of 1975 will be at 3:30 p.m. today in the school auditorium.

Invocation will be given by the Rev. Phillip O'Carroll of Our Lady of Lourdes Catholic Church in Montclair. The school a cappella choir will sing "Jesu, Joy of Man's Desiring" by Bach.

Dr. Paul E. Horn, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Montclair, will present the baccalaureate address.

A second choir number, "This Day Do We Honor," will precede the benediction by Father O'Carroll.

Seven Valleyites honored by Boletin del Progreso

Six Pomona people and one Covina resident are recipients of Citizen of the Month awards presented by the Boletin del Progreso Advisory Committee in recognition of community service.

Those honored at a banquet Friday night at Casa del Rey restaurant in Pomona were Tobby Baca, Margarito Banales, Lucius and Kathryn Hill, Carmen Lozano, and Gonzalo "Chalo" Ramirez, all of Pomona, and Cruz Ramirez of Covina.

Cruz Ramirez is this area's representative from the Los Angeles County Human Relations Commission. He was honored as a mediator and adviser in times of conflict and for his participation in local organizations.

Baca is director of the Beta Center, headquarters for Lulac, a program of professional counseling for Mexican-American students, Catholic Social Service, Alcoholics Anonymous, and also counseling regarding problems concerning the law. The newest Beta Center project is instruction in the English language.

Banales is a favorite among the children of the Cherryville community in Pomona and also their parents. He collects bottles and old newspapers, sells them and uses the proceeds to buy parts for bicycles, which he repairs for children who might not otherwise be able to afford them.

Mr. and Mrs. Hill are active in all phases of the South Hills Neighborhood Service Center. The center offers job finding, counseling, food, furniture, medical referrals, family relations consultation, economic problems consultation and emergency referral.

Mrs. Lozano, a Pomona homemaker, organized the Boletin del Progreso committee, which helps guide policy for the Progress-Bulletin's Spanish language page. She is the committee chairman. She has donated many hours to education and youth committee work.

"Chalo" Ramirez was honored for helping young people and others in the Mexican-American community. For many years he was director of Lulac and has served in other educational work.

Individuals and organizations throughout the valley were invited to make nominations for the awards. Winners were selected by last year's recipients of the honor, James Bailey, Esther Landin, Joe Landin, Mary Perez and Curt Schaefer.

Benjamin Ochoa, Pomona City Councilman, made the presentations. Proceeds from the banquet will go toward scholarships for Mexican-American college journalism majors.

COMMUNITY ANGELS

Community work award recipients at a banquet of the Boletin del Progreso Advisory Committee are from left, Margarito Banales, Cruz Ramirez, Carmen Lozano, Kathryn and Lucius Hill, Gonzalo "Chalo" Ramirez and Tobby Baca. The banquet was held at Casa del Rey.

Send-a-kid-to-camp

Tim's counselor was asked by the school principal at 9:30 a.m. on a Tuesday to take the boy home. He had been interrupting the classroom and his teacher said she couldn't handle him anymore.

So Tim's counselor drove him home and what he saw was startling. When they reached Tim's house the front lawn was littered with cars and garbage. Upon entering there were four adults including Tim's mother who is in a wheelchair, drinking whiskey. A couch was propped up by bricks.

"What's he done now?" was Tim's mothers question in voice that sounded tired. "I can't do anything with him and he won't do anything." Go wash the dishes," she bellowed to her son. The person on the couch just kept on drinking.

Tim, 12, went into the kitchen where there was a woodburning stove, an icebox and dishes and garbage everywhere. Sitting at a little table was a young girl with a new baby. "You in trouble again?" she asked Tim.

Tim's father left the family when Tim was two years old. He has three sisters, none are married and all have babies. Only his youngest sister lives at home. The person drinking on the couch, he scoffs, "are my mothers friends. They're over every day."

Tim's counselors believe with a little guidance and some attention Tim can learn to cope with his family life. He can learn to tolerate the slovenly way his family lives and overcome his family's indifference.

Tim's counselors believe that if he doesn't get help soon they will lose him to crime.

You can help by sending in your dollars so that Tim and other children like him may go to a week of summer camp in the beautiful San Bernardino Mountains.

Send your tax deductible contribution to the Donrey Public Foundation Inc., P.O. Box 2708, Pomona, Calif. 91766.

Progress Bulletin Opinion

Are endorsers really users?

Advertising isn't expected to change very much as a result of a set of new guideleines just promulgated by the Federal Trade Commission. Consumers may still be subjected to some of the more offensive product-plugging, both in print and via the radio and television waves.

But thanks to the agency, consumers in the future will have the assurance that the "expert" touting this or that product really does possess the implied qualifications. Tests claimed to have been conducted must really have been made, and endorsements by organizations must be bonafide endorsements reflecting "the collective judgment of the organization." Either that or the advertiser is subject to legal action.

These requirements became effective immediately. At the same time, however, the FTC proposed others which may or may not go into effect until the end of July, pending comment from industry and the public, and at least one of which would seem to carry "truth in advertising" into a rather nettlesome thicket.

This is the proposal that people endorsing a product — especially well-known personalities — must actually be users of the product. The star who recommends a brand of coffee must actually drink it regularly. The athlete who swears by a certain breakfast cereal must actually eat the stuff.

Now it shouldn't be too difficult for an advertiser to keep on file a signed statement by a celebrity testifying that he really, truly does eat, drink, wear, wash with, etc. the product in question, thus presumably satisfying the government bird dogs.

Come to think of it, advertisers should welcome this. It would add that much more to the celebrity's persuasiveness and influence over consumers, which the FTC is so concerned about. But what may be true at the time an endorsement is made may not necessarily be true for all time to come. People's tastes and habits change, and celebrities are people, too.

Men, for instance, are endlessly trying different razors or blades or creams in search of the perfect shave. "New improved" versions of everything from underarm deodorants to remedies for those annoying, itching what-have-yous are constantly being brought on the market.

Not only that, but reruns of commercials seem to go on forever. Will some poor guy be forced to slog away each morning at the Munchies he may once have liked but has come to detest? Will he have to get permission from the FTC to change brands, or make a public confession of his fickleness?

And who, anyway, is going to look into his private life to see if he really, truly did eat, drink, wear, wash with, etc. the product in the first place?

'Giant step' continues

That "giant leap for mankind" — the moon landing, which was the culmination of this country's initial venture into space exploration — continues to be translated into small steps toward the improvement of life on earth.

In the field of fire fighting, NASA's work on portable life-support systems has made possible a new, lighter oxygen mask for firemen. Made of plastic instead of steel or aluminum, the device weighs about 13 pounds less than previous models, enabling firemen to move about more easily in thick smoke and gas.

A puncture-proof astronaut's suit made of a new plastic fiber called aramid has become the basis for a coat now being used extensively by fire departments to cut down on burns. A work uniform of aramid can be splattered with burning gasoline and will not ignite.

Space technology has also provided a shock-resistant plastic that is being used in an electronic hose nozzle that regulates water flow more speedily in fire trucks by means of radio rather than hand or voice signals. A sleeve control made of the plastic enables firemen directing the hose to transmit accurate instructions instantly to the pumper.

Thoughts

Another said, "I will follow you, Lord; but let me first say farewell to those at my home." Jesus said to him, "No one who puts his hand to the plow and looks back is fit for the kingdom of God." " Luke 9:61,62.

"We ought not to look back unless it is to derive useful lessons from past errors, and for the purpose or profiting by dear-bought experience." — George Washington, First U.S. President.

I myself am satisified about you, my brethren, that you yourselves are full of goodness, filled with all knowledge, and able to instruct one another. — Romans 15:14.

Ethics in the House

WASHINGTON — Probably nowhere under the American flag is the clamor louder than on Capitol Hill for clean, honest government. In the wake of Watergate, Congress has declared anew its dedication to the public trust and has enacted tighter laws regulating political conduct.

Yet most members of Congress are inclined still to embrace the form rather than the substance of ethical conduct. Evidence of congressional wrongdoing is solemnly delivered to the Senate and House ethics committees, which are equipped with handy rugs suitable for sweeping dirt under.

Both committees were formed as an act of public penitence after Congress was scorched by scandal in the 1960s. With a great outpouring of piety, each house also adopted its own code of conduct. The lofty language, however, was merely the incense that disguised the smell.

For the new standards — in the name of ethics — legitimized practices that previously had been considered unethical. The Senate, for example, gave its blessing to "slush funds" of the sort that Richard Nixon had made notorious. The majority solemnly voted that it would be entirely ethical thereafter for senators to solicit money from the special interests to pay their Senate expenses.

And the special committees, which were supposed to uphold ethics on Capitol Hill, concentrated instead on identifying and isolating congressional misconduct before the public found out about it. Occasionally the wrongdoing was corrected. More often it was condoned. But the main effort usually was to cover it up.

Since the Watergate reforms, we have cited at least two legislators whose misdeeds should have aroused the interest of the ethics committees. Last November, for example, we reported that federal auditors had turned up "at least 30 apparent violations of the campaign laws" by Rep. George Hansen, R.-Idaho.

He pleaded guilty to two misdemeanors on February 19, thereby preventing the sordid details from being spread upon the court record. From the federal investigative files, however, we can now reveal the key charges that would have been made against him if he had gone to trial:

— Hanson allegedly received at least 21 corporate checks, an outright violation of the campaign laws. The name of the firm was clearly imprinted on each check, including the abbreviation "Inc." Nine of the checks were made out to Hansen personally. Yet he assured the House Administration Committee: "I have not knowingly accepted corporation funds."

— A federal audit report states that one of Hansen's secret campaign committees, called "Partners in Congress," opened account number 240065-81 in the Bank of Idaho. "Two corporate checks can be traced directly to this account . . ." states the audit. "Mr. Hansen had sole control over this account."

— The House Clerk reported to the Justice Department that Hansen "made expenditures from his and his immediate family's personal funds in excess of the $25,000 limitation."

— The Clerk also noted that Hansen apparently violated the law by diverting election campaign funds to pay telephone bills at his business office.

So flagrant were these violations that the Justice Department had planned to go to court three weeks ahead of the election to demand that Hansen comply with the law. This move was vetoed, however, for Republican political reasons.

When Hansen subsequently pleaded guilty, District Judge George Hart sentenced him to two months in the slammer. "If people who make the laws don't obey them," the judge intoned, "who can we expect to?"

But Hart later softened up, accepted Hansen's plea that he was "stupid but not evil" and revoked the jail sentence in favor of a $2,000 fine. So Hansen, who was supposed to be in the Allenwood, Pa., penitentiary now, is serving instead in Congress.

The House ethics committee, conceding that federal law violations might be considered unethical, has agreed reluctantly to look into the Hansen case. Chairman John Flynt, D.-Ga., confirmed that the case "probably" will be discussed at the next committee meeting. He said the committee would review petitions from Idaho both for and against Hansen.

Committee counsel John Swanner, however, offered little hope for any decisive action. No expulsion or censure resolutions have been introduced, Swanner explained.

Turning to the Senate, we reported last January that a Dallas grand jury had obtained testimony that the Senate's owlish, old president pro tempore, James Eastland, D.-Miss., had "received a $50,000 to $60,000 payoff" to intervene with the Justice Department on behalf of billionaire Nelson Bunker Hunt.

The senator emphatically denied taking any money from Hunt as payment for some Charolais cattle. But Eastland acknowledged, when confronted with the facts, that he had intervened with former Attorney General Richard Kleindienst. He also spoke with House Appropriations Chairman George Mahon, D.-Tex., in the billionaire's behalf. Mahon's nephew, Eldon Mahon, happened to be one of the prosecutors.

After the column was published, we received a call from the Senate ethics committee's chief counsel, Ben Fern, who asked to see the material we had developed. We agreed to show him all of our files, except those that might identify sources.

Fern then asked us to withhold publishing a story about the committee's interest in the Eastland case. We agreed to do so temporarily but said we couldn't sit on the story for any length of time. Fern never came to our offices to see the documents, nor has he shown any further interest in investigating Eastland.

Both the Senate and House ethics committees have demonstrated that they are less interested in upholding ethics on Capitol Hill than in preventing embarrassment.

Just in jest

Who's afraid of the Big Bad Recession? Not I after reading all the money making opportunities listed in the want ad columns of one of those weekly tabloid newspapers you get at the check-out counters in grocery stores.

Why should anyone worry about making a living when for $1 he can purchase "A Proven Formula for Making Money on the Stock Market", or for only $2 learn "How to Eat on $1 a Day"! Of course, if one wants to invest a bit more money and reap amazing profits, he can buy a vending machine and let it go to work for him. However, more to my liking is the ad which promises, "Huge Profits Can Be Made Bronzing Baby Shoes", or perhaps the one that says I can "Make $15,000 Yearly Raising Fishworms." And how can anyone possibly have to go on relief when all he has to do to become financially independent is rustle up a buck or two and send in for complete information on "How to Become a Mail Order Millionaire" or "How to Become a High Paid Minister."

But most interesting of all is the realization that if one never lets his right hand know what his left hand is doing he can play both ends against the middle and as a result simply wallow in wealth. For a mere pittance, plus postage, one firm will send you Tattoo Equipment and Supplies together with a book of easy to follow instructions, and a couple of columns farther on another firm offers to teach you how to "Make Money Tatoo Removing."

Heartline

Heartline is a service for senior citizens. Its purpose is to answer questions. It costs you nothing. Write to Heartline, 8514 North Main St., Dayton, Ohio, 45415.

Heartline: My husband and I are both career railroad workers. Under the old law, I was qualified for a railroad retirement spouse annuity based on my husband's railroad work as well as an annuity based on my own railroad work. Where do I stand under the new law? R. Q.

Answer: A female railroad worker may still qualify for a railroad retirement spouse's annuity as well as an employee annuity if either she or her husband had some railroad service prior to 1975. Neither have to be vested as of December 31, 1974, for both benefits to be payable.

Heartline: I am retired under the Civil Service Retirement law and I am also entitled to Social Security. Can I collect both? A. E.

Answer: Yes, if you are entitled to both, you can collect both.

Heartline: My husband has been on Medicare for 3 years now. I will soon be 65. I have always been a housewife and have never worked under social security. Can I still have Medicare? O. S.

Answer: Yes, you are entitled to Medicare from your husband's work record with social security.

Heartline: My husband and I were divorced over six years ago. Each year when I receive my 1040 income tax return booklet, his social security number is still on the pre-addressed label. I have filed a single return since 1968. How do I go about getting his number removed from this label? I have tried crossing it out and cutting it out. N. A.

Answer: Do not affix the label on your return. Complete the heading by hand and use only your name and Social Security number. This will institute a completely new entity for you.

Dr. Miller

It's not smell, just presence

DEAR DR. MILLER: Mother says you shouldn't touch baby birds in the nest even if you're very careful, because if you do the babies are doomed. She says the mother won't come back and feed them if you leave your human smell on them. Why do we smell that bad to birds? — J.W.

DEAR J.W.: Actually, human scent doesn't really smell that bad. Not to birds, anyway, primarily because they have a very poor sense of smell. The danger in being that close to baby birds is your very presence there. This may so alarm a parent bird who's nearby watching that it may never return to the nest.

DEAR DR. MILLER: Fluffy, my Pomeranian, has a double set of teeth. I've been told some of them should be pulled. That seems a terrible waste. Why wouldn't two sets last longer than one? — W.Y.

DEAR W.Y.: Toy breeds are particularly prone to retain temporary (baby) teeth when, in fact, they should fall out as the adult teeth emerge. When the baby teeth won't budge, it forces the upcoming adult teeth out of position, resulting in abnormal wear and pressure patterns which shorten the useful life span of the permanent teeth.

Additionally, the myriad pockets formed between these two sets of teeth provide for rapid tartar buildup and early and severe gum disease. These retained temporaries are undesirable, then, from many standpoints and should be extracted. Ideally, the dog should spit them out before seven months of age. If not, it should have help to evict those hangers-on in a hurry.

DEAR DR. MILLER: What's the best thing to treat a coughing cat with? — P.T.

DEAR P.T.: Recommendations on treating a coughing cat would depend on whether the cause (or causes) were a viral infection, lungworms, an allergy, a foreign body, an injury, heartworms, bacterial infection, a fungus infection, stomach worms, a degenerative heart problem, a tumor, a primary toxicosis, other types of parasites from flukes to mites, anatomical defects due to heredity or injury, and still others. A bottle of cough syrup cannot cope with any of the conditions I've listed, since at best it can treat the symptom, not the cause.

A cough is a call for early appropriate action by the veterinarian. If he determines simple suppression of the symptom is all that's required — and that sometimes can be the case — fine. It's more likely, however, he'd be more interested in treating the underlying cause of the cough itself.

Ann Landers

Boy, 15, tells effects of pot

Dear Ann Landers: I am a boy, 15. I started to smoke pot about two years ago. It was fun and I didn't see that it was doing me any harm. About 11 months ago I got into pot real heavy and couldn't seem to stop even though a lot of the so-called experts said it wasn't addictive.

I began to get scared when I couldn't remember where I put things and blanked out on addresses and telephone numbers that used to come easy.

Three months ago I decided to quit cold when it became apparent to me that I was in serious trouble at school. My grades were going to hell. I was flunking three subjects.

It's been 92 days since I've had a joint but at times I still feel high. My school work has improved but it's nowhere near what it was two years ago. I'm very touchy about things that didn't used to bother me. And I still have some very crazy dreams.

I hope you will print my letter so those cats who haven't tried pot will leave it alone. The worst mistake I ever made in my life was experimenting with that lousy stuff. It messed me up plenty. I just hope to God I get back to normal soon. — Wised Up Too Late

Dear Friend: Thanks for a letter that might prove very helpful to "those cats" who haven't tried it. According to everything I've read, your chances for getting back to normal are good. I suggest counseling in the meantime. It might help hasten the process. Good luck to you.

Dear Ann Landers: A reader wrote in and said she knew for a fact that if you talk nicely to plants and play pretty music they will flourish. Another reader wrote and asked if the opposite was true — if a person yelled at weeds would it stunt their growth?

Your answer was, "There is no evidence that yelling at weeds will do them any harm."

You ought to read up on the subject, Ann. I have and it is very interesting. Thousands of people swear they have had a lot of success talking to plants. They also claim music can make a big difference. Harsh rock and roll can wither a plant if the sound is loud and persistent. On the other hand, when Listz and Mozart are played the plants grow very nicely, even after they have been given up for dead.

So PLEASE check your facts before you hand out advice. — Plant Lover In Miami

Dear Lover: Thanks for an interesting letter but you didn't deal with the central issue. The question was, "Will yelling at weeds stunt their growth?" I said, "No" — and I STILL say no.

Dear Ann Landers: Please tell your readers that when they have a family problem the best thing to do is sit down with a pencil and paper and write it all down. Tell it to the stationery. Stay away from the telephone and don't unload on friends.

I made the mistake of confiding in a person I would have bet my life on. She told HER best friend and now I'm in real trouble. Paper can't talk and boy, am I sorry I didn't learn that lesson long ago. Sign me — Big Mouth

Dear Mouth: Take your lumps and chalk it up to experience. Some people NEVER learn. They make the same mistakes over and over.

Erma Bombeck

Fie on you, home gardeners

This year, there are 60 million Americans who are planting vegetable gardens.

Have you any idea what it means to have 60 million tillers of the soil running loose? I'll give it to you straight. It means there will have to be at least 210 million tillees to eat the stuff at harvest time, and frankly, I don't think we have the population to handle it.

At last count, there were 80 million adult non-gardeners in this country. Of this amount, 32 million are allergic to tomatoes and their faces break out after eating the first bushel. Twenty-eight million are still eating bread and butter pickles they canned in 1958, and of the remaining 20 million, 18 million had their teeth turn green during July and August.

To begin with, the harvest of a home garden never occurs when the gardener is at home. He is always on vacation. I don't know how this phenomenon occurs, but I have known tillers who have hung around all summer waiting for their labors to bear fruit. They leave a few hours for a dental appointment only to return and realize they've missed the harvest.

Another phenomenon is that you can share your garden with friends. After the first 500 pounds of bib lettuce, a gardener has no friends.

Several years ago, my husband and I visualized an orchard in our backyard. One pear tree seemed inadequate, so we planted 12 of them. One day, our daughter came running into the house feverish with excitement. "Our first pear," she exclaimed. We put the pear on the mantel and hooked up a three-colored revolving light used on the tree at Christmas and watched it glisten.

Several weeks later, when we had tired of pear delight, pear salad, pear pie, pear cake, pears over cereal, pear casserole, pear omelets, pear pizza and pear sandwiches, we started to make house calls with them.

By the fifth week of harvest, I began to feel like a Welcome Wagon lady on the moon. As I approached a house with a shopping bag of pears, I would observe cars in the driveway, doors wide open, radios blaring, draperies moving, but no visible signs of human life.

When the next year rolled around, our daughter once again announced, "Our first pear." We clapped a hand over her mouth and sent her to her room.

I know the work involved in gardening and it is gratifying that the American people are intent on solving the food problem, but the real heroes of the war against inflation have to be the non-gardeners who smile and burp, "Why, everyone can use another bushel of radishes!"

Dr. Lamb

Question of body chemistry

DEAR DR. LAMB — I'd like to know if the body's electrolytes go off balance because of too high acid and low alkaline or too high alkaline and low acid. Or, doesn't the acid base have anything to do with electrolytes? How can a person have respiratory acidosis and renal alkalosis?

DEAR READER — You must have been doing your homeowrk to ask a question like that. Yes, the electrolytes and the acid base balance of the body are all interrelated.

The electrolytes refer to the salts of the body, specifically sodium and chlorine, potassium and the bicarbonate levels, plus a number of others.

I guess the simplest way to explain it is that these must be in balance with each other and loss of one may increase or decrease another to maintain a balance. The bicarbonate is a particularly important part of it. The ratio of bicarbonate is a particularly important part of it. The ratio of bicarbonate and carbonic acid is a main balance mechanism to keep the body at a fairly constant acid base ratio which we call the pH.

When a person has lung disease he will have trouble eliminating carbon dioxide. This, combined with water, forms carbonic acid. An excess of carbonic acid in relation to bicarbonate on this basis is respiratory acidosis.

The lungs then are one of the body's main ways of controlling the acid base balance. If you breathe too rapidly or overventilate, you blow off too much carbon dioxide, lower the acid level, and the result is respiratory alkalosis. If you retain too much carbon dioxide, the opposite occurs to cause respiratory acidosis.

The kidneys are another mechanism to control the acid base balance. When you need to eliminate excess acid, it is often done through the kidneys, ending up as eliminating various acid salts.

In advanced or uncontrolled diabetes, the kidney is severely taxed to eliminate the excess acid formation, and when it fails to do so acidosis results.

The lungs and kidneys normally work together to help maintain a narrow range of pH or acid base balance. Either one can be affected by disturbance of function or disease leading to a basic chemical imbalance. Too much sodium, not enough sodium, too much chloride or not enough, and other electrolyte imbalances can all affect this delicate balance necessary for normal life functions.

DEAR DR. LAMB — My husband is in his early 60s. He always did drink, but in the last year he is drinking more than ever. I told him if he keeps that up he'd become an alcoholic He said he couldn't become an alcoholic at his age and more. Is he right?

DEAR READER — No. You can become an alcoholic at any age with a little too much practice.

An occasional cocktail is not likely to cause healthy people any serious problem, but regular drinking sooner or later has a habit of increasing in amount to levels no longer suitable for good health. Alcohol is a hidden, and sometimes not so hidden, factor in a large number of people's medical problems.

Send your questions to Dr. Lamb, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York N.Y. 10019. For a copy of The Health Letter on Alcohol (number 1-4), send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope to the same address and ask for the issue on "Alcohol."

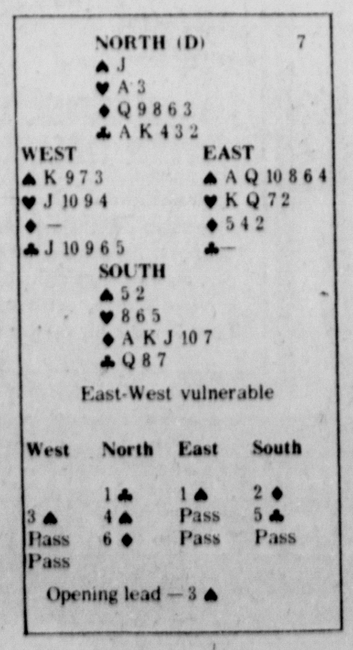
North bids when East should

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Today's hand should serve as a perfect example of incorrect bidding.



North started out by opening one club instead of one diamond. With two five-card suits you open the higher ranking except when your two suits are spades and clubs.

East's spade overcall was sound to say the least, and South's two diamond call eminently correct. We can't find much wrong with West's jump to three spades, although some players would have gone one higher.

North's four spade cue bid was a trifle too much for his hand, but it worked to the extent that East with his tremendous hand pulled in his horns, buried his head in the sard like the ostrich and refused to make any further bids.

South's five club call was fine. In fact, we can find nothing wrong with anything South did.

If North had simply bid five diamonds he would really have come out in good shape. After West's normal opening lead of the fourth-best spade, South would make that game contract. As it was, South had to struggle unsuccessfully at six.

If East had just been thinking about what his partner might be holding he would surely have bid six spades. This contract would have wheeled in with just normal careful play.

CARD SENSE

The bidding has been: 7

West	North	East	South
Pass	3 ♥	Pass	?

You, South, hold:
♠ 2 ♥ J 9 7 6 5 ♦ A K Q J 4 ♣ A 2
What do you do now?

A — Just bid four hearts. You may be missing a slam, but some slams are going to be missed.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding three hearts your partner has responded one spade. What do you do now?

Answer Monday

BERNICE BEDE OSOL
For Monday, June 9, 1975

ARIES (March 21-April 19) You should excel today in situations that require imagintive approaches. Have faith in plans you conceive at this time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Your material prospects are especially bright today and tomorrow. Things of value could come to you through very unusual channels.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) You'll find others are more eager to co-operate now on a project of importance. Don't be afraid to ask their help.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Even though things may be coming your way now without too much effort, think of how much more could be accomplished if you really tried!

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) You're very adept today in helping others sort out their affairs in a manner advantageous both to them and yourself.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Something of importance that you'll accomplish will have dual benefits. The bonus portion may not be apparent at first.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) A good day to take an annoying problem apart a piece at a time. Solutions that have evaded you will be found.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Imagination coupled with initiative should be a very profitable combination for you today. Be firm in all business dealings.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) You'll win valuable allies to a cause you're championing. Once your team gets in stride, it will prove a winning combination.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) Beneficial conditions are developing where your work or career is concerned. Alertness will help you spot them.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) People are apt to discuss things with you today that they're reluctant to talk of to others. You can profit from what you'll learn.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Your material prospects are most promising now. It's highly probable that before the day is out you'll reap gains.

Your Brithday June 9, 1975

Benefits come to you this year through contacts in large organizations or clubs. Be active in group activities, to meet and cultivate new friends.

Newsprint can be nutritious

Save this newspaper. You may want to eat it someday. Dr. Keith H. Steinkraus of the New York Agricultural Experiment Station in Geneva, N.Y., says that paper known as newsprint can be fermented into excellent grub. Loaded with carbohydrates. And with three times as much protein as a like amount of soybeans. He is quoted as proposing the construction of a $250,000 fermenter to produce newsprint soup, newsprint sandwiches, newsprint steak. Evidently, the process could make all this news digestible. That would be a pleasant surprise, what?

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS

Q — "Where do most of the missing people go when they skip town?"

A — Depends on where they skip from. Lot of southerners and westerners head for New York. Easterners seem to prefer Florida or California. Or so says a tracer of same.

Q— WHICH is the larger among whales, the male or the female?"

A — Those whales with teeth, the males. Those baleen whales without teeth, the females.

Q—"WHY IS a 'free lance writer' so called?"

A — That goes back to Sir Walter Scott. He described the mercenary soldier who hired out to anybody as free lances.

PREJUDICES

Scholars in San Diego asked 80 elementary school teachers to grade eight essays written by fifth and sixth grade students. The essays were just average, neither particularly good nor especially bad, but pretty much equal in quality. The tricky part of the report is that said scholars changed the names of the essay writers to phony monkiers. Four were labeled with the names, David, Michael, Karen and Lisa. And four were labeled Elmer, Hubert, Adelle and Bertha. Upshot: The essays that the teachers thought were written by David, Michael, Karen and Lisa scored one grade higher than those which they believed had been written by Elmer, Hubert, Adelle and Bertha. Teachers are indeed prejudiced by names, it seems.

HARVARD STUDIES indicate men remember what they read better than women, but those studies don't explain why.

THE MEDICAL experts who urge us to sleep on our right sides say their recommendation has nothing to do with the whereabouts of the heart. It's the digestive system that works better in that position, they report.

STATISTICS

She wasn't talking about this column, Mrs. Robert A. Taft, but she might have been, when she said the following: "I always find that statistics are hard to swallow and impossible to digest. The only one I can ever remember is that if all people who go to sleep in church were laid end to end, they would be a lot more comfortable."

THAT STATE wherein lives the greatest proportion of men who wear hats is said to be Texas.

Postal authorities may shut down 12,192 post offices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office and the postmaster general agree that 12,192 small, rural post offices serving 2 million families could be closed at a savings of $100 million without reducing the quality of mail service.

In a report made public Thursday, Congress' fiscal watchdog agency recommended the phasing out of two-thirds of the nation's 6,100 fourth-class and 12,190 third-class post offices.

Rural areas are served by 2,007 contractor-operated rural branches and stations, 107 contractor-operated community post offices and 30,674 rural routes, the report said.

Postmaster General Benjamin F. Bailar told the GAO, in a March letter included with the report, that the Postal Service has not increased its closings in rural areas "primarily because of the concern expressed by members of Congress about such closings."

The rural development subcommittee of the House Agriculture Committee was sharply critical in studies it conducted last year of the quality of Postal Service activities in rural areas.

But the GAO said that it conducted interviews in 32 communities in 28 states where post offices had recently been closed and found that "mail service was at least as good as, and in a number of instances better than, before the changes."

The statute creating the Postal Service four years ago forbade closing a small post office "solely for operating at a deficit," but the GAO said the agency had been too conservative in following this provision, closing only 300 in the fiscal year ended last June 30.

It recommended that Congress change the law to allow such closings as long as the quality of service is maintained.

Hemingway's granddaughter

Marguax taking New York by storm

By JURATE KAZICKAS
Associated Press Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Last fall, Margaux Hemingway, 19-year-old hot-dog skiier from Ketchum, Idaho, was casting about, looking for something to do.

Today, Margaux is the latest pretty face peering out of just about every major fashion magazine in the country. She just signed a million-dollar advertising contract with Faberge, getting more money than the likes of long-established model Lauren Hutton of Revlon.

It's been quite a transformation: from drifting drop-out (killing time as an au pair girl for actor George C. Scott and "go-fer" for stuntman Evel Knievel at Snake River Canyon) to millionaire perfume pusher. It was accomplished with some luck, public relations and the fortuitous appearance of a hot, new personality with a famous last name.

The granddaughter of novelist Ernest Hemingway and daughter of an Idaho conservationist, Margaux is ingenious and cord-fed pretty. She's almost six feet tall (she likes to describe her height as 5-foot-12), has blondish hair, ice green eyes, a snub nose, dimples and a generous mouth that in motion shows more gums than teeth. Margaux is giddy from the excitement of these last months.
these last months.

How did it all happen?

"I'm just a country kid with style, honesty and good timing," says Margaux.

But her rapid rise to celebrity model status would probably still be earthbound if it weren't for a story book romance with Errol Wetson, New York gadabout and king of his own hamburger empire.

Wetson, who looks like a brunette version of actor Gene Wilder, is the kind of guy who doesn't like to give his age (early 30's) and wears his body-hugging shirts unbuttoned down the front.

Wetson talks endlessly about their relationship — his first encounter with the gorgeous Margaux in the Palm Court of the Plaza, the preliminary flirtation in an elevator, the weekend of champagne and roses ....

Wetson took Margaux — decked out in corduroys, boots, and a Nepalese shirt — to a party in September attended by models, photographers and agents. Suddenly, everyone was asking: "Who is that girl?" And suddenly that girl was rising out of the sea on the cover of Town and Country magazine. And in its pages languishing around her grandfather's haunts in Key West. And grinning wickedly from the cover of Vogue, photogrphed by camera geniuses such as Richard Avedon and Francesco Scavullo.

Said Scavullo: "I loved photographing her. She was born beautiful. Anything you do to her is just an accessory to her beauty. She has the personality, the enthusiasm and the drive to make it. She's got the ball, and she should run with it."

On one recent day, Margaux, in a granny gown, her hair pinned in little bunches, was cuddled up at Errol's feet in their hotel suite.

"Margaux, what do you think is the key to your success?" the reporter asks.

"Unlimited looks, talent, super ability. This girl has everything," Errol answers.

"Margaux, how does it feel to be famous and rich?" the interviewer asks.

"Money bores us," replies Errol, who grimaces at any comparison of Margaux and him with Twiggy, the doll model of the '60s, and her mentor, Justin de Villeneuve.

"This is not a business deal, this is a love affair," Errol says.

Margaux beams.

At a recent Faberge press conference, the promoters described her with boundless enthusiasm: "Young, vivacious, feminine, pretty exciting, a great girl, the hottest property around today."

Sipping her birth date vintage Chateau Margaux 1955 wine, Margaux listened to all this, rolled her eyes, stuck out her tongue and whispered: "Oh, Wow."

"It's like magic, like angel dust sprinkling all over me. I'm not a model, I'm an athlete. I just freaked everybody out," said Margaux, laughing in a deep husky voice she hopes will sell a million records one day. "It's all unbelievable, like a movie. I'm having the best time. It's a groovy happening. Like everyday is a tornado. It's unbelievable."

There are more modeling assignments in Europe and of course, movie contracts in the offing, but Margaux said she wants to be "really together" before she sings or acts.

"You really have to watch out 'cause your values can get all mixed up," Margaux said. "You have to stay real 'cause it's unbelievable."

"Margaux, where can we find you tomorrow?" one of the reporters asked.

"We don't know where we'll be. We're like birds," responded Errol.

The King of England in 1696 commissioned one of his officers to hunt and arrest all pirates. The officer, Capt. William Kidd, turned pirate himself and was hanged in 1701.

Some states are biting into rebate checks

By LOUISE COOK
Associated Press Writer

Federal tax rebates designed to stimulate the economy are themselves taxable in six states, but officials are reluctant to collect the extra money.

State income taxes on the federal rebate were a possibility in 15 states. An Associated Press survey showed that four of the 15 passed legislation exempting the rebates from state levies. Officials in five other states simply ruled that no tax would be collected on the federal bonus.

Legislation to avoid the extra tax is pending in four states. Authorities in Montana and South Carolina say that the rebates will be taxed.

The individual amounts are small, but the situation presents a dilemma for some officials who feel that taxing the rebates defeats the purpose of giving people a little extra money to spend.

Forty states have broad-based personal income taxes, according to the Tax Foundation Inc. But the rebate poses a problem only in those 15 states which allow residents to deduct federal income tax from state income.

Here's how it works: Suppose you paid $2,500 in federal tax on 1974 income. You deducted that amount from your state income. Now you get a $200 rebate. That brings your 1974 federal tax bill to $2,300. You deducted too much and, when you fill out your state tax form next year, you'll have to report the extra money, just as you would report a refund.

The added tax won't be very much. State income tax rates generally are only a per cent or two. But the little bits add up to several million dollars for state treasuries.

Montana officials, for example, estimate that state residents will get an estimated $34.2 million in federal rebates. They will have to pay $1.7 million of that money in state taxes.

The authorities are planning special instructions for next year's tax forms to tell residents about the rebate situation. The schedule already includes a space for adding federal tax refunds to state income; another line will be put in for the rebates.

South Carolina officials also plan special instructions on next year's tax forms. The state allows residents to deduct only $500 of federal tax from state income so only those persons whose payments were less than $500 this year will face an extra tax next year.

Officials in Oregon, where the extra tax could mean $9 million, are waiting to see what the legislature does with proposals to exempt the rebates. Similar legislation is pending in Alabama, Colorado, and Missouri and has been passed in Arizona, Minnesota, Kansas and North Dakota. Officials in Kentucky, Iowa, Delaware, Louisiana and Utah simply decided not to tax the rebates, following the lead of the federal government which ruled that the rebates would not be counted as income.

The Treasury Department said that as of last week it had sent out 39 million rebate checks — a little more than half the number that eventually will go to American taxpayers. The mailings are continuing at the rate of 13 million a week and the department expects to be finished sending rebate checks by the middle of June.

The idea of taxing the rebates prompted controversy in some areas. Colorado Gov. Richard Lamm originally proposed that the rebate be taxed, but legislators objected. Measures exempting the rebate from state income tax were introduced; Lamm changed his stand; and the exemption is expected to win approval easily.

Officials in states where residents are not allowed to deduct federal income tax from state income generally said they would follow Internal Revenue Service guidelines.

Nongovernmental rebates on autos and other purchases have posed another problem for officials. Most agree that the rebates are not income and therefore are not subject to an income tax. But sales taxes have to be paid on the full purchase price.

Etiquette

Society pillars need Post

NEW YORK (AP) — In 1922 it was called "The Blue Book of Social Usage" and it reflected a world of white gloves, afternoon teas, chaperones, butler-staffed houses and formal rules of etiquette laid down by its author, Emily Post.

Today, in its 13th revision and still bound in blue, it's called "The New Emily Post's Etiquette" and its current author, Elizabeth L. Post, discusses wedding attire for pregnant brides and birth announcements from unwed parents.

"Emily Post would have been shocked, as would almost anyone who lived through the Victorian Age," admits her granddaughter-in-law, who has revised the book twice before — the last time in 1969. "But I also know she realized etiquette had to change as times change."

The present Mrs. Post isn't always happy about the changes, she admitted in an interview. "There's no question, though, that when something is widely done you have to consider it more seriously. I don't always approve, but manners must keep up with lifestyles."

Thus she grudgingly okays the use of Ms., which "serves a useful purpose in business," though she doesn't like it socially. "I don't see why women are anxious to hide their marital status in social situations," she says. "In fact, I would like to see men have a term to establish whether or not they're married, rather than eradicate the designations for women. It's helpful."

As for how to refer to a "roommate" of the opposite sex, she thinks "covivant" is the most indicative word she has heard used. But when it comes to introductions, she suggests saying "John's friend" to the older generation and "the girl he's sharing an apartment with" to a peer.

When the roommates come home for an overnight visit, everybody has a right to stick to his own standards and what is right in his own home, Mrs. Post believes. "If you have a good relationship your children will know how you feel and won't embarrass you.

"There's no reason an unwed mother shouldn't have a baby shower," says the author, "though I wouldn't make a big production of it. Many girls are proud and happy and want their babies and if they feel that way there's no reason they shouldn't send announcements if they wish. I try not to get into the moral issues but talk about how to cope."

Pointing out that the women's liberation movement has strongly affected manners, Mrs. Post declares she's all for going Dutch with someone you go out with often, though she still thinks the man should pay the first time he asks a woman out.

Mrs. Post, who is author of several books on etiquette and frequently lectures on the subject, also writes a nationall syndicated column. The new edition of the etiquette book, she says, reflects areas of broadest interest as indicated by letters to the column.

"The subject of weddings draws the most mail," she reports. "Even if a girl has been living with a man she wants a lovely wedding. It is still a big day in the life of a mother and daughter.

"A large percentage of letters deal with divorce problems — people who are divorced or whose parents are divorced — and the question of who should be invited to the wedding or give the bride away," she continues. "It is very difficult. All I can do is to come to an answer that will make the best situation for the most people. You can't establish rules where relationships vary so much."

When she isn't dealing with matters of etiquette the 55-year-old "Libby" Post indulges in her favorite sport, fishing, or her hobbies of traveling, gardening, cooking and painting.

She lives in Waterbury Center, Vt., with her husband, William G. Post, who was Emily Post's only grandson and who is director of the Emily Post Institute. They have four grown children.

Although she was "very nervous" about her initial meeting with the famous first lady of etiquette, she recalls of Emily Post, who died in 1960, "Grandmama was a very gracious lady, had a wonderful sense of humor and was a very warm person. I like to think she would have been happy to know I would take over her work."

No auto, but park tickets still coming

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Charles J. Beringer wishes the police department would spend less time writing parking tickets and more time searching for his stolen car.

"The person who stole my car must laugh every time he passes a police car," said Beringer, an unemployed truck driver who said he has received 19 parking tickets since his car was stolen March 1.

"They told me I wouldn't have to pay for the tickets," he said. —

Joyce Brothers

Emotional reaction

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm a 62-year-old widow with two grown children whom I love very much. I've been very close to my family all my life, but after my husband died four years ago, I started seeing an old friend. I delayed announcing my remarriage to this man because I felt my children might object as they loved their father very much, just as I did. When I told my children of my plans they were shocked and very rude. They behaved as if I were doing something immoral and that I was a lewd old woman. Since they consider themselves quite liberated I didn't expect so much ill feeling. They now say that if I go ahead with my plans, they do not wish to see me. —G.B.

Dear G.B.: It is hard to understand this highly charged, emotional reaction in adults especially those who consider themselves liberated. There is still a persistent feeling in this country that sex is only for those under 30 and such phrases, as "dirty old men" reveal the depth of this feeling. It suggests that people who think in this vein are extremely immature and that, though they may have children of their own, they have never really managed to break the bonds of dependency on their own parents.

This attitude that sex is wrong after a certain age also reflects our puritanical attitudes about sex in general. Children cannot consider that their parents might have sexual feelings and parents cannot contemplate their children's sexual urges because both groups often maintain the uneasy feeling that sex is something sinful and dirty.

There are also, of course, the overtones of jealousy that often mask incestuous feelings between parent and child. This is one of the unhealthy results of families that are too small and too close. In countries where the family unit includes grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins, this dependency is generally not so pronounced. This means that if a child likes his parent, he doesn't necessarily idolize him and put him on a pedestal, and if he dislikes the parent, the parent doesn't necessarily become the enemy. You have become a kind of idol and symbol to your children and they don't want to know that you have human feelings and urges.

It is extremely important for your happiness as well as theirs, that you do not give in to their demands or whims in this matter. They cannot and should not be able to dictate personal matters involving your life, just as you would not wish to interfere in their personal life.

Love is a condition of the mind and it is never too late for love or for sex as long as the mind and body are healthy. People who enjoy giving and sharing can experience love at any age and the more they are able to love, the younger they remain in attitude and spirit.

I'm quite sure that after your remarriage your children will realize how immature they have been. But whether they do or not, you should continue to live and enjoy your own life. Your duties as a mother are over and you should not feel any need to sacrifice your individual needs or wishes to their whims. It's time for them to grow up.

Miss Stuart to marry Mr. Senior

Miss Charlene Marie Stuart of Seattle, Wash., and Robert Michael Senior of Seattle, will be married July 26 in the Haller Lake United Methodist Church in Seattle.

The future bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Earl Stuart of Seattle, Wash., graduated in 1973 from Lake City Nathan Hale High School. She attended Shoreline Community College and is currently attending North Seattle Community College. Miss Stuart plans to transfer to Pasadena City College, Pasadena in the fall.

Son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard M. Senior of Montclair, the bridegroom-to-be is a 1970 graduate of Montclair High School. He attended Chaffey College where he was a member of the cross country and track teams and was a member of the Junior College state champion mile relay team in 1972.

Mr. Senior is currently attending the University of Washington where he is majoring in physical education. He is a member of the track team and Lambda Chi Fraternity.

Burned up

How many get carried away with their first days in the sun? Remember to build a tan without severe burning by sunning only 15 minutes the first few days of exposure. Add five minutes each day after about a week but no matter your tan caution always is best.

Kings and queens and courts named

Approximately 1,000 people attended the crowning of all little kings and queens following the Baby Pageant and Little Guys and Gals Show held recently at the Pomona Educational Center.

City king and queen were Rocky Byrd and Tammi Powell and prince and princess were Andrew Anderon Jr., and Paula Irvin. Pomona Valley Pre-Teen winners were Richard Petero, king, and Rauna Whitney, queen.

Funds from the show will be used by the sponsors, Navy Mothers Club, to support the hemodialysis machine and for various Veterans Administration and naval hospital aid.

Winners of the miss and master titles in the beauty pageant for the second consecutive year were Tana Youngblood and Jason Jon Burris, both 2, in their age groups.

Overalls tops

Overalls cling to the outdoor fashion scene. The runaway fashion fabric of denim tops youthful choices, especially denim overalls with panel zippers in front and patched-on zipper pocket on the traditional bib top.

Melodie Sing displays works

Original oil paintings by Korean artist Melodie Sing are on exhibit this month in the Lobby Gallery of Pomona First Federal Savings & Loan Association, 399 N. Garey Ave., Pomona.

Miss Song displayed artistic talent very early in life and after graduating from high school, attended the Fine Arts College of the Seoul National University. After leaving that school, she was employed by the U.S. government for 13 years in an art and display center.

The artist was married in 1970 to an American and came to the United States in 1971. In this country, her art work has been confined mainly to oil paintings. She has won many prizes in competition, and in 1972 her "Morning Calm", a seascape, won the award of Best Painting of the Show at the International Art Show sponsored by the Arlington Art Guild in Riverside. Miss Song also held a one-man show at the Griswold's Art Gallery, Claremont, last year and currently has paintings on display there.

ART AT THE LIBRARY — Miriam Aston of Claremont installs one of her paintings in an exhibition at the Pomona Public Library. Miss Aston is instructor in drawing and painting at Chaffey College, and will be teaching sculpture at Cal Poly during the summer.

Symphony performs

NEW YORK (AP) — The American Symphony has started three Bicentennial concerts, at Castle Clinton, in Lower Manhattan's Battery Park.

The first was May 24. On July 4, Morton Gould will conduct unusual works by esteemed American composers. The Jenny Lind Concert, Sept. 11, will be a reenactment of the concert of 1850 when 6,000 persons heard the "Swedish Nightingale." The Swedish government has invited a leading coloratura of the Stockhom Opera to appear. Both concerts will begin at 7 p.m. and will be free.

Sponsor is the American Landmark Festivals, in cooperation with the National Park Service.

Fort Clinton was begun in 1803 to defend New York Harbor against the British fleet. After the War of 1812, the fort, called Castle Gardens, was the site of music and other entertainment events. Later, it was the New York Aquarium. In 1960 it was declared a national monument and Congress has given nearly $2 million to restore it.

Art exhibit at library

Drawings, paintings and sculpture by Claremont artist Miriam Aston are on exhibition this month at the Pomona Public Library.

Miss Aston, who recently moved to Claremont from Detroit, is a native New Yorker. Her award-winning work has been shown throughout the United States, including exhibitions at Detroit, New York City, the University of Ohio and the University of Michigan. Her work is represented in private collections in Michigan, California, New York, Louisiana, Georgia and Washington, D.C.

Miss Aston has won many awards, including the Wayne County (Michigan) Artist Award, the Michigan Academy of Arts, Science, and Letters Award and the Detroit Women Painters and Sculptors Award.

She is an instructor of drawing and painting with the Chaffey College Extension and the Upland Adult Education programs and will also be teaching sculpture this summer at Cal Poly.

Miss Aston received her B.F.A. and M.A. degrees from Wayne State University in Detroit. She has taught painting, drawing, and sculpture in Detroit and at the University of Michigan.

Musical program slated

The Covina Alumnae chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota, national professional music sorority, will present its spring benefit musicale at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Bailey of Covina at 3 o'clock this afternoon.

The program will feature the 1975 scholarship winner, violinist Madelaine Schatz of USC. The recital will also include piano duets by Janelle Poull and Cordelia Pardee and selections by clarinetist Ruby Dubin.

Alice Shapiro of Scripps College and Jack Mason of Chaffey College were presented with Community Service awards at the sorority's last meeting of the season. Miss Shapiro was honored for her work on behalf of the group's scholarship efforts. Mason, instrumental director at Chaffey, was honored for his work with band and orchestra festivals.

The Sword of Honor was presented to Miss Poull for her work as program chairman.

Maybe a turn toward economic recovery?

Market rises on wings of hope

By CHET CURRIER
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market pieced together a moderate gain this past week in an atmosphere of somewhat edgy hope for an economic recovery.

The market's viewpoint seemed to closely parallel that of Treasury Secretary William E. Simon, who said early in the week that the economy was turning but that evidence of better times might not show up immediately in all the indicators.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials started out Monday with a jump of better than 14 points, but it was gradually whittled down in subsequent sessions. Final reading showed a net gain of 7.35 at 839.64.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index picked up 1.33 at 92.48, and the New York Stock Exchange composite index was ahead .73 at 49.19.

Gainers outnumbered losers 1,258 to 530 among the 2,020 issues traded on the Big Board.

NYSE volume hit its highest level in seven weeks, averaging 24.70 million shares a day, up from 20.35 million the week before.

G.D. Searle was the week's most active issue, tumbling 4⅞ to 19⅜ in trading apparently dominated by attention to two anti-hypertensive drugs which are the biggest sellers in Searle's product line.

The company noted late Monday that it believed pressure on its stock stemmed from announcement of a planned government review of the toxicity of the two drugs.

On Friday, it said further selling of the stock appeared to arise from a brokerage house report discussing the situation and the two drugs' sales prospects.

Amex jumped 8¼ to 54⅛ following the announcement that Standard Oil of California had acquired about 20 per cent of the company's stock. Socal gained 2⅛ to 31⅞.

On the American Stock Exchange, McCulloch Oil led the active list, up ⅛ at 5⅜.

The Amex market value index rose 2.01 to 90.69.

The Associated Press 60-stock average posted a 4.8 advance to 275.7.

Chrysler will survive, but in what form?

DETROIT (AP) — A new Chrysler is emerging from the recession. It's leaner. It's poorer. And it's being forced to accept a smaller share of the auto market.

The firm, trimming back operations to recover from huge losses brought on by the economy, will be hard put to keep pace as General Motors and Ford Motor Co. launch multi-billion dollar efforts to develop a new era of gas-efficient cars.

Industry experts question whether Chrysler has the financial stamina to keep up with GM and Ford in the late 1970s. They say the alternative is for Chrysler to specialize in one or two markets and abandon the rest.

The question asked in Motor City today is: Has Chrysler, by fate or design, dropped out of the Big Three to join American Motors in the cellar? Is it now, or will it soon be, the Big Two and the Little Two?

"Chrysler's strategy is to move toward a lean organization, one resembling American Motors," says Richard L. Haydon of Goldman, Sachs & Co. in New York.

Top Chrysler executives say "No." The firm's current problems pose no long-term threat to Chrysler's ability to run bumper-to-bumper with Ford and GM, they say.

But analysts say that isn't possible; the money isn't there.

From interviews with executives at Chrysler and other companies, financial analysts, government officials and other industry watchers, the following prognosis of Chrysler's fortunes emerges:

—Despite all the rumors about bankruptcy, the firm is in no danger of turning belly up. And if it were, the federal government would probably rescue it with emergency loans similar to those which saved Lockheed Aircraft Corp. and Penn Central Railroad.

—Chrysler will be a smaller company with a smaller share of the U.S. car market by 1980.

CHRYSLER'S — Board chairman Lynn Townsend

—The worst of its nightmares are past, and Chrysler will turn a profit this fall, assuming car sales improve. The firm still faces a treacherous recovery period during the next two years.

—While all the auto companies are caught in unprecedented hard times, Chrysler is by far the worst off of the Big Three because it operates on the smallest profit margin.

Chrysler, fourth largest U.S. manufacturer in 1973, slid to 11th last year and lost $52 million, the most by any firm in the U.S. Its losses remained huge during the winter months, and the firm went deep into debt to find ready cash.

Despite plenty of evidence that the recession-wracked car maker is alive if not well, the whispering of impending doom continues. At least once a week for the past five months, rumors of imminent bankruptcy at Chrysler have swirled through Detroit.

Hardly anyone close to Chrysler says the smallest of the Big Three is even near its deathbed. "If the economic cycle bails them out, and they have a reasonable recovery, they can hang in there," says analyst Haydon.

The situation got so bad last winter that the company set up "rumor control" stations in each department to reassure nervous employes.

The backroom talk symbolizes the firm's all-out fight to survive in an industry that is undergoing perhaps its most drastic transformation since it turned from autos to tanks in 1941.

United Auto Workers Vice President Douglas Fraser says: "I don't doubt Chrysler will be around in 10 years. But I don't know in what form."

From the outside, it is business as usual at Chrysler. All eight of its assembly plants are operating and worker layoffs are receding slowly.

But Chrysler car sales are running at only two-thirds of last year's depressed levels, declining much more sharply than the sales of other car makers.

And the firm's market share has begun to erode — down a point from last year to annual rate of about 15 per cent. (In April, its share dipped briefly to 12 per cent.)

The slump also is taking a heavy toll on Chrysler dealers. During the winter, a record 213 of the nation's 25,570 new car dealers went out of business. More than half — 110 — were Chrysler franchises. That leaves the firm with 5,032 dealerships.

The failures increase the strain on Chrysler to keep its market share. If a Chrysler dealer closes his door, his customers may turn to another maker's dealer located in the same area.

Chrysler has lost $176 million since the third quarter of 1974, including $94.1 million in the first three months of this year, by far the largest losses in its 50-year history. Though Ford lost $10.6 million in the last quarter, analysts say both Ford and GM will end the year in the black.

Nearly a third of its 114,000 hourly workers remain on layoff and some 15,000 of 39,000 salaried employes have been let go.

Late last fall, when new car sales tumbled dramatically, Chrysler shut virtually its entire production system for six weeks. Dealers had a four-month supply of unsold cars, and a $200-million car inventory sat in factory lots waiting for dealer orders.

To pay its bills, the firm sold $200 million in securities and dipped into a good piece of the $575 million credit advanced by 200 banks.

At the time, Chrysler began to trim operations so it could make money even if domestic car sales remained at a terribly weak 6 million unit level, 40 per cent down from the record volume set in 1973.

The firm expects domestic sales to approach 7 million this year, and executives say Chrysler can turn a profit at that volume if it retains a 15 per cent share of the market.

The other auto companies also have been hurt by recession, but they did not stumble as drastically as Chrysler. While Ford and GM remain relatively healthy, industry analysts watch Chrysler anxiously.

Chrysler is the third largest industrial employer in the U.S., and its collapse would send shock waves through the U.S. economy.

Its far-flung operations grossed $11.8 billion in sales and amassed profits of $255 million. Worldwide employment was 273,000, including 153,000 in the U.S.

With 58 plants in 14 states, the firm buys parts — from pencils to tires — from 25,000 North American firms that employ millions of workers. Chrysler sells its products in 15 countries.

Benjamin Franklin once said, "Experience keeps a dear school, yet fools will learn in no other."

PSA

The 'Grinning Bird' is frowning

SAN DIEGO (AP) — The martini doesn't even have an olive any more. The napkin with it is smaller than it used to be.

The "Grinning Birds" flown by Pacific Southwest Airlines (PSA) even appear at times to be growling instead.

The once-proud and profitmaking airline, the nation's largest intrastate flight service, is fighting for survival with $1 million in losses monthly and 400 employes laid off from work.

"We have come close" to defaulting on bank loans, says Paul Barkley, senior vice president of finance.

It is possible, observers say, that PSA still may have to default on $52 million in contracts to purchase aircraft.

In addition to its recent cutback in flight schedules, PSA put its hotel and broadcasting operations up for sale and grounded two wide-bodied jets to save operating costs.

A big increase in passengers predicted several years ago failed to materialize. In the face of record losses blamed on the hotels and higher fuel costs, PSA now is trying to cancel orders to buy two more wide-bodied L1011 jets from Lockheed and delay delivery of a third.

PSA put down $15.5 million toward purchase of the jets and estimated it would cost an estimated $34 million more this year and $18 million next year to take delivery of all three.

Not only is the money unavailable, officials say, but the airline may be unable to borrow any more. Its revolving line of credit with Bank of America, Chase Manhattan and First National City banks of New York comes to $50 million, but less than $30 million of that can be borrowed.

Last March the airline was forced to use $3 million of this credit to meet payrolls and keep from defaulting on loan agreements.

But as of the end of March, its working capital had dropped to $5.55 million or $190,000 above the minimum by which it technically would go into default, requiring immediate payment of all loans.

The only solution is a 16 per cent fare increase for which PSA applied last September, says Chairman J. Floyd Andrews, a dapper executive with a white mustache who has been president of PSA since 1962.

If it is approved by the California Public Utilities Commission, PSA's fare from Los Angeles to San Diego would go from $10.75 to $12.50, from San Francisco to San Diego from $29 to $33.75 and from Los Angeles to San Francisco from $20.75 to $24.15.

The commission's staff recommended instead an 8 per cent increase, and PSA asked last March for interim emergency rate increases of 8 per cent. A decision is expected next month. Meanwhile, Andrews says his airline is losing $54,000 daily.

In the fourth quarter of 1974, the airline lost $1,398,373, or 44 cents a share, but this went to $2,502,000, or 79 cents, in the first quarter of this year.

Barkley said the airline operation alone will lose $4.6 million on an annual basis in 1975 without an immediate rate increase. A hike of 16 per cent, he said, would provide profits of $5.4 million annually this year, with 8 per cent putting it at "about the breakeven point."

Higher fuel prices and other factors ruined PSA' plans for profitable years ahead, officials say. But the 1,928,141 passengers carried in the first four months of 1975 were 6 per cent fewer than the total in the same period last year.

Its Valcar car-leasing subsidiary lost $1,851,666 from the time it was started in 1967 until it folded 1974. PSA's FM broadcasting stations lost $1,138,292 from 1971 through 1974, and the hotel operations have cost $5,950,249 in losses from 1969 through 1974.

There has been a total loss of $8,940,207 by the nonairline side interests.

Andrews said he has sold the company's San Diego and Sacramento broadcasting stations and has offers for the remaining stations in San Jose and Los Angeles.

"We should be out of broadcasting by the end of this year," he says. "The hotels, that should take longer."

The hotels are the Airport in Inglewood, the Queen Mary in Long Beach, the San Franciscan in San Francisco and the Islandia in San Diego. All four are up for sale.

The airline should begin making money in two years, Barkley said, but Andrews says if he had to do it over: "We wouldn't have gone into the hotel business."

Records show fewer persons were killed in hunting accidents in 1974 than in any other year since the hunter safety training program began 21 years ago. There were nine fatalities in '74.

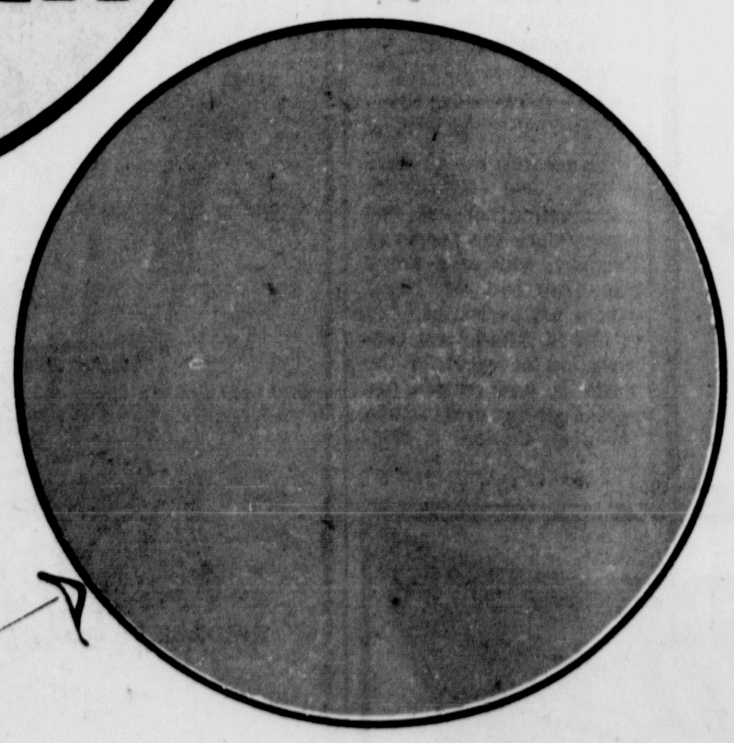
FATHER'S DAY is JUNE 15th

AN EXCITING SELECTION OF GIFT IDEAS TO MAKE DAD'S DAY REALLY SPECIAL!



Ata, Tata, Ama, Far, Baba all mean Dad

He's married, with offspring.

And according to whim he's called many things. He's paterfamilias, man of the house, the breadwinner, banker, babysitter, handyman, chauffeur, first aid man, lawnmower, paper-hanger, teacher, garbage man, vacation planner, dishwasher, lover.

He's Dad. And his day will be next Sunday, when Father's Day is celebrated for the 65th time.

It ranks second only to Christmas — with more than $1 billion in ties, after-shave, fishing rods, pipes, slippers and what-have-you going to Dad on his own special day. Yet, curiously, Father's Day is only the fifth most popular card-sending season after Christmas, Valentine's Day, Easter and Mother's Day.

Father's Day, which began in the United States in 1910, is celebrated now in 37 other countries from El Salvador to New Zealand.

In Yugoslavia, where fathers are honored on Dec. 3, kids have a curious custom of tying their father to a chair and releasing him only after securing a promise of substantial gifts. In China Father's Day occasions a long, elaborate ritual honoring the family's last five male ancestors.

What do children overseas call their father? Here's how the word "dad" sounds in various other languages: At, Ata, Fadir, Pater, Padre, Tata, Tad, Ama, Ojciec, Far, Baba, Otac, Isa, Bapak, Makuakane and Pa — which is Afrikaans as well as English for "Pa." In certain South Pacific tribes, Dad gets treated formally. His children call him "Tama," which means literally "my mother's husband."

Here in the states Dad is by far the most popular word today for a male parent. Then comes Daddy, Pop and Father. Until fairly recently Papa was a favorite American word for fathers. But that has now vanished from the scene along with "Pa," "Paw," "Governor" and the old Puritan expression "Honored Sir."

Call Dad what you will next Sunday.

But he certainly deserves better treatment than Oscar Wilde gave him in writing: "Fathers should be neither seen nor heard. That is the only proper basis for family life."

Here's a dad with a house full

GAINESVILLE, Fla. (AP) — "We like to help people," explined Carole Craig, mother of a family of eight which has opened its home and given its beds to seven Vietnamese refugees.

"We're Mormons. We believe in loving thy neighbor like oneself, trying to make the world a better place to live," Mrs. Craig said.

The Craig's modest home has become a crowded place to live since Phillip and Carole returned from Eglin Air Force Base last week with seven new "family members."

The family of Nguyen Qui Thuan, 32, a former recreation supervisor, in Saigon for the U.S. defense attache office, is now sleeping in the Craig beds.

Thuan and his wife have the master bedroom while the Craigs are sleeping in another room. The Craig children, ages 1 to 8, are roughing it in sleeping bags on the floor after deciding to give their beds to the new arrivals.

The Thuan family, with children ranging in age from 3 to 8, is expecting an addition soon. Thuan's wife Vo Thai Gai, 29, is four months pregnant.

"When you have six children and you have a few more it really doesn't make a difference," said Mrs. Craig. "These people aren't used to living in a huge mansion and neither are we."

The Craigs have converted the family room of their three-bedroom, concrete block home into sleeping quarters but haven't figured out a way to cope with the house's one bathroom.

Economics apparently is no problem. "The food we can take care of. I'm an electronics engineer and I can afford to take care of their food," Craig said.

Thuan, who has has worked as a truck driver, refugee family, which lost all its possessions when fleeing Saigon in April.

"They were despondent," Mrs. Craig said. I'm originally from England and when I came over here 10 years ago, people in this country were nice to me. They really wnet out f their way to be kind to me.

"I said some day I'd pay it back," she said.

Bribery, political meddling

Multinationals — in trouble worldwide

CHILEAN WORKERS DISPLAY FLAG AT SEIZED FORD PLANT

By JAMES P. WILLSE
Associated Press Writer

Under increasing scrutiny at home and abroad, multinational corporations are making some fundamental changes in the ways they do business. One result may be a recasting of their image as the big bullies of world commerce.

"The impacts of the multinational in the underdeveloped world are moving from negative to positive," says economist Ronald E. Muller, coauthor of a study critical of the giant firms. "The countries are learning how to control them."

The pressure on multinationals to improve their standing as corporate citizens is being felt on a variety of fronts.

—Several nations are demanding that foreign businesses planning takeovers of local firms prove they will benefit the local economy.

—Other "host nations" have begun to regulate their corporate guests much more closely. The six members of Latin America's Andean Pact have told multinationals they would do well to sell controlling interests of subsidiaries to local investors and have set a limit of 14 per cent on the earnings that can be sent to the folks back home.

—In Washington, efforts are under way to alter tax breaks now afforded U.S. multinationals and to force increased disclosure of their complex business practices. According to a National Association of Manufacturers study of 83 multinationals, two of the proposed tax changes alone would increase the companies' tax bill by $1.5 billion.

—Legal authorities are stepping up investigations into allegations of price manipulation and avoidance of taxes and customs duties.

—A newly formed U.N. commission plans to investigate multinationals, advise nations how to deal with them and formulate a code of conduct.

The responses of the multinational corporations are almost as varied as their businesses. But this pattern emerges from interviews with economists, corporate executives and government critics of the firms:

Individual subsidiaries of the global corporations are accepting smaller profits in order to keep host nations happy, confident that other branches of the corporate tree will pick up the slack. No longer is there widespread insistence that the parent company own 100 per cent of its foreign affiliates. Agreements to supply machinery and know-how to foreign customers are being renegotiated in many countries to the advantage of the customer.

To qualify as a multinational, a firm has to do a substantial portion of its business in other countries — producing as well as selling overseas, and obtaining needed capital and resources from foreign sources. Another trait is centralized management.

There are hundreds of such firms, from giants like General Motors and Exxon to smaller companies with operations in just a few countries. Together, their economic power is awesome: An estimated 30 per cent of U.S. corporate profits is derived from overseas, compared with about 7 per cent in 1960. One projection has it that by 1985, some 300 of the largest multinationals will produce more than half the world's goods and services, up from the 15 per cent share of the gross world product now attributed to the world corporations.

Sometimes, abuse of that power makes headlines. Recent examples include ITT's meddling in Chile, disclosure of a $1.25 million bribe by United Brands to officials of the Honduran government and Gulf Oil's admission that it contributed $4.4 million to the ruling political parties in Korea and Bolivia.

Less dramatic but of more concern, critics say, is the long-range economic impact of the firms on their home and host countries. A key issue is ownership of local enterprise.

In 1971, members of the Andean Pact decreed that foreign-owned businesses must sell 51 per cent interest to local investors within 15 years. Mexico and Turkey passed similar limits; other nations bar foreign investment completely from some lines of business.

Given such little choice, corporations are shifting away from wholly owned subsidiaries in favor of partnerships with local businessmen, acquisition of minority holdings in existing businesses or, in some cases, contracts to provide technology for a fee.

For those corporations reluctant to meet the demands of economic nationalism, there is the prospect of expropriation. A recent U.N. study shows the average number of nationalizations reached more than 93 yearly in 1970-74, more than double the yearly average in 1960-69.

"Thirty-five per cent of something is better than 100 per cent of nothing," says J. Paul Lyet, Chief executive officer of Sperry Rand Corp.

They may not be happy about it, but executives also are more willing to abide by limits on profits sent to the shareholders back home.

"We have to be acutely sensitive to the sentiment that have developed, and we'll just have to roll with the punches," says E.M. de Windt, board chairman of Eaton Corp.

The multinationals are finding some of their more esoteric business strategies under examination. One such practice is transfer pricing.

A goodly portion of international commerce is in fact transactions between branches of the same company — $40 billion a year just for U.S. multinationals, according to one estimate. By adjusting the prices it charges its own subsidiaries, a multinational can, for instance, shift corporate funds out of a high-tax country or into a nation where the currency is more stable.

Twelve refining companies, among them a subsidiary of Shell Oil, were charged last year in Japan with price-fixing as a result of a transfer-pricing probe. In Germany, authorities are investigating prices that drug and paper companies charge their affiliates. And in the United Stats, the Federal Energy Administration accused Gulf Oil of overcharging itself for oil purchased from foreign subsidiaries, thus cutting its apparent profits and reducing tax liability.

Radical changes in multinational lifestyle are threatened as well by developments at home. "Let me tell you, what's going on in Washington these days gives us fits," says Eaton's de Windt.

What's going on in Washington is tax reform. Under present law, corporations get credit for taxes paid to other governments. Congressional critics say the tax credit gives the multinationals a tax loophole, allowing their overseas branches to get off lighter than their domestic operations, and in the process, save the corporations an estimated $1 billion annually in tax bills.

The recent tax bill tightened the provision for oil companies, thus yielding a projected $270 million in extra tax revenues this year and $750 million in 1976. Further tax reform almost certainly will try to restrict use of the tax credit by all multinationals.

Another tax benefit under examination allows international business to defer payment of taxes on overseas profits until the profits are brought back as dividends to the United States.

"There is tremendous interest in the Senate in increasing taxes on multinational corporations," says Raymond Garcia, vice president of the business-backed Emergency Committee for American Trade. "Taxes are the first line of assault, and disclosure is the second."

GULF'S — Bob Dorsey at Senate hearing on illegal political contributions.

Executives protest that measures to force detailed disclosure of how their businesses are run would mean vast hours of paperwork to yield information that should be secret anyway. Congressional investigators respond that the firms are too nervous about competition and that the information is essential to lawmakers' understanding the giant firms.

"The success of the multinationals has attracted a good deal of attention," says F. Perry Wilson, board chairman of Union Carbide. "Their failure has been in articulation."

To correct that, many of the corporations are beefing up lobbying and public relations staffs.

Journalist's hypertension nightmare

REPORTER GENE SCHROEDER IN BRAIN SCAN MACHINE WHICH DISCOVERED HIS CLOT

EDITOR'S NOTE — The author of this article underwent brain surgery for a blood clot the size of a ping-pong ball. He is now back at work, fully recovered.

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — I have survived a silent assassin that claims 60,000 lives a year.

Only by the grace of God and the talents of a skillful team of brain surgeons am I alive and well today.

The assassin lurking in the background is hypertension, more commonly called high blood pressure.

The medical profession estimates that 23 million Americans have hypertension and most don't know it. The ailment is insidious. It produces no symptoms. But once you have it, it's for life. It can't be cured, only controlled.

Often the first indication of hypertension comes too late. Not only the primary cause of 60,000 deaths a year, hypertension also is a major contributing factor in one million more deaths annually from heart attacks, strokes and kidney failure, according to the American Heart Association.

If my high blood pressure had been detected early and had been treated, I might have avoided brain surgery. As it was, the first sign of trouble was a simple headache when I awoke one morning last fall.

There was no reason to believe anything was drastically wrong. I was pretty healthy, I thought. I had not had a day off for illness in 18 months. I didn't smoke. I was 53, a bachelor.

I felt so healthy that I hadn't bothered to see my doctor for several years. That was my big mistake.

The headache was still with me as I drove the short distance to work that morning. I took a few aspirin and waited for it to go away.

Then a peculiar thing happened. As I approached my parking garage and made a left turn, I overshot the entrance by two or three feet.

I was puzzled, and a funny feeling crept into the pit of my stomach. It stayed with me on the two-block walk to the office. But soon it was forgotten in the tasks of an Associated Press newsman.

For three or four hours, everything went well.

But suddenly, that feeling came back to the pit of my stomach. This time it was accompanied by an almost overwhelming sense of dread.

I reread something I had typed. The writing was scrambled. I tried typing some more. Again, scrambled copy.

Oh, could it be a brain tumor?

The next day, my doctor was skeptical when I told him about the headache and my fears of a brain tumor.

But the skeptical look on Dr. J. Martin Miller's face turned to a frown when I mentioned the scrambled writing. And a genuine look of distress took over as he checked my blood pressure.

"It's 200 over 120!" he exclaimed.

"How bad is that?" I asked, knowing it was far above normal.

"Bad enough to do something about, right now," replied Dr. Miller, a staff physician at Detroit's Henry Ford Hospital. He ordered diagnostic tests, including "chest X-ray, blood tests and brain scan." He wrote a prescription for my just-discovered hypertension.

The words "brain scan" brought that queasy feeling again.

It meant the injection of radioactive isotopes into the brain so my head could be scanned mechanically by an X-ray detecting device similar to a Geiger counter. Would the test reveal a tumor?

The test was relatively simple and painless. The whole process — including the injection of the isotopes into a vein in my arm — took little more than half an hour.

But then came another jolt.

"The scan shows there's something there," Dr. Miller began. "We can't tell what it is yet. Maybe a tumor, maybe a blood clot, maybe an inflammation from an infection.

"There's one good thing about it, though. Whatever it is, it's near the surface and not deep inside the brain."

My fate was now out of Dr. Miller's hands and placed in the hands of a top-notch brain surgeon at Ford Hospital, Dr. James Butterfield.

The next 10 days became a whirl of tests, some dangerous, all vital.

They included electroencephalograms, X-rays, an arteriograph, and 38 separate laboratory tests on my blood.

The most intriguing involved a new $400,000 brain scan device called an EMI-Scanner system made in England. Only a few exist here.

The test was painless and less bother than a haircut.

As I leaned back on a reclining chair, my head was fitted into a soft rubber cap at one end of the machine. For the next 30 minutes, the scanning device rotated around my head, taking readings of X-ray transmissions at six different angles — or "slices" — of my brain.

The radiologist explained that the readings were fed into a minicomputer, which solved 43,200 simultaneous equations for each "slice." The results were then shown on a cathode ray screen, much like a TV screen, for examination by doctors.

"But what did they show?" I asked Dr. Butterfield later from my hospital bed. "Not much more than we already knew. It just confirmed our earlier findings. There's something there, but we still don't know what it is — and it may take surgery to find out."

It didn't help my peace of mind to be told there was a possibility of brain damage and serious complications from one test — the arteriograph — in which an opaque dye is injected into an artery and channeled to the brain to produce more definitive X-ray pictures.

"The complications include possible paralysis of the left side, some loss of sight and speech impairment," the doctors said. "We need your approval to proceed."

"Go ahead," I replied. "Let's get it over with."

After the tests were completed, one of the doctors said the diagnosis was still either an inflammation, a blood clot or a tumor.

The doctors said they needed one more test: brain surgery itself.

"Surgery can be both diagnostic and therapeutic," it was explained. "We usually can find out what the problem is when we open it up and took a look. And we may provide immediate therapy by taking out whatever we find." whatever we find."

I agreed quickly. I wasn't in the mood for conversation. I now had only a little time left to take care of a lot of things.

First, there was the task of breaking the news to my parents in Seattle, who up to that time didn't know I was in the hospital. I had kept it from them because my mother has a heart ailment.

Then there were calls to friends and relatives in New York, Chicago and Michigan City, Ind ... To say goodbye.

When the moment finally arrived to be wheeled into the operating room, I said a prayer to myself and hummed my favorite hymn: "Just a Closer Walk With Thee."

I did not fear death. I was not prepared, however, to accept the finding of a malignant tumor and that I might emerge from surgery an invalid, perhaps half-paralyzed, half-blind.

They say the surgery took nearly five hours ...

I awoke slightly annoyed at whoever was speaking to me. Go away and let me sleep, I thought. But the voice was persistent.

"Mr. Schroeder," he kept saying. "Can you hear me?"

"Yeah, what d'ya want," was my reply.

"We found a blood clot and took it out," he said.

"That's nice," I said, and went back to sleep.

Wheeled back to my own room, I apparently looked more dead than alive. The nurses began efforts to revive me. "Where are you?" I heard Trude Weber, a friend who works at the hospital.

Trying to show everybody that I was alert, I answered, jokingly: "Calcutta."

For some reason, this didn't seem to satisfy anyone.

Trude tried again.

"Who am I?" she asked, a touch of desperation edging her voice.

"Raquel Welch." I replied. This time the nurses caught on to my little game and left the room, laughing.

Later that night, one of the nurses discovered that my pulse and blood pressure had dropped. I was placed on oxygen for six hours but awoke with an appetite and had a light breakfast and a full lunch.

I was on my feet the next day.

But I was not out of the woods yet. Although no evidence of a tumor had been spotted visually on the operating table, the all-clear would not be final until some lab tests were performed on the brain tissue.

It would take a week, the doctors said.

My blood clot — slightly larger than a Ping-pong ball — was the result of a peripheral intracerebral hemmorhage. There appeared little doubt, the doctors agreed, that my high blood pressure had caused a blood vessel to burst in my head.

At long last, the lab report came back; no trace of a tumor. When I was told I could go home, the doctor gave me just one bit of advice:

"Don't play football without a helmet."

'Operation Color' Claremont theme

Claremonters are being invited to join the horticultural committee of the Claremont Bicentennial celebration in a community project called "Operation Color."

According to Jolly Batcheller, within the city are thousands of California poppies, the state flower.

Each plant produces 50 to 100 flowers which set seed and die.

The committee would like all citizens to collect the seeds for mass plantings next spring and to share with Claremont's Bicentennial sister city, Princeton, N.J.

Batcheller said that each properly ripened seed pod will produce 90 or more plants which will cover more than 25 square feet of bedding.

Bacheller explained that when the seed pods are ready to harvest, they turn a straw color with dark spots and the seeds inside are brown.

The seeds, Batcheller said, should be pulled from the plant and placed in a paper bag in a warm, dry place, not in a jar, because that does not allow natural moisture to escape, and the seeds will rot.

Batcheller said that the Claremont Chamber of Commerce at 201 Harvard Ave. has agreed to serve as collection center for the seeds.

Batcheller suggested that seeds not be brought in each day, but collected when plants stop blooming.

Bicentennial group sets Upland meeting

The Upland Bicentennial Committee will meet Tuesday from 5 to 6 p.m. at the Upland Public Library to discuss a nine-point program by William F. King, chairman of Area I of the Bicentennial Committee.

The program centers on history of the nation and of the Upland area in particular. Local citizens will be asked to participate by providing information on pioneer families and historical landmarks.

King, a professor of American and California history at Mt. San Antonio College, is chairman of the historical committee for the celebration. Other committee chairmen include Catherine Minnock, "Festival U.S.A.," and J. Jerome Johnson, "Horizons U.S.A."

It is claimed the first settlement of white pioneers in Nevada was a Mormon trading post now called Genoa.

Aerospace industry fares Better than some others

SAN FRANCISCO — (BW) — The Aerospace industry is in somewhat better shape than most other manufacturing industries, according to economist Yvonne Levy in the "Business & Financial Letter" of the Federal Reserve Bank of San Francisco.

"Despite some recent layoffs and production cutbacks, overall sales have remained strong," Levy said.

"They are likely to expand further in 1975 on top of last year's 10 per cent gain when sales reached $26.8 billion. Profits should remain high for most firms because of the industry's thick orderbooks and vigorous cost-reduction efforts."

Reason for the relatively blue skies of aerospace is the heavy inflow of orders from the Pentagon and foreign buyers. In 1974 the Pentagon, which is the aerospace industry's largest customer, boosted its purchases 6 per cent to $15.3 billion.

And the research-and-development portion of the defense budget — crucial to the aerospace industry — shows a 12 per cent budgeted increase.

Congressional budget debates so far this year have indicated little desire to cut back on national defense spending, especially in view of the nation's high unemployment and worldwide political tensions.

Commercial aircraft manufacturing is the weaker side of the picture.

Music pupils win awards

Gary Ardry, a student of Roger Ardry, was a double winner in the John Child Walker Talent Competition at Pomona College. He took first in upper division composition and second in upper division voice. Twenty other local students won awards.

The winners and teachers were:

(Upper division) Piano — William Marsden (Helena Johnson), first, Edward Bratt (Yvonne Gordon), second, and Paige Luzier (Marie Benedict), honorable mention; voice — Cathlyn Craft (Monroe), first, and Ardry, second; winds — hornist Joseph Ognibene (Ralph Pyle) first, and clarinetist Meg Corones (Kalman Bloch).

LITTLE DOLLS — Mary Kaye Stephens of Pomona holds the attention of daughter Jody and son Eric as she constructs cornhusk dolls. Mrs. Stephens will be demonstrating her craft at the Four Arts Festival on the plaza of the Pomona Civic Center from 1 to 5 p.m. today. The event will include art exhibits and demonstrations by the Pomona Valley Art Association, and performances by the Pomona Community Chorus, Pomona Concert Band, Valley Community Theater and Valley Concert Dance Theater. All events are open to the public.

Expert to lecture on Pueblo pottery

John E. Collins of Cal State Fullerton, an expert on Southwest American Indian pottery, will give an illustrated lecture on "Contemporary Pueblo Pottery" in the Forum Building of Chaffey College at 3 o'clock this afternoon. Admission is free.

Collins knows many of the potters personally. Last year he was responsible for a major showing of Hopi Pueblo pottery by Nampeyo, her daughters, granddaughters and great granddaughters. The exhibit, for which he wrote the accompanying catalogue, was held at the Muckenthaler Cultural Center in Fullerton.

His personal collection of Indian pottery includes examples of work from all of the 10 producing pueblos in Arizona and New Mexico. He is interested in collecting fine examples of the many living potters as well as those of the past. His intent in collecting and lecturing is to give further recognition to the artists and encourage an appreciation and understanding of their work.

His lecture at Chaffey College will be illustrated with slides he took of the various pieces of contemporary pottery. Following the lecture he will be available at the Wignall Museum-Gallery to answer questions concerning the current Pueblo pottery exhibit. Also at this time, a hand-constructed piece of pottery will be fired in the method used by the American Indians. Kim Koga, a ceramic student at Chaffey College, has studied the native American method of firing and will give a demonstration.

Whittier exhibit planned

"Color My World," an invitational exhibit and competition for professional artists, will be held at the Whittwood Center, 15768 E. La Forge Ave., Whittier, Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Cash awards and ribbons will be awarded for both traditional and non-traditional work. Morris Shubin will be judge.

A drawing will be held for a marine oil by Robert Wee, nationally known artist. The exhibit is sponsored by the Whittwood Center merchants. Artists wishing to enter work can call Terry Minasian at 595-8657.

Artists to hear Duncan

Artist Darwin Duncan of Garden Grove will give a lecture demonstration at a meeting of the Associated Artists at the Ontario Public Library at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday. The public is invited.

Duncan was for many years instructor of fine arts at Orange Coast College. He has been called "a master of composition" and stresses the selection and organization of subject matter.

For most of this past spring the artist has been out in the desert country painting and studying the different moods of that land.

He is in demand as a painter, demonstrator, lecturer and judge for many of the art shows.

The July meeting will be a bus trip to the Laguna Festival of Arts.

The world's highest dam upon completion will be the Nurek on Vakhsh, U.S.S.R. It will be 1,040 feet high with capacity for 8,424,000 square feet of water.

Symphonette plans concert

KATHREEN PROUT

The Montclair Starlite Symphonette, conducted by Fred E. Graff, will present a concert in the Montclair High School auditorium at 8:15 p.m. Thursday. Admission is free.

This is the final program of the Montclair Starlite Series for the 1974-75 season. The series is presented free by the City of Montclair.

Pianist Kathreen Prout of the Cal Poly Music Department, will be soloist in Weber's "Konzertstuck." A graduate of the College of the Pacific, Miss Prout received her master of music degree from Indiana University where she taught. She has been soloist with many California orchestras.

Other selections on the program will be Rossini's Overture to "Signor Bruschino"; Vivaldi's Violin Concerto No. 6; the waltz from "Serenade for String Orchestra" by Tchaikovsky; Handel's Concerto for Orchestra in D Major; Double Concerto for Two Violins and Orchestra by J. S. Bach, and Copland's "Fantasia Mexicana," arranged by Johnny Green.

A qualified researcher visiting the National Archives building in Washington D.C. can touch the Royal Fijian whale tooth, King Thabokan of the Fiji Islands sent the cucumber-shaped tooth to President Grant in 1870 with a letter asking for a treaty of friendship. The tooth, the King's most precious possession, symbolized his faith and solemn purpose.

EL ROBLE SHOW — The students and faculty of El Roble Intermediate School will present "The Greatest Show on Earth" at the El Roble auditorum Monday at 7:30 p.m.

The second annual musical extravaganza will present such acts as "Tony Orinquo and Sunset," and "The Carpenterias." The 1974 show was a memorial to the late Mrs. Betty Glad, El Roble drama teacher.

Proceeds from the show went for stage equipment. Proceeds this year will again be placed in the Betty Glad Fund for lighting and microphones for the auditorium. Admission will be 50 cents for adults and 30 cents for children.

UNIVERSITY CLUB — Joe Moeller, former Dodger pitcher, will speak at the noon luncheon meeting of the University Club of Claremont at Griswold's Tuesday.

Moeller spent eight seasons with the Dodgers and retired as an active player in 1973.

With a record of 13 years in professional baseball, Moeller considers his best years being a member of the pitching staff with such Dodger greats as Sandy Koufax, Don Drysdale and Johnny Podres.

Still with the Dodgers as a member of the baseball club's speakers bureau, Moeller is also a batting practice pitcher.

Psoriasis unit to hold meeting

The San Gabriel Valley Chapter of the National Psoriasis Foundation board of directors will meet MOnday at 7:30 p.m. at the Lark Ellen Hospital Professional Building board room, 855 N. Lark Ellen Ave., West Covina.

The meeting is open to the public. The board is seeking to expand and is recruting volunteers interested in donating a few hours monthly to the organization.

The chapter schedules quarterly meetings to inform the public about research in the field of psoriasis. The group recruits volunteers to participate in research projects at major medical centers in Southern California and raises funds to assist in research.

Board members include Dr. David L. Gabele, Chino; Dr. Louis A. Novak, Arcadia; Mr. and Mrs. John DeFry, Montclair; Mrs. Melissa Dickey, Monterey Park; Hans Jenkins, Downey; Mrs. Anne Unks, La Puente; Mrs. Therese Cappielo, La Puente; Mrs. Edythe Filene, Covina; Mrs. Ted Ruth, Montebello, Mrs. Jean Keith, Azusa, Mrs. Eileen Woodworth, West Covina, and Mrs. Mary Hatfield, West Covina.

Persons interested in knowing more about the chapter may call 626-7840.

Hens lay more eggs than ever

CHICAGO (AP) — There are fewer hens laying eggs in this country, but those that are seem to be enjoying it more, according to a recent report in Prairie Farmer.

The magazine says the numbers of laying hens in the U.S. are at their lowest level in many years. But those that are laying eggs, are doing so in record-breaking numbers. Ralph Baker, Ohio State University economist, says hens are producing about one egg more per hen per month. This trend has been going on for the past five years.

Ex-Dodger 'relaxing' with Angels

Retirement wouldn't be as much fun

Progress Bulletin
Sports

ANAHEIM (AP) — At 65, when a majority of his peers looked forward to retirement and perhaps the rocking chair, Arthur "Red" Patterson recommended himself for the most challenging job of his life and loves it.

"This is so much better than relaxing," says Patterson, who quit a newspaper career in New York City to work public relations, first with the New York Yankees and then with the Brooklyn Dodgers. He moved West when Walter O'Malley brought the Dodgers to Los Angeles in 1958 and, this year, moved about 40 miles south of Los Angeles to Anaheim, becoming president of the California Angels.

"I think I might have slackened just a bit after 20 years with the Dodgers," Patterson admitted. "I'm not picking it up. I'm making more speeches, just like when the Dodgers came to California.

"Gene Autry had a lot of courage to give me a job like this at this age," Red said. "I've got to admit there were times when I felt like quitting and relaxing and taking it easy. I have a small bank account which probably would have taken care of us. But this is so much better."

He also admits his salary about doubled with the new job for which he recommended himself.

"Mr. Autry asked me for my opinion of three men being considered. I gave it glibly and then I got the feeling that maybe he was hunting. I called back and said I was interested and he said he'd meet me at breakfast and that's where it went."

Autry, the former cowboy acting star who nows own television and radio stations as well as the Angels, doesn't think he took a great gamble with Patterson. "He has lived up to every expectation I had," he said. "He has a background that you can't buy. Only experience gives you that background. After all, a man after he's 65 years old could be a hell of a lot sharper that a guy is at 40."

Patterson says his new job is "a matter of organizing and getting the most out of a good squad and a good, exciting ball club." It also involves half a dozen speeches a week—at breakfasts, luncheons and dinners.

"I like to meet people and I think the people like to meet me. I don't try to bluff them. I tell them the story as it is and I don't try. Very often I think I give them some confidential information and I just ask them to stay in the room with it."

So far the Angels are about 75,000 ahead of last year's attendance and Patterson says, "We have a lot of promotions ahead of us. In this job I can handle the promotions the way I think they should be handled.

"Mainly, I think we should stick to baseball. If we have giveaways, let's give away baseball items. I'm also a great believer in two-for-one dates because there are some people who just can't afford the full price.

"So, have family days. Have two-for-one days. You have a lot of empty seats. Why keep them empty? I would really rather have 40,000 in here on a two-for-one basis than I would have 18,000 in here on a full paying basis."

Patterson admits he still thinks of the Dodgers. "I'd love to have a freeway World Series if that's at all possible. At the early part of the season when the San Diego Padres were going so good, I almost got in touch with Walter O'Malley to say, 'Listen, if we're going to have that freeway world series, let's not make it the San Diego Freeway.'

"I really do love this job. I look at it not only as fun but realization."

UTEP surprises Bruins, Trojans in NCAA track

PROVO, Utah (AP) — Eamonn Coghlan captured the featured mile with a stirring kick but the University of Texas-El Paso gained its first team championship despite rain and cold Saturday in the 54th National Collegiate Athletic Association track and field championships.

Coghlan used a blistering kick in the final yards to win the event which followed a rainstorm that prevented a sub four-minute mile.

Former Chaffey College star Keith Goldie, competing for Long Beach State, threw the javelin 250-feet, 2 inches Saturday to win the event at the NCAA track and field championships. His winning mark was a lifetime best, upsetting favored Richard George of BYU.

UTEP, however, picked up a third in that race, a victory in the steeplechase, a fifth place in the pole vault and added that to 29 points scored Friday for the team title, dethroning Tennessee handily.

Star of the meet, however, was Washington State's Kenyan distance runner John Ngeno, who captured the six-mile on Friday and returned Saturday with a brilliant strategy to win the three-mile.

Despite the three-quarter mile altitude of Brigham Young University stadium, the 5-foot-10 junior from Nairobi blitzed the field in a time of 13:22.73 to easily break the stadium record.

Josh Kimeto, a WSU teammate and Ngeno's countryman, ran the first 1½ miles in 6:38.4, with Ngeno right behind, and the two built up a 75-yard lead before defending champion Paul Geis of Oregon could challenge.

UTEP, using its stable of 25 foreign athletes on a 49-man roster to great advantage, scored well in most events it entered and totalled 55 points to run away from second-place UCLA with 42, and Southern California with 36. The third-place Trojans failed to score in such events as the intermediate hurdles and the pole vault and its expected challenge never materialized.

The highest finish for a UTEP team previously was a third in 1972 and Coach Ted Banks' crew was sixth here last year.

Shoe rides Avatar to vindication in Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — Foolish Pleasure had the Kentucky Derby to his credit. Master Derby had the Preakness. And Saturday, as the 3-year-old thoroughbred picture became even more scrambled, Avatar had a masterful ride from Bill Shoemaker that paid off with victory in the $193,600 Belmont Stakes.

"I thought Shoe rode a typical Shoemaker race—great. He (Avatar) has a tendency to loaf on the lead, but Shoe nursed him along," trainer Tommy Doyle said after the world's winningest rider made Avatar his fifth Belmont winner in eight tries.

At the end of the 1½ miles of the final race of the Triple Crown, it was Avatar by a neck over the on-rushing Foolish Pleasure, with Master Derby another 3½ lengths back.

Shoemaker had Avatar no worse than third on the outside most of the way, and he took the lead from Master Derby with about an eighth of a mile left.

Referring to Avatar's tendency to loaf in the lead, Shoemaker said, "I didn't want to take the lead when I did, but I didn't have a choice.

"Master Derby ran out of gas and left me in front. I decided I might as well go on now. He didn't respond at first—the wire came up just about in time."

And indeed it did, as Foolish Pleasure's late charge over the final quarter-mile fell barely short while Master Derby was fading.

Avatar, who earned $116,160 and returned $28.40, $8 and $5, now will be able to loaf for a while without worrying his jockey, trainer or owner.

"He's had a tough campaign," said owner Arthur A. Seeligson Jr. of San Antonio, Tex. "We want to rest him for a while."

For most of this 107th Belmont, which was completed in 2::28 1/5, more than four seconds off Secretariat's 1973 record, it looked as though Diabolo would haunt Shoemaker again.

The veteran jockey rode Diabolo in 10 of the colt's first 12 races, but he became disenchanted and was pulled off by owner Frank McMahon and trainer Sid Martin, following a third-place finish in the Santa Anita Derby which was won by Avatar.

Shoe rode Avatar once before in the Triple Crown and then took him to a second-place Kentuckey Derby finish and a fifth in the Preakness.

"He was too full of run," said Diabolo's jockey Laffit Pincay Jr., who said he wanted to lay second or third instead of first but the colt wouldn't let him.

"I could have opened up 10 lengths any time on the backstretch but I was trying my very best to get him to relax in the backstretch. Then some horses just went on by us in the last quarter."

Jacinto Vasquez, who rode the favored Foolish Pleasure, said, "I had dead aim on him (Avatar) from the three-eighths pole on, but I just couldn't catch him. No excuses. We ran our race. We didn't win."

Foolish Pleasure, owned by John L. Greer of Knoxville, Tenn., paid $3.20 and $2.60. Mrs. Robert E. Lehmann's Master Derby paid $5.20, and jockey Darrel McHargue said: "He ran hard. I couldn't find fault with any part of the race. At the three-eighths pole he had something left, but Avatar had a little more.

Diabolo surrendered the lead to Master Derby approaching the quarter-pole and faded to finish fourth, a distant four lengths back of the third-place horse.

Following Diabolo across the finish were Prince Thou Art, the second-betting favorite who never was a factor; Singh; Just the Time; Nalees Rialto and Syllabus.

$2.4 million bet on Belmont

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City's Off-Track Betting Corp. reported a handle of $2,442,589 for Saturday's 107th running of the Belmont Stakes, final race in the Triple Crown for 3-year-olds.

A spokesman for OTB said the handle, representing only New York City offices, was nearly $900,000 more than last year's and the biggest ever for the Belmont.

Allen's first two homers beat L.A.

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Dick Allen hit his first two home runs of the season and Steve Carlton checked Los Angeles on two hits Saturday night to lead the Philadelphia Phillies to a 4-0 victory over the Dodgers.

Allen, who joined the Phils May 14, connected in the second inning with a shot off the left field foul pole and again in the sixth, this time putting the ball in the Dodgers' bullpen in left. Both blasts came off Doug Rau, 5-6. Greg Luzinski added a two-run homer, his 11th of the year, off Jim Brewer in the eighth.

Carlton evened his record at 5-5 with his second shutout of the season and the 30th of his career. The big left-hander gave up singles to Jim Wynn in the fourth inning and Manny Mota in the eighth.

Allen, who led the American League in homers last year, hit his last home run Aug. 16, 1974, when he was with the Chicago White Sox.

The Dodgers, shut out for the first time since Sept. 17, 1974, managed only five baserunners off Carlton until the ninth, Rick Auerbach, who walked and moved up on Rau's two-out sacrifice bunt, was the only Dodger to reach second.

Steve Yeager walked in the fifth but was erased as Allen started a double play. Mota batted for Auerbach and hit a pinch-single in the eighth but Carlton got pinch-hitter Ken McMullen for his third strikeout to end the inning.

Allen, who now has hit two home runs in one game 28 times in his career, had batted 68 times without a homer. Luzinski ended an 0-for-21 slump against left-handers this season when he connected off Brewer.

Mike Schmidt came up with the game's top defensive play when he robbed Steve Garvey with a diving stop at third base in the second.

Cool Ryan boils inside after no-hit effort

ANAHEIM (AP) — Calm and cooperative on the outside, Nolan Ryan readily admits that his no-hit pitching builds an ever-growing pressure.

"This week the pressure has been the worst of my career," said the 28-year-old right-hander of the California Angels.

It started with last Sunday's 1-0 victory over Baltimore, his fourth no-hitter, tying him with Sandy Koufax as the only men in major league history to pitch that many.

He came back on Friday night, saying he wanted another no-hitter, but Milwaukee's Hank Aaron spoiled the bid with a sixth-inning single, one of only two hits that Ryan gave up in a 6-0 victory.

"I tried to be cooperative and answer the telephone calls," Ryan said. "But all that attention made the week difficult."

If he had turned in a no-hitter against Milwaukee, he would have joined Johnny Vander Meer as the only pitchers ever to hurl two consecutive no-hitters. Vander Meer did it in 1938 with Cincinnati.

"I have to see if I can keep the publicity from bothering me," Ryan said. "I have to just go out and pitch ball games. My primary purpose is to win them."

He added, "Even this week I tried to concentrate as much as I could, although I answered the phone from the time I got up until the time I went to bed."

And that concentration came while he was besieged by interviewers, cameramen and just ordinary citizens bent on seeing a baseball hero.

Manager Dick Williams closed the Angels' clubhouse an hour before the Milwaukee game to protect his star pitcher from further pressure.

But Ryan admitted he felt that most in the crowd of 29,513 had come to see him bid for a no-hitter.

"I was definitely trying to throw one," he said, although "my primary purpose always is to win the games."

And he felt Aaron's single lifted the pressure even though it was disappointing.

"There was some relief that it was over," Ryan said later. "If I'm going to give up a hit, I might as well give it up to one of the greatest hitters in the game. I can't think of anyone more appropriate."

Aaron, in turn, predicted that Ryan eventually would notch that fifth no-hitter.

"Ryan doesn't throw quite as hard as he did in the National League," Aaron said. "He doesn't have to because he is a far better pitcher and can throw his curve now."

Ryan reportedly received a $125,000 salary this year and probably will go to $140,000 in 1976. Additionally, the Angels gave him a $3,000 bonus for his no-hitter against Baltimore and also rewarded catcher Ellie Rodriguez with $500. Ryan rewarded the eight teammates who played in the game with $100 each.

Aaron said the pitch he hit to spoil the bid for No. 5 was a fast ball, low and over the plate. But he commented, "The way he is pitching, he's going to pitch another no-hitter."

Told that Koufax had predicted Ryan might pitch 10 or 12 of them, Aaron said, "He knows more about pitching than I do."

But the pressures continue at the Ryan household where Nolan and his wife Ruth seem able to cope with them. After he pitched his no-hitter against Baltimore, Ryan spent the next morning with his 3-year-old son Reid at nursery school graduation, then took him pony riding.

Williams was asked if he thought Ryan might pitch any more no-hitters this season and said, "He has a chance every time he goes out there. He's got everything going for him."

Ryan now is 10-3 on the season with five shutouts. Over-all he has pitched 41 games during his career giving up four hits or less and has 23 shutouts, 21 of them with the Angels since joining them at the start of the 1972 season. He also holds baseball's season strikeout record with 383 in 1973.

The next start for the 6-foot 2, 195-pound right-hander will be Tuesday night in New York against the Yankees.

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Bobby Chacon, the World Boxing Council feather weight champion, passed the unusual weight test of the California Athletic Commission Friday when he scaled 132½ pounds.

Inspector Joe Olmos of the state group said it could reasonably be expected that Chacon would be able to weigh 126 for his title defense against Mexico's Ruben Olivares on June 20 at the Forum in nearby Inglewood.

Buffalo Lark favored today

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Buffalo Lark, a 5-year-old who hasn't been out of the money in his seven 1975 starts, rates as the favorite for today's $125,000 Hollywood Turf Invitational at the marathon distance of 1½ miles.

Larry Snyder will ride the TV Lark offspring who has earned $393,115 during his career and now goes after a $75,000 winning purse.

Buffalo Lark, in his seven starts this year, has won twice, placed on three occasions and finished third twice. One of his victories was in Florida's Pan American Handicap.

Buffalo Lark draws the high weight of 121 pounds for the long run over the grass course at Hollywood Park with the easterner Bemo second-high weighted at 118. Chris McCarron, the national leader in races won last year, will pilot Bemo as usual.

Outdoors, with Angel Cordero riding, will be weighted at 115 and tries for victory after finishing second in the Invitational last summer. He captured the Hialeah Turf Cup at the same 1½-mile distance this year.

Three of the entries are weighted at 117—El Tarta with Bill Shoemaker, Captain Cee Jay with Donald Pierce and Pass the Glass with Frank Olivares.

In post position order, the field will have Bemo, 118, Kirrary, 115, Outdoors, 115, Buffalo Lark, 121, Pass the Glass, 117, Chief Hawk Ear, 116, El Tarta, 117, Blue Times, 114, Barclay Joy, 113, and Captain Cee Jay, 117.

Bemo and Outdoors were one-two finishers in the $60,500 Dixie Handicap at Pimlico and Outdoors, a son of the French distance star Herbager, captured the Hialeah Turf Cup Handicap in Florida during the past winter.

Sports briefs

ATLANTA (AP) — High school sensation Houston McTear, who equalled the world 100 yard mark of 9.0 seconds last month, easily qualified for the high school 100-yard dash Saturday night in the Atlanta Track Classic.

The 18-year-old Florida schoolboy had a wind-aided 9.3 clocking in the afternoon qualifying heats. Two other Florida sprinters, Mike Roberson, of Winter Park High School, and James Brown of Daytona Beach Mainland, qualified and will be facing McTear for the first time.

BOSTON (AP) — Rod Carew, the Minnesota Twins' American League batting leader, sustained a bruised right elbow Saturday when hit by a pickoff throw by Boston's Bill Lee.

Carew tried to remain in the game, but finally had to retire when the elbow began to swell.

MILWAUKEE (AP) — A.J. Foyt, who survived a slide on his first lap, came back to post the fastest qualifying time Saturday and will start in the No. 1 position Sunday in the Rex Mays 150 for Indy-type cars.

Fovt's second lap on the two-lap time trials around the State Fair Park one-mile paved oval was clocked at 128.801 miles an hour, .002 of a second faster than Gordon Johncock's 128.079 m.p.h.

BERLIN (AP) — Ulrike Tauber of East Germany bettered her world swimming record in the 400-meter individual medley Saturday with a time of 4 minutes, 52.2 seconds during a national meet.

Miss Tauber broke her previous mark by two-tenths of a second, set during the European championships last year in Vienna.

Randy Coste

Japanese tour for wrestler

Claremont High junior, Randy Coste, has been selected to be a member of the Southern California Wrestling Association cultural exchange program with Japan. Coste, along with 12 other Southern California high school wrestlers and four area coaches, will leave for Japan on Aug. 7 and return Sept. 3. They will travel throughout Japan and live in the homes of their Japanese counterparts. Randy is the first Claremont student selected to participate in the wrestling cultural exchange program.

As a sophomore, Coste compiled a 21-6 varsity wrestling record. In his junior year, his record after winning the San Antonio League championship at 165 pounds was 23-2. He went on to finish second in the CIF sectional tournament before losing in the second round of the CIF finals. Since the end of the regular high school season, Coste has won three of four freestyle AAU tournaments, and has qualified to participate in the National AAU tournament in Rock Island, Illinois in July.

In addition to wrestling, Coste played linebacker on the Claremont football team and was secretary of the high school's Key Club. He plans to play football again this year and is vice-president elect of the Key Club. Randy carries a 3.1 grade point average.

When asked about his plans after high school, Randy indicated he would like to enter a college where he could continue to develop his wrestling potential while studying business or law. How far can he go in wrestling? His coach, Jim Broncatello, believes Randy could be a future NCAA and Olympic competitor.

Since the community at large benefits by participation in cultural exchange programs, financial support is requested.

The total cost of the trip will be in the range of $1,500-2,000. About $700 has already been raised. Generous donations will be appreciated.

Please make your checks payable to Randy Coste and mail them to: 8845 Mignonette, Alta Loma, Calif. 91701, c/o J. Broncatello.

W.C. wins as Boyer one-hits La Verne

By TIM CLARK
PB Correspondent

Bruce Boyer opened District 18 League play Saturday afternoon by hurling a 5-1 one-hit win, to lead West Covina Post 790 over La Verne Post 330 at MSAC.

Boyer, who enjoyed a successful year on the mound this past spring at Edgewood (6-2, 1.64 ERA), continued to show excellent form, facing only 29 batters in gaining his first American Legion victory.

The only hit off Boyer came in the sixth, when La Verne catcher Wally Pitts beat out an infield single to short. Bruce started off the contest by retiring the first 13 men he faced, until walking Ron Pickenpaugh with one away in the fifth.

The loss ended La Verne's three-game unbeaten streak, dropping its season record to 3-3-1. 330, it should be noted, played without the service's of its top hitter, H. P. Drake (.571), due to Drake's signing a contract Friday to become a member of the San Diego Padres organization.

Gary Zaken (1-1) suffered a tough loss. Gary allowed only one earned run, and struck out eight West Covinians. But Zakem also walked six, and his teammates committed six errors throughout the afternoon.

West Covina wrapped up the contest as early as the fourth inning, when it tallied two runs to take a 4-0 advantage. Mike Sepulveda opened the frame by drawing a walk off Zakem and stealing second base. Sepulveda went to third after a Zakem pickoff attempt sailed into centerfield. After walking Bill Arrijo, Zakem gave up two consecutive RBI singles to Craig Hawkins and Boyer.

La Verne crossed home plate for the only time in sixth, when Pitts started things off with his "scratcher". Boyer walked Zakem, and then picked Pitts off, as Wally was attempting to steal third. Zakem went to third on two fielders choice plays made on Jerry Osborne and Bruce Hines, the last coming too late to record the third out. "Zak" then proceeded to score on a passed ball by 790 receiver Mark Bridgewater.

First baseman Paul Dobbs of West Covina was the game's only player to collect two hits. Bruce Hines continued his fine play for La Verne in the young season, stealing his seventh base in as many attempts.

West Covina will travel to Bonita high to face La Verne today at 10:30 a.m. A win for the hosts would give both clubs a 1-1 slate in League action.

Odom traded to Cardinals

NEW YORK (AP) — John "Blue Moon" Odom, the unhappy Cleveland pitcher who wanted to be traded, was sent by the Indians Saturday to the Atlanta Braves for right-hander Roric Harrison, The Associated Press learned.

Odom, who started out the season with the Oakland A's, was sent to Cleveland earlier this year for pitchers Dick Bosman and Jim Perry. But the right-hander was immediately unhappy with the contract offered by the Indians, demanding $8,000 more in salary.

Odom got his wish to be traded, but not to the team he wanted. The disgruntled pitcher had said that he either wanted to go back to Oakland or be sent to the Texas Rangers.

Odom, an eight-year veteran who once won as many as 16 games in a season and 15 two others, has seen limited action this season. He has a 1-0 record with a 3.48 earned run average. His only victory was a two-hit shutout earlier this week against the Kansas City Royals.

Lifetime, Odom has an 81-74 record with a 3.46 ERA.

Montclair holds on to edge Upland, 4-3

Montclair took a 3-0 lead and then held on to edge Upland, 4-3, in American Legion baseball Saturday.

Montclair scored three runs in the third to break a scoreless tie with Greg Walton tripling in two runs and scoring on Bill Morris' hit.

Upland scored a run in the sixth, but Montclair got it back in the seventh when Brent Jetton singled moved to second on an error and scored on Rick Adams' single.

Upland scored single runs in the eighth and ninth to make it close. Bill Haugen hit a solo homer in the eighth and Joe Serrate tripled in a run in the ninth.

Montclair is 6-1-1 overall and 5-1 in Division play.

S.D. loses to C.O., 5-3

Charter Oak's Thorobred team came back from a 3-0 deficit Saturday to deal San Dimas it's fourth straight loss, 5-3.

San Dimas scored single runs in the first, second and fifth innings.

Dave Maloof singled, stole second and scored on an error in the first. Paul Willman was hit by a pitch, took second on an error and scored on Larry Franko's hit in the second. Franko singled, stole second and scored on Maloof's double in the fifth.

Charter Oak came back with two runs on three consecutive hits, a walk and another single in the fifth. Three consecutive hits also led to three runs in the eighth. After a force out at home, another single, a walk and a sacrifice fly produced the runs.

NELSON'S READY — Television and film star Ed Nelson gets in practice swings in preparation for the 5th annual Ed Nelson Celebrity Golf tourney at Via Verde Country Club Friday. Looking on is one of the event's directors, Bryce Bailey. More than 40 celebrities are expected to play in foursomes with area golfers.

'Shotgun scramble' for Ed Nelson event

By PHIL ROCHE
PB Staff Writer

One of the most successful events of the valley, the Ed Nelson Celebrity Invitational, will be staged for the fifth time Friday at Via Verde Country Club. Forty celebrities have been invited to play in the same foursomes with area golfers.

The "Shotgun Scramble" will begin at 12:30 p.m. with a prime rib dinner following the golf at 7 p.m.

Cost is $22 for green fees, golf cart, prizes and dinner. Golf carts are only $14 per person or $22 per couple. Dinner Tickets are $10.

Chuck Muchmore, with a sparkling even par 72, took low gross honors in the Firehouse Inn tourney Friday at San Dimas Canyon Golf Course. Defending champ Brent Hargraves and Paul Lumary shot 76s to finish second, and Rick Duran had a 78 for fourth place honors.

Low net winners in flight one were Gearge Barbee, 62; Bill Hartman, 64; John Isham, 65; and Jim Faegre, 66.

Four players tied for low gross honors in Flight 2 with 94s, but after playoff determinations, were made, the order read Mac McKenzie, Bill Halsturms, Bill Guiterrezz and Ben Warmer.

But Taylor, tournament manager and owner of the Firehouse, shot a flashy 95, and he hadn't played for more than a year. It was the second time in his life that he broke 100.

John Todd won low net (56) in the second flight. Third flight winner was Mike Denny (106) and Larry Rezac won low net with 51.

Eddie Lultan, a perservering golfer, shot a 173 to win high gross. Allen Magnum of Newport Beach won a television set with a 3-iron shot on No. 16.

Proceeds from the tourney went to Pomona Firemen's Association which will donate the money to area youth groups. Lunch was served for all golfers at the Firehouse after the event. Chef Tommy Lelco was in charge.

Three amateur sharpshooters fired 68s at Los Serranos North Friday to lead qualifiers in the California Golf Association area tournament. Richard Friedman,. Cottonwood; Jeff Smith, Glendora; and Mike Andonian, Camarillo Springs, topped all scorers with rounds of 3 under par.

The real story, however, may be the two under par 72 that La Jolla's Joe Flood fashioned on the tough South Course. Other leaders on the South Course were Jim Williams, 73, Wilshire; Pat Mateer, Hacienda; Jeff Knowls, Westlake Village; and Ray Vanyo, Quail Lake, all with 74. Keith Moody, Los Serranos, fired a 75.

John Lovett, Balboa Park and Marsh Shumaker, Glendora posted 69s on the North Course. Other low qualifiers on the North Course were Clay Atcheson, Los Serranos, 70; Gary Ramsden, Pomona National, 73; and Gary Simoni, Upland, 73.

Forty eight players from each course qualified for the State tournament at Pebble Beach on June 23.

Joe Mohoiser and Jack Glasscock tied for low honors in the La Verne Chamber of Commerce tournament recently with 78s at San Dimas Canyon Golf Course.

Winner of low gross for women was Lou Tench.

Other trophy winners were low net, Calloway, men, Barry Andersen; low net, Calloway, women, Jo Ann Allen; Low net, handicap, men George Matners; low net, handicap, women, Judy Gillease. Receiving gift certificates for second place were Rick Trolio, Bill Marsch, Ed Flores, Rod Doughty, and Dick Flores. Closest to the pin was won by Hal Currey. Long drive awards were won by Bill White, L.A. Ram Jack Youngblood, Gregg Goodwin, and John Hall.

New home tax credits available for buyers

By G. David Wallace
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Home buyers, particularly those who buy after selling their old residence, might find their tax credit for buying a new home less than expected if they aren't wary of the fine print in the tax laws.

The tax cut law signed by President Ford in March provided for a tax credit of 5 per cent of the value of the new house up to a maximum of $2,000. More than 400,000 families are expected to take advantage of the opportunity.

The credit applies to houses started before March 26 and acquired and occupied as a buyer's principal residence between March 12 and Dec. 31, 1976. A binding contract to buy must have been signed by Jan. 1.

But there were other, more complicated wrinkles in the law, prompting the Internal Revenue Service to publish Thursday a series of questions and answers designed to clear up any confusion.

Take the 55 per cent of newhome buyers who have sold their old home at the same time they buy a new one. Buyers whose old home has increased in value — as most have — must reduce by the appreciation value the purchase price of the new house.

To use the IRS examples, suppose you are an apartment dweller who buys a $50,000 house. Five per cent of that is $2,500. So when you fill out your taxes next year, you're entitled to subtract $2,000 from your normal tax bill.

But now suppose you were living in a house which had cost $25,000. You sold it for $40,000 before buying a new $50,000 house. Your tax credit is only 5 per cent of $35,000, or $1,750.

That $35,000 is the cost of the new house minus the $15,000 gain on your old house. The reduction reflects the fact that the government considers the $15,000 increase in the value of your old house to be a taxable capital gain, but in most cases the tax is deferred.

It can be deferred if you buy a new, more expensive house 18 months before or after the sale. For most owners the deferral is a saving because the tax is eventually levied after they've retired and are paying a lower tax rate, or else the tax is taken out of their estate after death.

But the IRS won't permit people to defer the capital gains tax and still claim the gain as part of their credit.

Here are excerpts from the IRS questions and answers:

Q. I have purchased a condominium for $40,000 (including closing costs) and received a new car with a market value of $3,000 as a bonus for purchasing the condominium. How much of a credit am I entitled to?

A. Assuming the residence qualifies otherwise, you are entitled to a credit of $1,850 based on an adjusted basis of $37,000 since the cost of the residence must be reduced by the fair market value of the car you received.

Q. I have been living in a house for the last two months as a renter and plan to buy the house under a written option in my original lease agreement. The house was new when I moved in. Can the house qualify?

A. Yes, but it would not qualify if you were not the original occupant.

Q. I have heard that I cannot claim the housing credit unless I have a certificate from the seller. Please explain.

A. Unless you build your own house, you must attach to your return a certification by the seller that the purchase price is the lowest price at which the residence ever was offered for sale.

Q. If the certification falsely states that construction began before March 26, 1975, can I still qualify for the credit?

A. No.

Q. If the certification is false as to the lowest price ever offered for sale can I still receive the credit?

A. Yes, provided you did not participate in the false certification or know that it was false.

Real estate

Buyers aided by bill

Beginning June 20 when the Real Estate Settlement Procedures Act goes into effect, prospective homebuyers and mortgage lending institutions will be talking the same language.

From that Friday on, every mortgage loan applicant will receive from his or her bank, savings and loan institution, mutual savings bank or other lender, a free booklet titled "Settlement Costs and You," and a three page form, "Disclosure-Settlement Statement."

Both the booklet and the form were prepared by the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and the Federal Reserve Board to inform the public about the appropriate procedures in gaining mortgage financing and about the charges for settlement services.

The new act will cover virtually all mortgage loans made in this country in regard to one to four family residential property, including condominium units, reported Roger B. Hawkins, director of the American Bankers Association's housing and real estate finance division.

"The disclosure-settlement statement gives the prospective homebuyer the information necessary to shop and compare for financing and also advance disclosure of all settlement costs and who is to pay them."

Many investors make a livelihood by investing in existing housing, making repairs and improvements and reselling at a fair profit. Abuses have occurred, however, in which only superficial repairs have been made and homes were sold at prices greatly in excess of their value, said officials.

Grant given for solar experiment

The Southern California Gas Co. has received a $391,000 grant from the National Science Foundation and the Federal Energy Administration to participate in the field testing and evaluation of the utility's Solar Assisted Gas Energy (SAGE) water heating research project.

The SAGE project is aimed at determining the equipment designs, costs, market potentials and requirements and government policy incentives needed for residential and commercial solar assisted gas water heating systems.

The prime subcontractor is Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory in Pasadena.

Ben Wilson, the gas company's local district manager, reported a portion of the $391,000 grant being used for SAGE research — $366,900 — is from the National Science Administration's Research Applied to National Needs program. The Federal Energy Administration is providing $25,000.

During the project's third and final phase of its SAGE research, the gas company will conduct a two year field test and evaulation of SAGE water heating systems in residential applications.

One system will be installed this year at an existing El Toro, 32-unit apartment complex built by Fredricks Development Corp. — a gas company affiliate. Another system will be installed later at a new building.

The gas company initiated its SAGE research program in 1973 when it sponsored a $30,000 Phase I study to determine the technical and economic feasibility of solar assisted gas water heating. The utility's study was made possible by earlier National Science Foundation - funded research at Caltech's Environmental Quality Laboratory.

During Phase II of the SAGE research program, the gas company invested $169,000 to construct and test a pilot plant at Caltech's Jet Propulsion Laboratory. That pilot test was partially funded with a $24,000 National Science Foundation grant awarded in February, 1974.

According to Wilson the utility is matching the $391,900 federal grant with $397,888 from its own research funds, making a total of $796,888 that will be used during the two years of Phase III SAGE research.

S. J. Cunningham, the utility's manager of research, is the principal investigator for SAGE and James F. Rice, a utility project engineer, is the project manager.

Data from the SAGE research project will be available to the public.

House sales are up

Sales of existing single family homes rose in March to continue the advance which began during February.

The seasonally adjusted index of existing home sales activity advanced three points to 100 in March (1972-100), after slipping to a four-year low of 87 in January, reported the National Association of Realtors.

The recovery continued on a broad front, with each region adding further to gains scored in February. In the past two months, sales have advanced 29.1 per cent in the Northeast and 15.3 per cent in the North Central region. Similarly, sales rose 10.8 per cent in the South and 16.7 per cent in the West.

The association's report further revealed the rate of price increase of existing single family homes is moderating. Median sales price in the first quarter of 1975 was $33,820, 9.5 per cent higher than the first quarter of 1974, compared with a double-digit rate of 10.8 per cent during 1974.

Business briefs

NEW YORK (AP) — Guarantees, sometimes useless ones, often accompany $5 purchases, but for the biggest purchase of all, a home, they have been nearly nonexistant. Now they are available.

Last August the National Association of Homebuilders enrolled the first new home sold under its program. Since then, 10,000 new homes have been registered under its Homeowners Warranty Program.

Sometime in July, the National Association of Realtors hopes to begin an insurance program on resale, or used, homes. Formal approval is anticipated at the annual meeting in Chicago May 5.

Since three times as many used homes are bought and sold each year, the realtors' program could have a more pronounced effect on real estate markets which have been depressed by, among other things, extreme caution on the part of buyers.

"We believe the consumer has the right to the same protection as in other products he buys," says Art Leitch, a San Diego realtor and current president of the national association.

He reports that "many local boards are standing by waiting for this and have been for several months." However, it is up to the individual realtors as to whether they will insist on such insurance accompanying a home they list.

West Covina family first into Mark III

A West Covina family has been the first to move into the new Mark III homes in Upland.

"We knew when we stepped into the entry that we had found our home. And we really hadn't been looking," said Mrs. Richard Bowman. "We had just remodeled our West Covina home but a friend told us to see the new Mark III homes in Upland. She knew the features we hoped to have someday. She was right. We found all of them here."

She and her husband selected a two-story, three bedroom San Vicente plan to accomodate themselves and their two daughters, Dori and Heidi.

"We all like being out in the country aways, and there is more shopping here than at our old home in West Covina," said Mrs. Bowman. "I was the one who was homesick at first since I had lived in West Covina for 20 years. But the house has made it all worthwhile."

The Mark III homes feature large entryways, step-down living rooms, formal dining rooms and abundant closet space. The master bedrooms have cathedral ceilings and walk-in closets with hanging space on three sides. The master bathroom has a step-up tub with Corian marble surrounding the tub and a built-in planter. Garden baths are adjacent to other bathrooms which serve the second and third bedrooms from central hallways.

The living and dining rooms on the main floor have cathedral ceilings and the separate family rooms feature wood burning fireplaces. The family kitchen, eating area and family room are designed as an open plan overlooking the patio area. A patio bar off the serving windows from the kitchen eases outdoor dining.

Family kitchens have luminous ceilings and paneled ash cabinets with embroidered trim. A stainless steel double oven set at eye-level is continuous cleaning and has a smoked glass window. Other appliances include a range, dishwasher and disposal.

The air-conditioned homes are priced from $46,495 to $54,495. The three and four bedroom plans contain two to three bathrooms. The homes have from 1,486 to 2,100 square feet of floor space.

Buyers have a choice of Spanish, contemporary or ranch stylings. The exteriors have heavy Monray Spanish tile roofs, stucco and wood sidings and brick, textured wood and beam accents. The pool-size lots, with backyard fencing, have all utility lines underground.

Furnished model homes are open daily at the 70 acre residential community located near Mountain Avenue and 16th Street.

Realtors schedule convention

The California Association of Realtors will hold its annual convention Oct. 1 at the Disneyland Hotel in Anaheim.

The four day program will include 150 roundtable discussion topics, 50 statewide committee meetings, nine conferences, four general sessions and six convention luncheons.

A prayer breakfast will be held Oct. 3, with Dr. Robert Schuller, pastor of the Garden Grove Community Church. The President's annual dance will be held that night.

Officials expect some 4,000 persons involved in real estate to attend the convention. Robert Hostetter of Anaheim is the chairman.

Many women going into real estate

Involvement of women in real estate as consumers and professinals has grown rapidly in recent years and is expected to increase in the years ahead.

Helen L. Hirt, president of the Women's Council of Realtors, said the estimate is based on a Realtors survey and her own experiences.

"Changing attitudes toward women in the work force—attitudes which have allowed women to obtain more professional, high paying jobs—have contributed to an increase in real estate sales to single women," she added.

"And there has been a sharp increase in the number of households headed by women. That number grew as much from 1970 to 1973 as it did during the entire decade of the 1960s. A 1973 U.S. Census Bureau survey showed that 6.6 million families—about one of eight families in the nation—had females as heads of the households."

Most of these were widows, divorcees and women who had never married, she reported. "Although we don't have current statistics on the percentage of female household heads who are or could afford to become homeowners, we do know that in 1970 half of them owned or were about to buy their own homes.

As for women in the real estate profession, real estate is one field where women always have received equal pay for equal work. They are limited only by the amount of time they spend in the business and their effectiveness with prospects, said Miss Hirt.

"Furthermore, many women would have aptitude for residential real estate. They know what other women appreciate in a home, and they know how to present those aspects."

After experience in the residential field, she said, some women now branch out into more specialized fields such as real estate management, appraising, research and commercial and industrial properties. The great majority, however, remain in the residential field.

"In addition, many women own and manage real estate firms—some of which are multi-office operations in large metropolitan areas."

Two other real estate-related gains for women were cited by Miss Hirt. They are the appointment of Carla Hills as secretary of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, and the passage last year of legislation strengthening women's rights to borrow money and obtain credit.

Under rules issued by the Federal Home Loan Bank Board, every federally charted savings and loan association making mortgage loans is required to consider "without prejudice" the combined income of both husband and wife when reviewing a married couple's loan application, she explained.

"In other words, banks can no longer refuse to count a wife's income on the assumption she inevitably will become pregnant and quit her job. Nor can banks require married applicants to supply information on their birth control practices. As one financial consultant puts it: women are no longer a piggy-bank segment of the economy," she said.

The Women's Council was organized 36 years ago at the suggestion of a man. Joseph Catherine, who then was president of the state real estate group.

NOTICE OF DETERMINATIONS

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN, in accordance with City of La Verne Resolution No. 73-1, as amended, that the Community Development Committee of the said City has determined that:

1. the expansion of the La Verne Mobile Country Club, 3620 Moreno Avenue, will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment if and when all federal, state and local ordinances, rules and regulations have been complied with, if the following mitigating measures are taken into consideration:

—when warrants justify, developer to pay pro rata share of expense for a traffic signal at the intersection of Foothill and Moreno;

—developer to pay pro rata share of storm drainage facilities;

—fencing, mounding, and grading to provide maximum screening of all the coaches; and —placement of trees on spaces so as to preclude destruction if and when coach is moved;

for the following reasons:

—that the subject property is zoned for mobile home park use in the adopted General Plan; and —subject application meets density requirements for the zone.

2. the application submitted by Larry W. Gehre for archery ranges, shop and campground located on the west side of Brydon Road north of Golden Hills Road, will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment if and when all federal, state and local ordinances, rules and regulation have been complied with, and the following mitigating measures are taken into consideration:

—no removal of any native trees except for those diseased or hazardous as designated by the City; and for the following reasons:

—participation in cost of flood control and drainage facilities as determined by the City;

—subject application conforms with the adopted General Plan;

—proposed use is permitted in the Zoning Ordinance; and —proposed use will provide for a recreational facility.

3. the construction of an office building also containing laboratories submitted by Garrett Research and Development, 1855 Carrion Road, will not have a significant adverse effect on the environment if and when all federal, state and local ordinances, rules and regulations have been complied with and the following mitigating measure taken into consideration:

—developer must provide additional vehicular access to the property;

for the following reasons:

—subject application conforms to appropriate zoning;

—subject application is consistent with the adopted General Plan; and —the use in question is subject to the provisions of Section 9743.0001 of the La Verne Ordinance Code which states, in part, "other than those (uses) which may be obnoxious or offensive by reason of emission of odor, dust, smoke, gas, noise, vibration, electromagnetic disturbance, radiation, or other similar causes detrimental to the public health, safety or general welfare".

If any interested party wishes to inquire, copies of Resolution No. 73-1, as amended, and further details regarding these projects are on file in the office of the City Clerk.

Brown is receiving higher marks than dad, Reagan

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Gov. Edmund G. Brown Jr. is getting higher performance marks from California voters than either his father or Ronald Reagan received during their terms in office, a public opinion poll has reported.

In a survey of 1,053 people, the California Poll said 43 per cent believe Brown is doing "a good job;" 32 per cent said "a fair job," and 7 per cent said "a poor job." Eighteen per cent had no opinion.

Reagan's popularity reached its height in 1968 when 42 per cent of a similar survey said the governor was doing a good job, 36 per cent said a fair job, and 15 per cent said a poor job.

Brown's father, Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, who served as governor between 1959 and 1966, was most popular in 1962 when 24 per cent said he was doing a good job, 35 per cent said a fair job and 30 per cent said a poor job.

Pollster Mervin Field noted that Brown Jr.'s rating "is the most favorable achieved by any governor measured by the California Poll."

Democrats strongly praised the current governor, said Field, adding, "Republicans also were generally laudatory — 36 per cent say he is doing a good job and just 10 per cent say they think his job performance is poor."

Still mighty at 93, but he pines for late wife

NEW YORK (AP) — Joseph Greenstein, "The Mighty Atom," is 93 and has more than just his health. He can still bend an iron bar into a loop with his bare hands.

But the one-time vaudeville headliner is disconsolate over the recent death of his wife and talks constantly of suicide.

In an interview Tuesday, he said that only one thing keeps him from taking the poison pills he carries with him.

"Under Jewish religion," he says, a person who commits suicide cannot be buried "in the same line of dead people" so he could not be buried with his wife.

The tombs of chiefs of the Afar Tribe in Dankali, Africa, were once constructed by piling branches in the form of a hut. The number of stones lining the path leading to its entrance revealed the number of enemies the chief had killed.

NOTICE TO CONTRACTORS

Notice is hereby given that the Procurement Office, California Institution for Women, 16756 Chino-Corona Road, Frontera, California will receive sealed bids for furnishing all required labor, materials, transportation, tools and services necessary for the removal and repair of damages areas in existing parking lots and roadways and application of Heater Remix to approximately 25,000 sq. ft. of parking lots and roadways, as shown on plans and specifications. Bids will be accepted until 2:00 PM, June 16, 1975, when bids will be opened and publicly read.

Proposals shall be submitted on the basis of cost per square foot. In instances where a lump sum and a unit price bid are submitted, the unit price bid are submitted, the unit price shall prevail in case of ambiguity. The Institution reserves the right to increase or decrease the square footage and the contractor shall be paid according to the unit figure.

Bids must be submitted for the entire work described therein, deviations from plans and specifications will not be considered and will be cause for rejection of bids. Bond forms, plans and specifications may be seen at the above said office. The said State Agency reserves the right to reject any and all bids, and to waive any informality in any bid submitted.

A payment bond to accompany contract, std. form 807 approved by said Institution has ascertained the general prevailing wage rates County of San Bernardino, tabulated hereafter for the county in which work is to be done, included therein are employer payments for Health and Welfare, vacation, pension, apprenticeship or other authorized training programs and similar purposes. Holidays shall be as defined in the collective bargaining agreement applicable to the labor classifications employed on the project.

The U.S. Dept. of HUD OFFERS YOU Outstanding Real Estate Values

TO BE SOLD: AS IS, ALL CASH,

NO WARRANTY, NO FHA INSURANCE

The government will hold a sealed bid sale on the properties listed below. Bids are to be opened Thursday, July 3, 1975, 9 A.M. at POMONA CITY HALL COUNCIL CHAMBERS, 505 S. GAREY, POMONA. OFFERS MAY BE SUBMITTED TO ROOM 414, 2500 WILSHIRE BOULEVARD, LOS ANGELES, CALIFORNIA until 4:30 P.M., July 2. Offers will be accepted until 9:00 A.M. AT BID OPENING IN COUNCIL CHAMBERS. This property Disposition Branch will no longer accept backup offers. The high bidder gets the property. If the sale falls through, HUD will relist the property. HUD reserves the right to withdraw any or all of the properties in this listing without notice, prior to the close of escrow.

Deposit of $500.00 on all properties upon acceptance of offer. Damages for failure of performance would be extremely difficult to determine in the event buyer fails to comply with all terms of the accepted offer. It is for this reason mutually understood and agreed that HUD shall retain the successful bidders deposit as liquidated damages and as HUD's sole remedy against buyer. However, if the sale is rejected by HUD, the deposit will be refunded.

All offers must be submitted on the "Offer To Purchase & Brokers Tender" (Form 9551).

BIDS MUST BE SEALED AND THE DATE AND TIME OF THE BID OPENING MUST BE PLACED ON THE ENVELOPE. BID FORM (9551) MUST SHOW ADDRESS BY HOUSE NUMBER, STREET, CITY AND ZIP CODE. HUD reserves the right to withdraw or reject any or all offers at its descretion prior to the close of escrow. All sales of improved properties must close within 30 days from the date of bid and cannot be conditioned upon future financing availability, including VA. Time is of the essence. No Discount points or origination fees will be paid on all cash sales. After purchase no one is to enter upon the property for purpose of repairs or rehabilitation until escrow is closed and deed is recorded.

HUD does not warrant habitability of premises or compliance with local building codes. The contract of sale on the following homes will contain a statement to the express effect that the property may not meet local or state building or housing codes; that HUD assumes no responsibility for compliance in connection with the sale. The appropriate local building department will be notified of the sale and the conditions of the property. The contract of sale shall note any known deficiencies or code violations found to exist at the time of sale closing. All additions, changes, and conditions noted on the contract of sale closing. All additions, will be acknowledged by the signature of the buyer(s).

HUD will assure that the requirements of the Lead Base Paint Act will be met prior to closing. Such action will be a contingency of the sale and may alter the appearance or physical condition of the property subsequent to this listing for sale.

ANY ALARM SYSTEMS AND ALARM WIRING ARE TO REMAIN THE PROPERTY OF HUD AND ARE NOT INCLUDED IN THE SALE.

IMPORTANT INSTRUCTIONS: READ CAREFULLY

BUGS BUNNY

by Stoffel & Heimdahl

CUT HERE IF YOU WISH TO SAVE FOR FUTURE REFERENCE

FUN FACTS from WRIGLEY'S SPEARMINT GUM

THE FIRST RADIO BROADCAST WAS PRESENTED BY PROF. REGINALD FESSENDEN VIA THE RADIO TOWER AT BRANT ROCK MASS., IN 1906.

WHEN MUSK-OXEN ARE ATTACKED THEY FORM A LARGE CIRCLE AND POINT THEIR HORNS OUTWARD AT THE ATTACKER.

A FLAT DISK RECORD WAS PATENTED BY THE GERMAN-AMERICAN INVENTOR, EMILE BERLINER IN 1887.

THE MALE NARWHAL'S TUSK MAY GROW AS MUCH AS 9 FEET IN LENGTH AND IS TWISTED CLOCKWISE.

NATURE COLORS

FROGS...

THE FROG CATCHES INSECTS AND OTHER SMALL FOOD ANIMALS WITH ITS TONGUE. IF AN INSECT FLIES WITHIN REACH, THE FROG'S LONG TONGUE WILL FLICK OUT. IT CATCHES THE INSECT ON THE STICKY TIP AND QUICKLY FLIPS THE INSECT INTO ITS MOUTH.

THIS WEEK'S TOP PRIZE QUESTION:

RICK TUTTLE OF WARNER ROBINS, GA, ASKS:

"HOW DOES GLUE HOLD WOOD TOGETHER?"

WHEN WE SMEAR GLUE ON TWO PIECES OF WOOD AND PRESS THEM TOGETHER, THE GLUE IS FORCED INTO THE HOLLOW AIR SPACES OF THE WOOD. WHEN THE GLUE DRIES AND HARDENS, IT FIRMLY ANCHORS THE PIECES OF WOOD TOGETHER. GLUE ALSO ACTS IN OTHER WAYS TO HOLD THE WOOD TOGETHER. LIKE EVERYTHING ELSE, GLUE IS MADE UP OF TINY MOLECULES. THE GLUE MOLECULES WORK LIKE TINY MAGNETS. THEY PULL HARD ON EACH OTHER AS WELL AS ON THE WOOD MOLECULES. THIS ATTRACTION, CALLED COHESION AND ADHESION, BECOMES VERY STRONG WHEN THE GLUE DRIES, AND SO IT MAKES THINGS STICK TIGHT. © 1975 by NEA, Inc. 5/8

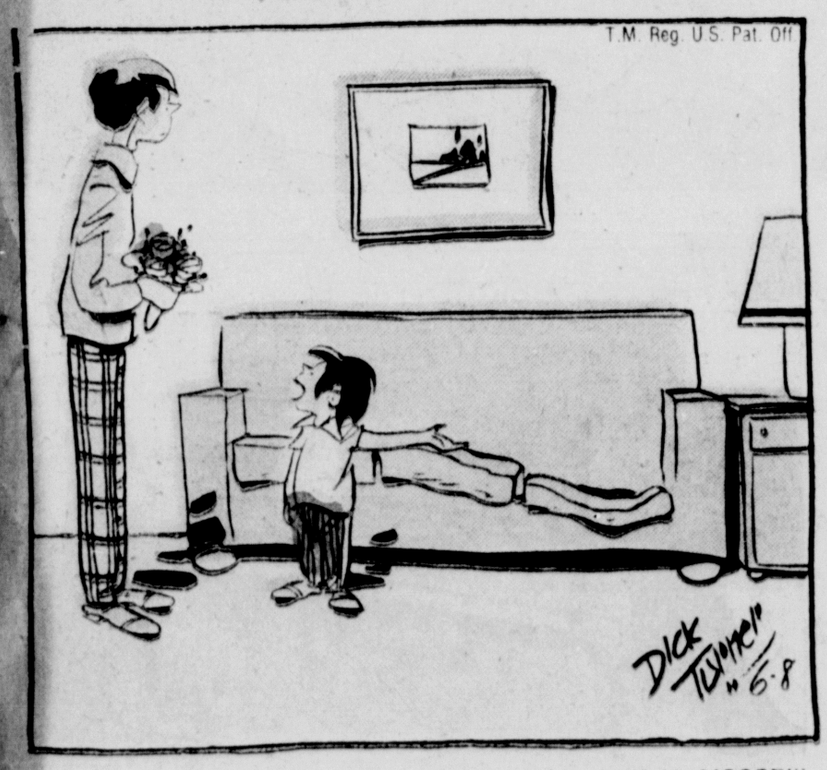
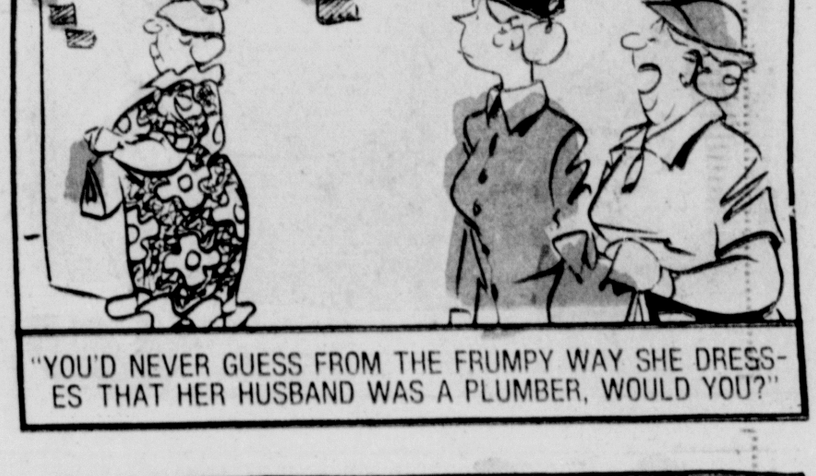
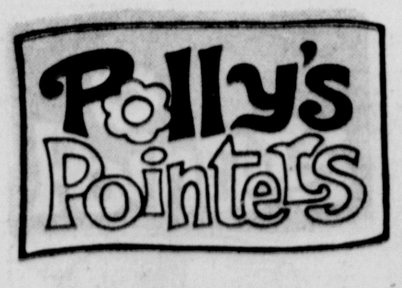
CARNIVAL

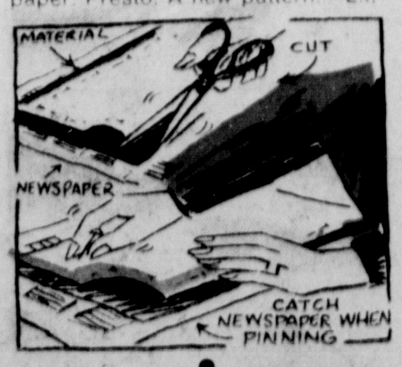


"THE GUY THAT DATES SIS ON FRIDAYS IS A REAL MOOSE!"





DEAR POLLY — When a favorite pattern begins to wear out you can easily cut another out of newspaper. Place the newspaper under the material to be cut out and be sure to catch it with the fabric when pinning the pattern on. Simply cut through both fabric and paper. Presto! A new pattern.—L.I.



DEAR POLLY — Use newspapers to clean windows instead of paper towels. They do just as good a job and the cost is zero. — LINDA.

Polly pays $1.00 for every idea used. Send them to her, c/o this newspaper.

DEAR POLLY — When making lunches and you are including a drink in a paper carton, place it in the freezer the night before. Then, place in a plastic bag before putting into a lunchbox. By lunchtime the drink will thaw to a COLD liquid drink.—YVETTE.

DEAR POLLY — To save on my heating bill I always leave the oven door open after it is turned off and let the heat go out into the kitchen. — JOYCE.

DEAR POLLY — Putting notes you want the children to see on the TV is fine, but ours go directly to the refrigerator for snacks. I find such notes are always seen when stuck to the "fridge" doors with little magnets. — IONE.

DEAR POLLY — When sewing ladies' pull-on slacks use small bits of color-fast bias tape, seam binding or braid to mark the backs of the garments. — HELEN.

DEAR POLLY — Cheerleaders and others who have sweater letters or emblems will find they are much easier to remove when the sweater is washed if they are put on with snaps. — V.A.

DEAR POLLY — When I bake bread or buns I remove the bottom rack from the oven and use it as a cooling rack. Works great! — MRS. F.J.S.

DEAR POLLY — I have knit many doll ski outfits following directions I clipped from a small magazine. After repeated use, the directions became worn. I place the page in a plastic sandwich bag and can now read both sides without any more wear and tear. — BESSIE.

DEAR POLLY — When I wear plastic gloves for tinting my hair I find they come off much faster and easier if I run cold water over them rather than hot. The cold water makes them stiff. If soft, they cling to the hands.—DOROTHY.

Sears Highway Passenger Tire
GUARANTEE

If you do not receive the number of miles specified because of your tire becoming unserviceable due to (1) defects, (2) normal road hazards, or (3) tread wear-out,

We will: At our option, exchange it for a new tire or give you a refund charging in either case only the proportion of the then current selling price plus Federal Excise tax that represents mileage used. If the tire is unserviceable due to any of the above causes before 10% of the guaranteed mileage is received, the replacement or refund will be made with no charge for mileage received.

Nail punctures will be repaired at no charge. Guarantee applies to tires on vehicles used for private family purposes.

COVER CLOSE-UP

'TUNE IN TOMORROW'

Every weekday afternoon, millions of Americans eagerly pass through the electronic gates of General Hospital—visiting hours 3-3:30PM. They are lured by the eternal fascination of the life-and-death drama of a large metropolitan hospital. And even more, by the revelations of the often-turbulent lives of the hospital staff. Dr. Steve Hardy (John Beradino), Nurse Jessie Brewer (Emily McLaughlin), Nurse Audrey Hobart (Rachel Ames), Dr. Lee Baldwin (Peter Hansen) and others in the series become as real, to steady viewers, as people they know in real life. And possibly more so.

General Hospital is now in its 13th year on ABC, a circumstance which in this era of fly-by-day series is considered anything but unlucky by the cast and production staff of the program. John Beradino has been the series' leading male star since its debut on April 1, 1963. The rugged ex-baseball player (St. Louis Browns and Cleveland Indians) is frank about his reasons for accepting the role in the series. "I needed the exposure, and I needed the money," he says. "I looked upon it as sort of a stopgap."

Since then, however, he has lost the attitude, common among actors, that the only real acting in television takes place from eight to eleven in the evening. A couple of years ago, to dramatize his changed opinion, he took ads in show business trade papers challenging any nighttime television actor to a duel. The rules were somewhat as follows: "Here's 30 pages of dialogue. Memorize it tonight. Tomorrow morning at ten meet John Beradino on the General Hospital set. He has the same 30 pages. You'll both do the same scene with the same actress, that neither of you has met before. And you'll do the scene on tape—in one take. "The results will be judged by a jury of our peers. And if you win, I'll pay you $5,000." The offer still stands, but so far there have been no takers.

One thing sure, the actors and actresses in General Hospital pass the supreme test of acting —believability. Heavy mail from viewers at each major turn and twist of the concurrent plots and sub-plots attests to their involvement. This concern, the "What happens next?" suspense, recently extended to the cast as well. Dr. Phil Brewer (Martin West), evil gadfly and everybody's worst friend, was due to be killed by a person unknown. But when the producer realized he had not just one hot suspect, but five believable possible murderers, he conceived a plan to titillate the cast as well as the audience. He had each of the five suspects act out the murder before the cameras. He then locked up the tapes, and by means of skillful false clues, innuendos, arrests and suspicions directed at all five, left each of them in the dark as to whether he or she had done the foul deed.

Peter Hansen

Was it hot-tempered Dr. Taylor (Craig Huebing), sexy Augusta McLeod (Judith McConnell), steadfast Jessie Brewer (Emily McLaughlin), happily-married Diana Taylor (Valerie Starrett) or alcoholic Dr. James Hobart (James Sikking) who snuffed out Dr. Phil's life? Heaven knows, each had good reason to. The police, when Nurse Emily Brewer was found at the scene of the crime, charged her with the murder. But faithful viewers, who know the wise, understanding nurse far better than the police did, were not fooled. Thousands of letters poured in pointing the finger at other suspects. Then Diana Taylor confessed (in the erroneous belief her husband had done it). At length, under pressure, Augusta McLeod admitted her guilt. And four cast members and millions of viewers heaved a sigh of relief. Although viewers are worried about the fate of her unborn child.

Life in General Hospital goes on. Viewers now are caught up in speculation about Dr. Steve Hardy's engagement to beautiful TV newswoman Kira Faulkner (Victoria Shaw). Is it wise? And what will happen to Dr. Joel Stratton, being sued for malpractice? Will his troubles have an effect on his romance with Dr. Lesley Williams (Denise Alexander)? For the answers to these and other intriguing questions, millions of viewers will be tuning in General Hospital tomorrow—and tomorrow and tomorrow.

Emily McLaughlin, John Beradino

TRINI LOPEZ HOSTS 'VIVA!'

The talented Trini Lopez will host, as well as perform on, the "Viva!" Special, starring famous Latin American performers, on KHJ-TV, Friday night from 6:00 to 7:00PM over Channel 9. Joining Trini on the program will be Jose Feliciano, the Lennon Sisters, comic, Jimmy Martinez, El Chicano, rock music group, and Joe Kapp, ex-quarterback of the Minnesota Vikings, who plays football with some children in the Barrio with Howard Cosell doing the play-by-play. Anthony Quinn, renowned star of stage, motion pictures and television, is featured in a special segment as he gives his views on growing up and his pride in being of Mexican-American descent.

Musical highlights include Trini opening the Special with the resounding "La Bamba," followed with such numbers as Donovan's "La Lena" and "Some Kind of a Summer." Jose Feliciano offers his own rendition of three songs, Cat Stevens' "Wild World," the "Theme From Romeo and Juliet," and "Daytime Dreams." A poignant moment features the Lennon Sisters, sitting in their home with their mother and grandmother, as they sing a moving version of "Vaya Con Dios."

"Viva!" was shot on location in San Antonio, Texas and in the Los Angeles area (Marina Del Rey and Olvera Street.) The Latin American Special was produced and written by J. Orion Brunk and directed by Ken Clark. Executive Producer was Tony Calderon for Image Productions.

'RACING DOWN SOUTH'

The sixth annual NHRA Gatornationals held March 14 through the 16th in Gainesville, Florida, drew over 48,000 spectators to watch some 500 racers battle for over $175,000 in prizes and contingencies in seven eliminator categories. Highlights of the meet will air on ABC, Saturday (June 14) at 2:30PM. Top Fuel, which is the quickest and fastest category of competition, was won by a 30-year old tool and die maker named Dale Funk. Funk from Valley Station, Kentucky, defeated a strong field of cars to pick up approximately $10,600. His final round opponent was Tom Toler of Glendale, California, whom he beat with a pass of 7.60 seconds at 136 mph.

Funny Car was won by the winningest driver in recent years, Don "The Snake" Prudhomme from Granada Hills, California. Prudhomme who has won now 10 National events defeated New Yorker Tom Prock in the final to win some $11,000 in cash and merchandise. Pro Stock, which is the ultimate racing product from Detroit, went to Indiana's Bob Glidden, who now has won four National titles in a row. Glidden defeated a red-lighting Wayne Gapp in the finals and won roughly $11,700 in awards.

Walt Weney, a 38-year-old chassis builder from Spring City, Pennsylvania won Pro Comp Eliminator over Steve Leache in a final round battle of A/Fuel Dragsters. This was Weney's first ever NHRA National event win. Joe Williamson won Competition Eliminator in his 23" T Roadster, which runs in the E/Altered class. Williamson defeated John Baines in the final round and it is interesting to note that both he and Baines work out of the same shop in Louisville, Kentucky. Modified Eliminator was won by Northridge, California pro racer Butch Leal. Leal won some $7,000 in awards when he defeated Jerry Marquart in the finals.

Super Stock Eliminator was won by the most proficient woman driver in the sport, Judy Lilly. Judy, who at one time was a beautician, is a full time professional racer and at 30 years of age has a promising racing career ahead. Previous National titles for Ms. Lilly include the Super Stock crown at the '72 NHRA Winternationals and the Super Stock honors at the '73 Springnationals.

Champion Dale Funk guides the English-Frakes-Funk "Kentucky Moonshiner" to Top Fuel honors.

'RENAISSANCE MAN'

Sir Lew Grade has been called a "Renaissance Man in the world of entertainment," "a one-man diplomatic corps and ambassador of goodwill," and "the last show business mogul." The internationally celebrated British showman has probably done more than any other foreigner to give American television audiences the very best in quality programming.

Americans will have an opportunity to meet the Briton behind such top programs as "The Julie Andrews Show," "This Is Tom Jones," "The Merchant of Venice," "Long Day's Journey Into Night," and "Antony and Cleopatra" when ABC presents "Salute to Sir Lew —The Master Showman," Friday at 9PM. The ABC special is a presentation of a tribute to Sir Lew by the New York Chapter of the National Academy of Television Arts and Sciences and features Julie Andrews, Tom Jones, Peter Sellers, John Lennon, British comic Dave Allen and the Second Generation Dancers.

Sir Lew Grade is Chairman and Chief Executive of Associated TeleVision Ltd. (ATV). He has bought and sold literally hundreds of millions of dollars worth of entertainment and delivered most of it to American television. Along the way these programs have won numerous Emmys and scores of international awards, and he has been knighted for his many achievements. The master showman, who oversees a leisure-time "empire" that spans the world, was born in Odessa, Russia, as Lewis Winogradsky. When he was five years old, he left his homeland with his family and settled in poverty in London's East End. At 14, he left school to earn some money. During the next four years he entered local dance competitions in London and eventually won what was then called the World's Charleston Championship.

Years later he and his brother, Leslie, established a talent agency which grew to be one of the most important in Europe. In the 50s he was part of the group that formed ATV, thus involving Sir Lew in the business of television. Sir Lew has been married for 32 years to the former Kathleen Sheila Moody and has a 22-year-old son, Paul.

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N. Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR CAROLINE BIRD,
author of "The Case Against College"

Is there a simple rule of thumb for deciding whether your child should go to college?—A.R., Altoona, Pa.

● A 17-year-old may not know what's best for him in the long run, but he knows whether he likes books or not. If he doesn't want to go to college, the chances are very good that he won't get anything out of it. The professors and students I interviewed said that little more than one out of four college students is turned on by his courses. Why give an inferiority complex to people who don't dig books by making them dance to an intellectual tune when their real talents lie elsewhere?

FOR ROBERT MITCHUM, star of "Farewell My Lovely"

When did you know you had become a success, and do you analyze your acting much?—L.P., Lima, Ohio

● Success? Well, if that's what it is, I guess I knew when I walked down the street and was recognized by truck drivers. As for analyzing my acting, I don't like talking about acting and I only like watching it on certain occasions. I rarely go to the movies, and no longer watch myself on the late shows because it's past my bedtime. (The only other thing I've given up is eating marshmallows.)

FOR GEORGE MEANY, President of the AFL-CIO

Has any labor group ever gone on strike to hold down prices as opposed to hiking wages?—Mrs. E. Wilerson, Greenville, N.C.

● Unions have offered to forego wage increases in favor of price reductions, but I know of no case in which management accepted. I do not believe such a proposal has ever been made a strike issue—it would be a great deal to expect union members to willingly sacrifice part of their wages for price cuts, even if it were in the public interest.

FOR FRANK GIFFORD

When you see rough play on a football field, do you think back to your own playing days and experience the pain of the player being tackled?—Elizabeth Rehm, Jamaica, N.Y.

● No. But I'm keenly aware of the positions that players get into in which they are more vulnerable to injuries. Sometimes these situations cause me to wince—both vocally and physically.

FOR DINAH SHORE

What's your favorite fan story?—N.T., Chicago, Ill.

● The day I was in an elevator and an elderly lady got in, stared at me and concentrated hard for a few seconds. Then she announced to me and the other passengers with great satisfaction: "I know you. You're WHATSERNAME."

FOR JEANE DIXON

Is it true you once predicted that neither President Nixon nor Vice President Agnew would complete his second term of office, but that neither would be assassinated or die in office?—Patricia Cates, Las Cruces, N.M.

● Yes, I did make that forecast. Also, I went on record as saying that former President Nixon would definitely not be impeached—which, of course, he was not.

FOR CINDY ADAMS, author and syndicated columnist

You travel a great deal. What's the most interesting purchase you've made on your trips?—J.S., Lima, Ohio

● Papier poudres in Hong Kong. They're small packets of papers, one side is plain and the other is powdered. The plain side wipes off the stale powder; the other side puts a fresh lot on again. This is how I keep a clean (unwithered) look. Until I found these, by the end of the day, due to endless powdering, my face looked like a Halloween mask, and I didn't dare smile in case I cracked it.

FOR PHYLLIS DILLER

Do you ever get bad-tempered?—P.L., Medford, Ore.

● I'm usually cheery at home, unless there's a crisis or I'm upset. The only thing that upsets me is when everyone talks at once and asks questions. When I'm away, I call home daily and get a full report. Even so, when I get back, there's always a delegation of family and friends awaiting me with hundreds of questions. And they're all asking at the same time. I make a dash into the kitchen and fall over the dish of Jello my grandson dropped on the floor. Otherwise, I rarely get flustered.

FOR DR. NORMAN VINCENT PEALE, pastor of the Marble Collegiate Church and author

Do you think trial marriage will make real marriage obsolete?—Mrs. Albert Cansler, Jackson, Tenn.

● In my opinion, nothing can be learned from trial marriage. I do not believe in it and strongly hold that the institution of marriage will always endure as a way of life. Perhaps I may be bold enough to suggest that the questioner read a book by my wife, Ruth S. Peale, called "The Adventure of Being a Wife." It answers this question fully.

FOR THE ASK THEM YOURSELF EDITOR

How come I only see Peter Sellers in TV commercials nowadays and not movies?—A.C., Galveston, Texas

● Have we got good news for you! Peter has a new film out this summer, "The Return of the Pink Panther," in which he'll recreate his original role of Inspector Clouzot. Also, you can see Peter on June 12 in a rare TV appearance on ABC's "A Salute to Sir Lew Grade" (the British showman and impresario), in which he does a comedy skit. His ambition is to costar in a Western with David Niven. He says: "I'm a serious actor who happens to shine in comedy, and I am a great social disappointment. When I see people watching me, waiting for witticisms, I know they feel cheated when nothing comes out." Sellers, a former drummer, occasionally sits in with groups in London. He relaxes with yoga, organic foods, meditation and photography. His hobby is servicing cars.

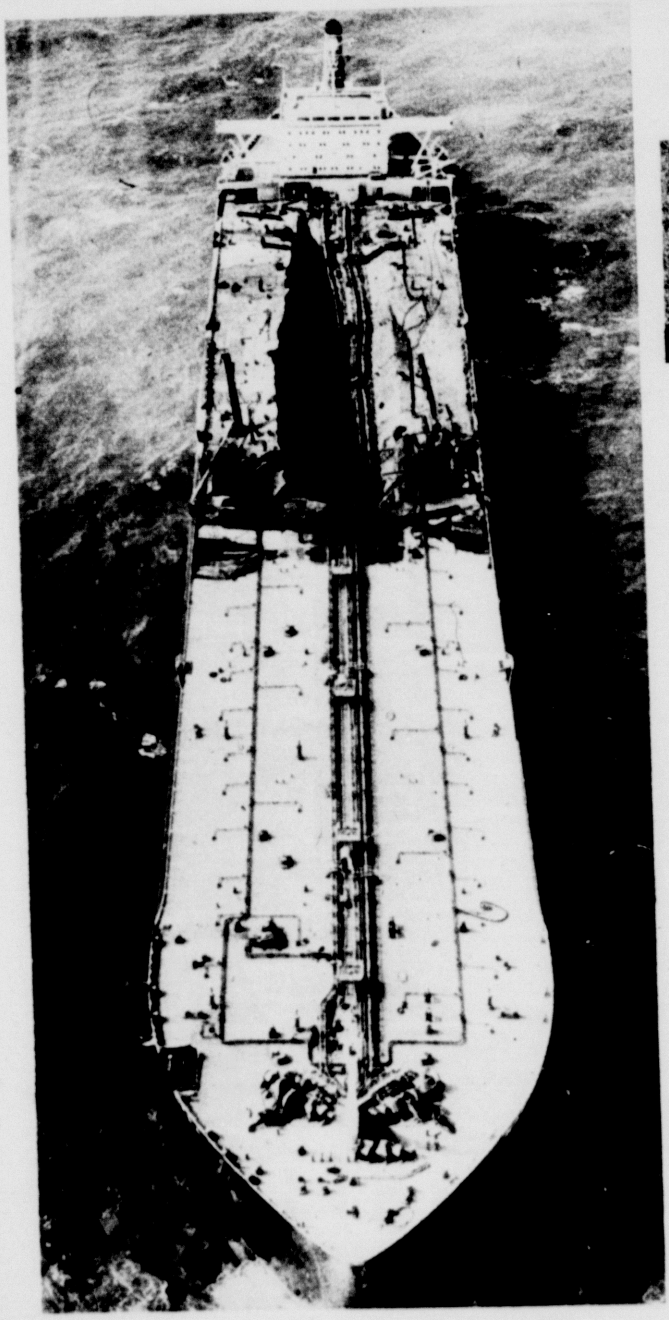
If a Supertanker Exploded...

Some Frightening Facts About What Could Happen if One Little Spark Went Astray



Denis Pitts

By Denis Pitts

Have you ever seen a can of gasoline explode? Then imagine what would happen if a lighted match was put to 100,000 tons of high-octane fuel. The devastation would possibly be worse than that caused by the atom bomb at Hiroshima in 1945.

Cargoes of 100,000 tons—usually much more—of highly volatile fuel are commonplace in the supertanker fleets that roam the seaways of the world. These giant ships are floating A-bombs. Could one be hijacked and used to threaten a city? This is the frightening possibility raised in a new book, "This City Is Ours" (Mason-Charter, $7.95), in which a group of activists holds the island of Manhattan for a ransom of $130 billion. Its author, Denis Pitts, explains:

It was 1944, and as the war crept reluctantly to an end in Europe, horror came to Cleveland, Ohio.

What was described as a "relatively small quantity" of liquefied natural gas began to seep from a newly built processing plant into the sewers of the city. The sewers were warm, and in a matter of seconds, the liquid vaporized and became dangerously volatile. Expanding quickly, it forced itself up from the sewers into houses and apartment blocks.

The resulting series of blasts killed 180 people and almost completely destroyed 80 square blocks of the city. It was estimated later that it took less than 70 tons of the liquid gas to bring this havoc on an unsuspecting urban population.

Imagine then, the effect of putting a match to 100,000 tons of this gas. Or 200,000 or even 250,000 tons. The effect, according to explosives experts I talked to, would be the equivalent of a major atomic explosion.

These are the amounts of natural gas in liquid form that are being carried all around the world at any given time of day or night by fleets of supertankers. These great floating monsters are themselves growing in size.

In ten years time—and the assumption is that the present energy crisis will be eased by then—the biggest supertankers will weigh more than one million tons.

A great deal has been written about the hazards that the supertankers have brought to our environment. We know already about the effects on marine and bird life and upon our holiday beaches of collisions, deliberate spillage and accidental oil wastage by these gargantuan floating piers.

But has enough attention been focused on the explosive force that is contained in these ships?

Now let's face it, the corporations that own these elephantine tankers are aware of the potential danger. So are their captains and crews—after all, they have to live on top of the cargo. But even in this multimillion-dollar industry there are a few operators who are known as "cowboys" in the trade because of their disregard for safety regulations.

Nor is natural gas the only cargo carried by supertankers. Apart from huge quantities of crude and refined oil, they also carry high-octane gasoline (if you have ever seen a can of gas explode, imagine 200,000 tons of it blowing), aviation kerosene and explosive chemicals like naphtha, an industrial waste product that is used in making everything from nylon shirts to fertilizer.

Naphtha has a dangerously low flash point, and when it does explode it has a nasty habit of showering tons of molten chemical for miles around. A tanker load of this chemical caught fire off Brooklyn a few months ago. The Coast Guard officer who handled the emergency described the volunteer crews who fought the fire as the "bravest men I have ever met."

Another particularly sinister cargo carried in the big ships that ply between the Middle East and North America is a black cocktail consisting of crude oil into which has been pumped a mixture of such natural gases as methane and propane. The extraction takes place at the refinery. As you might guess, this is perhaps the most lethal cargo of all. Tankermen call it "spiked oil," and there are moves to make the carrying of it internationally illegal.

What would be the effect of a supertanker explosion? Suppose it's natural gas. When natural gas vaporizes it expands by 625 in volume. An explosion of natural gas would have the capacity —assuming the kind of cargoes we have been talking about—to create what is known as a massive wind inrush. In other words, the gas creates a vacuum that has to be filled by air. That air would race into the vacuum at speeds of up to 1,000 miles per hour.

A supertanker moored a few hundred yards from the southern tip of Manhattan, for instance, would threaten such buildings as the World Trade Center—which has been designed to withstand winds of 250 mph only—and many other high-rise buildings. The result of this wind—and the blast that would inevitably follow—would be a shattered and blazing city. In the meantime, the force of the explosion would suck people from their windows, drag automobiles along like toys, destroy subway systems and create a massive loss of life.

What is really ironic about this threat is the fact that the emptier the tanker, the bigger the risk. The tanker that is on its way to be reloaded is usually filled with nothing more than vapor. And that is much more vulnerable to a tiny spark than the ship crammed full of gas or oil or volatile chemical.

Scary? I don't mean to be. After all, the big oil-carrying lines have so many millions of dollars invested in these giant tankers that they make a point, a very major point indeed, of cramming their ships with every possible fire- and explosion-prevention device that science and engineering can think of.

Some systems can rush a million gallons of fire-drenching foam into a cathedral-sized tank in a matter of minutes. Other systems rely on the inert—or non-

Accidents have already happened. This supertanker, "Mactra," was ripped down the middle by an explosion that left a giant gash as long as a football field. Two crewmen were killed. Noël Mostert's brisk-selling book, "Supership" (Knopf $8.95), brought the problem to public attention. Denis Pitts' new book adds another dimension—the possibility of piracy and ransom.

"A supertanker moored a few hundred yards from the southern tip of Manhattan . . . would threaten such buildings as the World Trade Center. . . . The result of the wind . . . would be a shattered and blazing city. . . . The force of the explosion would suck people from their windows, drag automobiles along like toys, destroy subway systems and create a massive loss of life."

Taxpayers Making Up To $16,000 A Year Now Eligible

How to save $120 to $2400 a year by participating in the U.S. food stamp program

A mother of a typical family of four, can save $444 a year with food stamps, even if her husband makes $10,000 a year.* She can provide a nutritional and healthy diet while serving them the foods they like, such as, steaks, side dishes, beverages, desserts, and snacks.

What will qualifying for the food stamp program mean to you? Depending on your income, you could slash your food budget by 20% to 60%. This would mean a savings of $120 to $2,400 a year. You could afford to provide your family with the most nutritional and healthful foods. The money you've saved could be placed in the bank or used to buy anything you'd like. There are no restrictions on what you do with the money you saved. But, best of all, you'd be starting your own personal tax rebate program. You will be getting back some of the thousands of dollars you've paid in taxes by taking advantage of a government program which you've already paid for.

"A July 74 ruling extended food stamp coverage to over 20,000,000 new Americans. To date, over 15,000,000 of these newly eligible citizens have not claimed their benefits which their personal taxes have already paid for"

By Elizabeth Evans

A government ruling in July of 1974 has extended food stamp coverage to 20,000,000 new Americans. But to date, more than 15,000,000 of these newly eligible citizens have not claimed their benefits. Why?

Obviously, most of these people are not aware of this new ruling. Others think that eligibility is based on gross income. But in reality, numerous deductions lowering your gross income are used to figure food stamp eligibility. And finally, thousands of people who know they are eligible are too embarassed to claim their benefits.

The embarassment surrounding food stamps and the old fashioned notion that you must be on welfare to participate are quickly becoming a thing of the past.

A December 20, 1974, Wall Street Journal article reported that more and more middle and upper middle class working families are using food stamps. Donna Marie of 4445 11th Street NW, Canton, Ohio, sums up the feelings of hundreds of thousands of working American families who now use food stamps, "I saw my neighbor eating steaks and using the money she saved to buy a few luxuries. Then I thought of all the taxes I'd paid. It struck me how silly it was not to take advantage of something I'd already paid for. I now use food stamps to serve nutritional and delicious meals for my family. To me it is no different than a tax rebate program."

No Risk Report: The problem of people not knowing if they are eligible has been eliminated with the recent publication of the public information report, 1975 Food Stamp Qualification Guide. This report is being made available on a no risk basis. By ordering the report, you can quickly determine in the privacy of your home if you qualify and for what amount. If you don't qualify, you may return the book. You'll receive a full refund—no questions asked.

Eye Opening Facts: Here are some little known facts regarding the food stamp program. Did you know that:

Workers who are layed off or on strike can collect food stamps.

- In some states, you can get your food stamps through the mail.
- Hundreds of thousands of senior citizens are eligible.

The elderly can use food stamps to pay for home delivered meals-on-wheels and for group meals for the elderly.

Working families with gross incomes as high as $16,000 a year can qualify for food stamps.

- Food stamps are used just like cash. There are no forms to fill out at the grocery check-out counter.
- Food stamps are accepted at almost every grocery store.
- It takes only two weeks to receive your food stamps after you qualify.
- Several people living in the same house can all separately receive food stamps.
- If you are physically unable to apply at the food stamp office, you can have someone else apply for you or have the food stamp office come to your home.
- If you move, you can continue to receive food stamps for a 60 day period from your old food stamp area.
- If you've recently moved to a new state, you can immediately apply for food stamps.
- When your income and resources are being calculated to see if you qualify, your house, lot, one car, your personal belongings and household goods, cash value of your insurance policy, income producing property, and boarders are not counted as resources.
- When calculating your income, money from a student under 18, irregular income from part time jobs totaling less than $30 a month, and money from loans is not counted as income.
- If you work and must use a day care center or a babysitter, you can deduct this expense.
- State and Federal taxes, Social Security, and union dues are deducted from your income.
- Medical fees over $10 a month and tuition and mandatory education expenses can be deducted from your income.
- Alimony or child support you pay can be deducted. So can unusual expenses due to disasters.
- Rent, mortgage and utilities are deductable by using a shelter standard formula.
- All information given when you apply for stamps must be kept strictly confidential.
- You'll be told if you qualify 30 days after you apply.
- If you are refused food stamps and feel you're being cheated, you have the right to a fair hearing appeal. Even if you've been refused long ago, you can still go back for your hearing. And if the food stamp office made a mistake, you're entitled to all the back food stamps you should have collected.

 Typical Working Families: Here's an example of a typical family that qualifies for food stamps. Mr. Seagel grosses $192 a week, $10,000 a year. Mrs. Seagel does not work and has a boy, age 5, and a girl, age 10. Mr. Seagel pays $150 per month alimony and child support to his previous wife, has a rent of $130, $8 for phone, $50 for heat and utilities, $35 a month for hospital insurance, and spends $15 a month on allergy medicine.

After making all the necessary deductions outlined in the 1975 Food Stamp Qualification Guide, it was found that the Seagels would receive $150 worth of food stamps for only $113 a month. They'd saved $37 dollars a month. A total of $444 on groceries for the year.

The 1975 Food Stamp Qualification Guide is written in plain, simple language. It will show you step by step how to figure your Food Stamp income. It will make sure you're deducting all the expenses you're entitled to. It will also prevent you from adding income which should not be counted in your total. When you qualify, you'll be told exactly where to go, who to see, and what to do in order to start cashing in on your benefits. A sample form is enclosed so you will waste no time when you go to fill out the real thing. All of this is done in the privacy of your home. You'll waste no time hunting down this information, and you won't have to spend a cent on gas.

Low Priced Soft Cover Edition: As I've said, this public information report is being made available in a special low price soft cover edition. To get your report, all you need do is write the words Food Stamps on the top of a piece of paper along with your name and address.

Mail to: THE CENTER FOR PUBLIC INFORMATION, Government Programs Division, Dept. C-18, 401 Market Avenue, North, Canton, Ohio 44702. Be sure to enclose $3.00 in cash, check, or money order. Make checks payable to Public Information. Your report will be rushed to you by return mail in a plain unmarked envelope.

If after reading your report you discover that you don't qualify, return the book within 3 weeks. You'll receive a full refund—no questions asked.

You could be one of the 15,000,000 people missing out on the benefits you have coming to you. If you do qualify, you'll receive a $120 to $2400 return on your $3.00 investment. You can find out if you qualify within 3 weeks by mailing in your report request today. *

"Order in a Chaotic World"

Why Do People Collect Things?

By Kathleen Brady

"Collecting is an attempt to limit the world you deal with to objects you can arrange so that you make a world where you're in charge. You become the god of the universe."

People who collect butterflies like geography and want to see the world. Stamp enthusiasts crave knowledge of history and international politics. Those who gather beer cans (yes, beer cans, it's the latest craze) are sentimental about their buddies and want to be considered hell raisers.

Psychologists and psychiatrists, many of whom are collectors, say the objects a person prizes are clues to what he seeks from life. An outstanding example of this was Sigmund Freud himself, the father of psychoanalysis. He called his collection of antiquities "an addiction" and crowded his apartment in Vienna with such things as Etruscan mirrors, Egyptian sculptures and Greek vases. In fact, Freud once confessed, "I have read more archaeology than psychology." His passion wasn't just pleasurable; he said it helped him unlock man's conscious and subconscious minds, the structure of which goes back through time. Freud's or any collector's study of particular things is a sign of a scientific mind; for just as scientists collect, compare and order data, so a collector accumulates, evaluates and displays items.

Professionals agree that, basically, collecting implies an urge to bring order and beauty to a chaotic world—and, in doing so, to gain a sense of security.

Having a supply of something, even pebble specimens, confers a sense of power and possibly feelings of immortality. "Collecting is an attempt to limit the world you deal with to objects you can arrange so that you make a world where you're in charge. You become the god of the universe," says Dr. Elizabeth Thorne.

Collectors are often interesting, happy people because of their enthusiasm. They take pride in themselves and their achievement. Dr. Jack Granofsky observes, "The way a person treats his collection will carry through to everything else. If it's neat and well-arranged, he's orderly in other ways too." Dr. David Ingram concurs, saying, "The urge to collect implies a wish to catalog. Collectors sometimes grow uneasy if their stamps or whatever are out of place, and they apologize in order to preempt criticism. Often, collectors have parents who appreciate order."

In fact, they may be trying to please their parents or deepen a tie with them, many doctors say. A woman may recall the pride her mother had in her china, and so collects decorative plates in the subconcious hope of pleasing dear old Mom or being like her.

The need to feel self-sufficient and powerful helps explain why children often go through stages of collecting. Since kids are totally dependent on bigger people for support, they find it delightful (as well as practical space-wise) to gather tiny objects they tower over and control. Dr. Thorne recalls her childhood pastime of clipping coupons and mailing away for makeup, cereal and perfume premiums. "I couldn't wait for the mail to come and bring me the little boxes I'd ordered. I took pleasure in their being small. It was the thing that was the most fun when I was little."

Collecting is as much a part of adolescence as acne, but more fun. In the 1930's and '40's, teenagers collected movie-star photos. Today, the fad is for kooky T-shirts, but the impulse is the same. The reason is that as kids start to leave the security of home to make their own lives, acquisitions are a way to state their own individuality. Dr. Helen DeRosis observes, "Collecting is a way people get in touch with new worlds outside themselves and their homes. But adolescents are imitative. They may think they're getting away from one nest, but they are busily tucking themselves into another by collecting things that will make them part of a group of friends."

Dr. Lawrence Hatterer, author of "The Creative Personality," gives this overview: "The important thing is that there is never one single reason for anything. Some people collect just for aesthetic pleasure. They become connoisseurs. For instance, I used to paint, and when I stopped, I stayed in touch with that world by taking painters as patients. I collect their paintings as payment. Many other people collect as a way to relieve tension, just as others drink because they think it will help them."

"Whatever the interpretation," says Dr. DeRosis, "collecting is a positive experience. It helps people feel good. Because they have an interest, they're happier with the world and so they look better and are more fun to be with."

Tempting summertime ideas: "Guess What?" Spice Bars, Morning Warm-Up, Bell-Ringer Eggs and Mexicali Beef 'n' Bacon.

A Cookbook of Easy Summertime Recipes

With good weather here, it's time to take it easy in the kitchen. This Cookbook is divided into "menus"—each specially selected for ease, creativity and nutritional value.

Take-It-Easy Menu No. 1

Morning Warm-up*
Orange Wedges Bell-Ringer Eggs*
Toast Butter or Margarine
Milk Tea Coffee

*Recipe given

MORNING WARM-UP*

1 can (24 ozs.) vegetable-juice cocktail
¾ cup unsweetened pineapple juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
⅛ teaspoon ground cinnamon

1. Combine ingredients in saucepan. Heat to boiling, stirring occasionally. Serve in mugs. Makes 4-5 servings

*An excellent source of vitamin A and vitamin C.

BELL-RINGER EGGS*

2 tablespoons butter or margarine
½ cup chopped green pepper
½ cup sliced pepperoni
8 eggs
1 can (10¾ ozs.) cream of potato soup, undiluted
Dash pepper

1. Melt butter in 10-inch skillet. Add green pepper and pepperoni. Sauté, stirring, about 3 minutes, until green pepper is tender.
2. Beat eggs lightly in bowl. Add soup and pepper and stir until fairly smooth.
3. Pour into skillet. Cook over low heat; do not stir. As mixture begins to set around edges, lift cooked portions gently with large turner so that uncooked portion can flow to the bottom.
4. Continue lifting cooked portions until eggs are completely set but still moist.
Makes 4-6 servings

*An excellent source of vitamin A and protein.

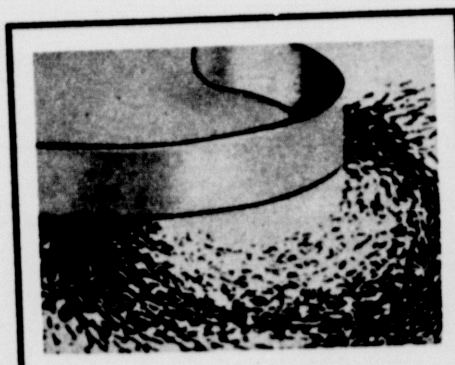
WILL THE FABLED ABRAXAS BRACELET DRAW MONEY AND LOVE TO YOU?

THE ABRAXAS: Was it actually the real source of power for an Egyptian dynasty that ruled over 4,000 years ago?

No one really knows where the ABRAXAS bracelet came from. One story says it was discovered in the tomb of Queen Nefertiti. In 1747 B.C. the Egyptian God Thoth, master of all sciences, guardian of all secrets past and future, master of the magic arts, presented to Nefertiti a magnificent bracelet, saying; "The wearer shall be forever blessed with great wisdom and strength, outstanding beauty, excellent health and riches beyond thought."

From the moment Nefertiti wore the ABRAXAS bracelet, she ruled wisely and with great inner strength, so the story goes. All the riches of the kingdom were hers and there was nothing she wanted for.



ITS FORCE CAN BE SEEN! These iron filings instantly dance into strange geometric patterns when the Abraxas bracelet is near.

Scientific photos prove existence of a magnetic field

According to a recent startling article in a well-known national magazine, U.S. and Soviet scientists have recently photographed the invisible magnetic field around the body.

They have found that it changes according to the mood, that one person can strengthen or weaken another's magnetic field. And that the several hundred bright spots in the photos correspond exactly to the 800 main acupuncture points where Chinese practitioners insert their needles!

The article suggests that something like a battery charger might some day boost a weak aura. Could the legendary, magnetic ABRAXAS be the first step in that direction?

UNBELIEVABLE STORIES REPORTED

And so it has been reported down through time. Those fortunate enough to own the ABRAXAS were said to have experienced miraculous changes in their lives. The poor became rich. The sickly, well and strong. Homely people found a new attractiveness in themselves. To some it brought great physical and emotional energy. To others, greater success and satisfaction in business, love and family matters. No one can say if the stories are true, yet they have persisted down through time.

Unbelievable? Perhaps. But there have always been those who laugh at what they don't understand. Men once ridiculed the short, robust man who flew a kite in the rain. Yet, as a result of Ben Franklin's early harnessing of lightning, we now enjoy electricity in our lives.

HOW DOES IT WORK?

Who can say? All we really know is that science can actually measure the magnetic power of the Bracelet. Particles of iron filings form into strange patterns when the bracelet is near.

We know, too, that scientists now say everyone has a personal magnetic field of energy. While the bracelet is worn, could it be that, in some way not yet known to science, its mysterious power harnesses this magnetism to draw you closer to your destiny?

For example, in a crowded room, you may find yourself feeling strangely directed towards someone of the opposite sex, who seems equally drawn to you. Can it be the power working to bring you love? Or, maybe a big raise in pay . . . a business deal that puts you on easy street . . . as a result of "good vibes" between you and someone else. Could the ABRAXAS help bring them about? In this age of ESP, rediscovery of the occult, and new respect for psychic powers, who knows?

MONEY-BACK GUARANTEE

Of course, no one can guarantee that the magnificent ABRAXAS Bracelet will produce miraculous results for you. But, we can assure you will be completely enchanted with its beauty.

In any event, you risk absolutely nothing when you order because, if after 7 days you are not positively delighted, simply return the bracelet and you will receive a full refund of your money.

TV's Jean Stapleton: "Unlike 'Archie,' My Real Husband Cooks!"

"My recipes come from everywhere. Even my makeup man, a gourmet cook, brings me wonderful chili!"

By Jean Stapleton
In conversation with Helen Dorsey

Moving into our new house out West has changed our style of entertaining! Our new swimming pool is a joy. It forces me to sit down and relax, but it's also inspired some lovely poolside parties.

I have a lovely housekeeper who cooks most of our meals when I'm working. When I cook, I like to prepare simple make-ahead dishes. Unlike "Archie," my real husband, Bill, cooks. And very well too! He specializes in Italian dishes. My favorite is his chicken tetrazzini, flavored with just a hint of curry!

My recipes come from everywhere. Even my makeup man, a gourmet cook, brings me wonderful chili! It's fun to study cookbooks and come up with new ideas.

Henry Grossman/Transworld

Jean Stapleton, of CBS-TV's "All in the Family," and her husband Bill Putch are both good cooks.

JEAN'S LOBSTER QUICHE

1 pkg. prepared pie crust mix
6 frozen South African rock-lobster tails (2-oz. size)
Boiling, salted water
1 cup (4 ozs.) grated Swiss or Gruyère cheese
1 tablespoon finely minced white onion
1 tablespoon butter
4 eggs, well-beaten
2 cups half and half or light cream
1 teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon ground white pepper
⅛ teaspoon ground nutmeg

1. Prepare pie crust according to package directions. Roll out on lightly floured board. Make large enough to line bottom and sides of an ungreased 9-inch pie pan. Press pastry lightly against pan sides, allowing about ½-inch overhang. Flute edge. Prick shell with fork. Partially bake in preheated 400° F. oven about 8 minutes.

2. Drop frozen rock-lobster tails into boiling, salted water. When water reboils, boil for 2 minutes. Drain in collander; drench immediately with cold water.

3. Remove underside membrane with scissors or poultry shears and pull out meat in one piece. Slice meat crosswise. Reserve 6 halves sliced lengthwise for garnish. Place meat in bottom of partially baked pie shell. Sprinkle cheese over meat.

4. Sauté onion in butter until golden; reserve.

5. Beat together eggs, half and half, salt, white pepper, nutmeg and cooked onion. Pour over lobster and cheese in pie shell.

6. Bake in preheated 350° F. oven 40-45 minutes, or until a knife inserted in center comes out clean. Garnish with rock-lobster slices to form a star design. Serve warm or at room temperature. Makes 1 (9 inch) pie

BILL'S CHICKEN TETRAZZINI

2 tablespoons minced onion
1 tablespoon butter
1 can (10¾ ozs.) cream of mushroom soup
½ can (10¾ ozs.) condensed chicken broth
2 teaspoons curry powder
Dash of white pepper to taste
2 cups cooked broad noodles (½-inch wide)
2 cups cooked cubed chicken
½ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

1. Sauté onion in butter until golden.

2. Add soup, chicken broth, curry powder and white pepper. Cook over low heat, stirring.

3. Arrange layers of noodles, chicken and soup mixture in a greased baking dish, ending with layer of noodles.

4. Cover; bake in preheated 350° F. oven 30 minutes. Uncover; sprinkle cheese over the top.

5. Bake 10 minutes longer, or until cheese is melted and golden. Garnish with parsley. Serve at once.

Makes 4 servings

Spread a little happiness with your own homemade jam.

Put it up in minutes. Eat it up for pennies.

THERE'S NO COOKING.

All you do is mix.
And all it takes is about 30 minutes.
And you've got 5 jars of your very own homemade jam.
Better jam. (Just ask those families who make their own!)

The recipe on the right will do it.
Or, look for other fruit jam and jelly recipes with the package, when you buy Certo® fruit pectin.
(Or Sure-Jell®). It's the very ingredient you need to help make it jam.

It makes good time.
It makes good sense.
And it makes the kind of jam you'll be proud to put your name on.

The powder way or the liquid way

AND, IT'S EASY TO DO.

STRAWBERRY JAM RECIPE

1¼ cups crushed strawberries (about 1 qt.)
4 cups sugar
2 tablespoons lemon juice
½ bottle Certo® fruit pectin

Thoroughly mix fresh, crushed strawberries with sugar, and let stand for 10 minutes. Combine lemon juice with Certo® and add to fruit mixture. Stir the whole thing for 3 minutes. And that's it for 5 cups of jam.

Ladle your fresh homemade jam into any 5 scalded jars, (8 oz. or smaller, with screw tops). Or use plastic containers (with snap lids). Cover right away and then let stand at room temperature for 24 hours to set. Keep what you can eat in the refrigerator. And freeze the rest for sweeter days.

Special offer. For more recipes, send 50¢ (in coin) with your name, address and ZIP code to: The Wonderland of Homemade Jams and Jellies, Box 4018, Kankakee, Illinois 60901.

Now—diet expert Sidney Petrie reports on an exciting way to banish excess poundage...look and feel better... and NEVER go hungry with...

"FAT DESTROYER FOODS"!

Dear Friend:

A fascinating concept has now been presented by a well-known diet expert—in a new book—to enable dieters to continue eating as much or as frequently as they did before, while slimming down!

It's the exciting news that certain foods destroy fat! (See page 10 for this electrifying idea—then read the whole story!) FORGET ABOUT CALORIES, says Sidney Petrie. As long as you eat "Fat-Destroyer Foods," you may, depending on your own metabolism, eat as much as 3,000 calories a day! All kinds of delicious treats while excess weight simply melts off your body!

Yes, you must EAT the substance found in "Fat-Destroyer Foods," a substance that burns away fat! In the words of one medical doctor, "By scientifically adjusting the body's metabolic processes, "Fat-Destroyer Foods" seem to melt away pound after pound . . ."

What this means to you is this: "Fat-Destroyer Foods" actually force excess fat—hundreds and hundreds of extra calories a day—OUT OF YOUR BODY, says Petrie. And, because you must eat them on this weight-loss plan, unwanted pounds disappear fast—and you're never really hungry! Petrie says—

EAT "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS" TILL YOU GROAN AND STILL LOSE WEIGHT!

Stick to "Fat-Destroyer Foods," and you'll lose weight—it's virtually automatic—says Petrie! And what foods!!!

EAT-ALL-YOU-WANT portions of . . . Cheeseburgers . . . Veal Parmigiana . . . Beef Strogonoff . . . Canadian Bacon . . . Eggs Benedict (fried or with mushrooms) . . . Cheese (the whole delicatessen is yours) . . . Barbequed Spareribs . . . Link Sausages . . . Butter, Sauces, Gravies . . . Hungarian Goulash . . . and much more!

GENEROUS, MOUTH-WATERING HELPINGS of Ice Cream . . . Butterscotch Pudding . . . Caramel Custard . . . Fruit-Flavored Gelatin . . . Vanilla Pudding . . . Apple sauce Chocolate Blanc Mange . . . Cheese Cake . . . Whipped Cream Desserts . . . washed down with goblets of red wine . . . coffee breaks . . . frequent snacks . . . drinks . . . and much, much more . . . Chopped herring, Gefilte Fish . . . BLTs . . . blackberries . . . strawberries . . . blueberries . . . cherries . . . dates . . . figs . . . AND STILL THAT'S JUST THE BEGINNING!

But there are certain foods you must avoid, reports the author, at least until you're all slimmed down to your ideal weight (it need not be a permanent sacrifice)!

A SCIENTIFIC DISCOVERY THAT CAN CHANGE YOUR LIFE!

We all know some lucky person who can "eat like a horse" and never gain a pound! What has this person got that you haven't?

That's what Sidney Petrie, a diet specialist who has treated thousands of overweight people, wanted to know.

"Then I made a fortuitous discovery," says Petrie.

"Certain foods destroy fat!" he says. Other foods, in excess, are stored as fat. But not "Fat-Destroyer Foods," says Petrie. Excess "Fat-Destroyer Foods" are thrown off as waste. More important—in the absence of those other foods—"Fat-Destroyers" seem to drag body fat away, he says! "You can actually see evidence of your own fat going down the drain."

This is the scientific fact that is now revolutionizing the eating habits of thousands! "Fat-Destroyer Foods" are EAT-ALL-YOU-WANT foods—Petrie adds. There are MORE of them to choose from! They encourage less hunger—less water retention! They are go-go-go foods!

Other foods contain "fat hooks," says Petrie, that can literally hang excess fat on you. They contain "empty calories"—lacking vital nutrients the body needs. You could eat 5,000 calories a day of them and feel weak, says Petrie. And they PREVENT WEIGHT LOSS.

Stick to "Fat-Destroyer Foods," says Petrie. STUFF YOURSELF ON THEM, he says, without guilt. You will in all likelihood continue to lose weight. But let the other foods slip in—just one or two of them—and you are now geared to put the poundage on instead of take it off, he states. What are the "fat hooks"? You'll find complete details in Petrie's new book.

SNACK ANYTIME—EAT AS FREQUENTLY AS YOU WISH!

"Fat-Destroyer Foods" contain the most important ingredient your body needs, says Petrie. The entire body—hair, skin, veins, flesh, bones—everything depends on it.

What happens on a starvation diet of less food—or "empty" foods—that lack this vital ingredient?

"Doctor," you say, "I just can't stay on my diet. I get so hungry and I feel so weak."

But with "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS" you eat well! You dine regally on foods like Canadian bacon, Portuguese sausages, cheese souffle, whipped cream desserts, Vanilla pudding, wines, gravy, cream soups, and much, much more!

WATCH YOUR WEIGHT PLUMMET!

Now, if you've ever tried conventional weight-loss diets, you know you just can't eat like this. But in scientific experiments, it was found many years ago, that the human body ACTUALLY BURNS UP MORE CALORIES OF "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS" THAN IT TAKES IN! You can eat lavishly of fat burning foods and still lose weight, says Petrie!

As a result, you see your weight drop—see pound after pound of it melt away! Even if you're 10, 20, 30 lbs. or more overweight! Some of Petrie's clients have dropped as much as 200 pounds, eating as much and as frequently as before of "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS"!

"It sounds too good to be true," says Petrie, "but IT IS TRUE, and it has lost tons for my clients!" (Naturally, a dieter should use common sense, and not overemphasize fat burning foods to the point of severe underweight!!!)

HERE IS DRAMATIC PROOF THAT "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS" CAN HELP YOU SHED 20—40—80 POUNDS OR MORE!

"I have proved to thousands that they can eat all they want and still lose weight," says Petrie. People like . . .

Harriet, a telephone operator, 34 years old, came to Petrie as a "last resort." At 5 feet 10 inches, she weighed 400 pounds. With tears in her eyes, she told how her doctor had given her up in despair. She could not reduce and stay reduced, and she had a water weight problem. With "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS" she never felt hungry . . .

The Result: 120 lbs. lost in 6 months! Harriet is today slim, attractive, and statuesque— without hunger!

Molly's habit of "tasting" her family's meals ballooned her body to 200 lbs. despite numerous attempts at dieting. Instead of starving, she switched to "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS," eating freely!

The Result: she is now below 140 lbs. and still losing!

Ronald, a business man in his early 40's, tipped the scales at 305 lbs. some 130 lbs. overweight! With "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS" he lost 12 lbs. the first week alone! Week after week, he enjoyed a steady weight-loss, until he reached his desired goal.

The Result: 130 lbs. lost, remaining happy, healthy, and well-fed along the way!

Henry, a high-school principal, weighed 300 lbs. With conventional diets, he was never able to reduce and stay reduced. He loved his favorite foods, and found calorie-counting quite difficult. With "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS," he lost 30 lbs. the first month!

The Result: 110 lbs. lost without hunger. Even his back pains disappeared!

By using this fact in their daily lives, people are now able to eat more and weigh less. With "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS," says Petrie, you can eat more than you ever thought possible . . . and never gain an ounce!

A DOCTOR OF MEDICINE APPRAISES "FAT-DESTROYER FOODS"!

Frank S. Caprio, M.D., in his Foreword to the book, says—

"I am . . . impressed by Petrie's remarkable discovery of "Fat-Destroyer Foods," which I believe to be an entirely new concept in dieting. It permits the dieter to enjoy what I, too, believe is one of the most permissive and pleasant diets ever devised . . . to lose weight and never gain it back."

"I am impressed," Dr. Caprio continues, "by the astonishing and dramatic weight loss results achieved by so many of Petrie's patients—even in seemingly hopeless cases referred to him by physicians and other medical specialists."

"I can honestly say that, in my medical opinion, this book . . . in its category (is) the best I have ever read, and I heartily recommend it to anyone who wants to lose weight quickly, easily, automatically and permanently."

THE EASY WAY TO SHED POUNDS FAST . . . FASTER . . . FASTEST!

You'll never be hungry, or need "will power" with "Fat-Destroyer Foods," Petrie reminds us. Eat all you want of them, AS FREQUENTLY AS YOU WISH, he states. "And if you can't make up your mind between 2 or 3 possibilities—have them all," he says of his Free Diet, the first of several plans revealed.

You can even enjoy frequent snacks . . . at TV time, between meals, at a restaurant. Enjoy a night on the town . . . even "hoist the elbow" with drinks like rye, bourbon, scotch, whiskeys, rum, vodka, gin and brandy, martinis and wines . . . a whole world of food opens up in a dazzling cavalcade of delights!

AND YOU CAN SPEED UP YOUR PROGRESS by adding more "Fat-Destroyer Foods"! There are 3 rapid reducing plans in this book: FAST, FASTER, AND FASTEST! You'll lose weight easily on all 3 depending on how fast you wish to shed those pounds, says Petrie!

SEND FOR 30-DAY NO RISK TRIAL RIGHT AWAY!

RAVIOLI SUPPER SKILLET*

2 cans (15-oz. size) beef ravioli in meat sauce
1 cup sliced hard salami, quartered
1 can (1 lb.) green beans, drained
2 tablespoons ketchup
Grated Parmesan cheese

1. In skillet, combine ravioli, salami, beans and ketchup; cover. Heat, stirring occasionally. Serve with cheese.

Makes about 6 cups

Editor's note: This is easy enough for children to make themselves with a little adult help.

*An excellent source of protein and vitamin A.

RAISIN BREAD PUDDING*

½ cup raisins
¼ cup sherry
6 slices enriched white bread
3 tablespoons butter or margarine, softened
1 teaspoon ground cinnamon
3 cups milk, scalded
½ cup sugar
4 eggs, lightly beaten
1 teaspoon pure vanilla extract
1 cup light cream or half and half, optional

1. Preheat oven to 350°F. Lightly grease a 9x9x2-inch baking dish.
2. Soak raisins in sherry. Toast bread and spread with butter. Cut into triangles.
3. Layer bread, buttered side up, in baking pan. Sprinkle with cinnamon and raisins.
4. Pour milk and sugar into eggs, beating rapidly. Stir in any remaining sherry and vanilla; pour over bread. Bake about 40 minutes, or until the tip of a knife comes out clean. Serve warm or cold with a little cream poured over each serving if desired.

Makes 6-8 servings

*A good source of protein, calcium and vitamin A.

KNOX BLOX™

New finger-size gelatine snacks.

Knox has a nifty new snack idea that's a knock-out with kids. It's firmed up, finger-sized, fruity gelatine squares. They're firm enough to never melt or get mushy even at room temperature. But still have enough wiggle to tempt any tot. And a snap to make. Just add Knox® Unflavored Gelatine to any flavored gelatine and your Knox Blox will stay firm until the last block is all gobbled up. Now, isn't that a better idea than candy?

4 envelopes Knox Unflavored Gelatine
3 packages (3 oz. ea.) flavored gelatine
4 cups boiling water

In large bowl, combine Knox Unflavored Gelatine and flavored gelatine; add boiling water and stir until gelatine dissolves. Pour into large shallow baking pan (for example, 13" x 9") and chill until firm. Cut into squares to serve. Makes about 100 one inch squares.

People Quiz

By John E. Gibson

What Your Reading Habits Reveal About You

True or False: Some people use reading not as a means of enjoyment or enlightenment, but simply as a narcotic. (See number 4)

TRUE OR FALSE?

1. If you don't find reading a chore and a bore, the odds are that you're well adjusted and have a minimum of personality hangups.
2. Your reading habits provide a clue to your social and economic status.
3. A good reading ability—the enjoyment of books, magazines and newspapers, and a quick comprehension—provides an index to your personality type.
4. Some people use reading not as a means of enjoyment or enlightenment, but simply as a narcotic.
5. What we read has a marked influence on how we live.

ANSWERS

1. True. University studies indicate that the able reader is better adjusted, has fewer emotional conflicts and "has more successfully accepted his role in society." It's also observed that the person who gets the most out of the printed page is also likely to get the most out of life. In both cases, the focus and comprehension of our mental faculties is a key factor.

2. True—according to a survey of American reading habits, which showed that the most common kind of reading done on a typical day is newspaper reading, and that "those who read two or more newspapers tend to have a higher socioeconomic status than those who read only one, and that persons who read newspapers at work have a higher status than those who read newspapers at home." It was also found that: Higher status is associated with persons who read editorials and letters to the editor, the sports section, and motion-picture, book or other reviews.

3. True—as shown by a study of more than 100 men and women at the University of Illinois, in which each subject was given a standard reading-ability test, followed by a personality test. Findings showed that "the quiet, thoughtful, feminine, agreeable woman is the better reader. Using different variables as a basis of description, it is also the quiet, thoughtful, cultured man who is the better reader among men."

4. True. Reading, as one authority observes, is a basic tool in living a good life. But instead of using it as such, some people use it as an opiate. They don't read because of interest in a given subject or for entertainment or for mental stimulation. On the contrary, they use reading as a means of deadening their thoughts—as a drug to quiet their nerves, to escape boredom, to "read themselves to sleep" or to take their minds off their problems. Just as some people can't stand being alone, these people can't stand being without "something to read." But just what it is makes little difference to them, for they retain very little of it.

5. True. Studies of the effects of reading show that it is largely responsible for influencing the attitudes and outlooks of people from all walks of life, "giving them a design for living more purposefully, or a way of experiencing life more understandingly." In one study, college students were asked to tell specifically how books or articles affected their attitude, ideas or behavior. Only a minimal percentage reported that their reading had little or no influence on their personal lives. The extent of the influence was affected by each person's intelligence, vocabulary and comprehension. And it's observed that "To read without reflecting is like eating without digesting."

THE FRANKLIN MINT PROUDLY ANNOUNCES

WILDLIFE OF NORTH AMERICA

LIMITED EDITION SCULPTURE IN FINE PEWTER

THE BIGHORN SHEEP

A collection of ten original sculptures portraying magnificent animals of the North American wilderness

Issued in strictly limited edition.
Available by advance subscription only.
Subscription rolls close June 20, 1975.

WILDLIFE OF NORTH AMERICA is a unique collection of original pewter sculptures portraying the most beautiful and fascinating animals that roam the mountains, forests and shores of North America.

Each sculpture will capture in exceptional detail the beauty, strength and character of the animal portrayed. And each of these fine works of art will depict the animal just as it appears in nature. In repose. In pursuit. In a single moment in time.

The ten sculptures in this collection will be crafted in solid pewter—a warm, rich metal which enhances every fine detail of the artist's work.

These superb pewter figures will be produced in a single limited edition, and subscriptions for this edition are being accepted only at this time.

The collection will be issued by The Franklin Mint, which is renowned throughout the world for the quality of its original collector's items.

Lifelike portrayals

The stealthy Mountain Lion will be the first sculpture in the collection. This powerful animal is shown—balanced on one foot—as it jumps with remarkable agility from a ledge above. Because of its strength and size, the Mountain Lion is greatly feared by other animals—yet is itself terrified in the presence of man.

The second sculpture will be the White-tailed Deer — graceful, swift, with extremely keen senses. The deer runs and leaps over a fallen log, perhaps in pursuit of a young doe.

Next in the collection is the Grizzly Bear, formidable giant of the woodlands. The Grizzly can fell a steer weighing half a ton, or quite easily catch a small fish in its massive paw.

The sure-footed Mountain Goat confidently scales a ridge no other animal would dare attempt. And atop a mountain peak, a magnificent Bighorn Sheep stands silhouetted against the horizon.

On a distant plain, the handsome American Elk heads for the timber at full speed—its head held proud and high. And in the darkness of night, a Timber Wolf utters its spine-tingling wail.

Farther north, the Polar Bear has emerged from the frigid sea to rest on an ice floe. And the Sea Lion, startled by an unfamiliar sound, prepares to dive into the water for safety.

The final figure in the collection is the Pronghorn Antelope. This beautiful animal has characteristics similar to the giraffe, the billy goat and the deer—yet is not related to any other animal. It is the sole living remnant of an ancient animal family that dates back 20 million years.

Ten of the most striking animals of the North American wilderness. Ten creatures that embody the freedom and spirit of nature. A collection of sculptural art that offers something new and fresh each time it is viewed.

Sculptured in realistic detail

Each sculpture will be completely faithful to the animal it portrays. The expression on the face of the Timber Wolf. The movement of the body of the White-tailed Deer. The sweep of the Mountain Lion's tail. Even the sharp teeth of the Grizzly Bear can be readily seen. And you can actually count the points on the elk's antlers.

THE WHITE-TAILED DEER

THE MOUNTAIN LION

SCULPTURES SHOWN APPROXIMATELY ACTUAL SIZE

The sculptor who is creating this collection is Ralph Berg. Born and raised in Montana, Berg has studied animals at first hand since early childhood. Indeed, he has devoted his entire life to learning about the animals of the North American wilderness. Now at his studio in Great Falls, Berg devotes his great talent to creating beautiful lifelike sculptures of the animals he has come to know so well. Until now, the works of Ralph Berg have been owned exclusively by a limited group of individual collectors who have purchased his sculptures for their own private collections.

Each of the ten figures in the Wildlife of North America collection will stand on its own sculptured base. The base will bear the title of the work and the distinctive signature mark of the sculptor. In addition, each figure will carry the coveted mintmark of The Franklin Mint.

A strictly limited edition

Wildlife of North America will be issued in only one edition. A strictly limited edition offered on an advance subscription basis exclusively. The total edition will be limited to the exact number of orders postmarked by the subscription deadline of June 20, 1975. Furthermore, there is a strict limit of one collection per person. When each subscriber has received his collection, the ten master sculptures will be destroyed and these limited edition works will never be produced again.

Convenient acquisition plan

The sculptures will be completed and sent to subscribers at the rate of one every other month, beginning in July 1975. The original issue price for each sculpture is $60, payable in two equal installments of $30 per month.

While limited edition sculptures of this quality are generally priced much higher when sold individually, these works of art can be acquired at only $60 each because they are offered only as a complete collection—and only by advance subscription.

Together, these ten original wildlife sculptures will form a collection that will be greatly admired by all who appreciate fine things. For they add a new dimension to the art of animal sculpture—an art that has captivated man's imagination since prehistoric times. This new collection of unique pewter sculpture will be prized throughout life, and will surely become a family heirloom to be given to each succeeding generation.

Subscription deadline: June 20, 1975

This is the only time that applications will be accepted for this important sculpture collection. To enter your subscription, please mail the Advance Subscription Application at right by June 20, 1975. Any applications which bear later postmark dates must, regretfully, be declined and returned.

Now You Don't Have to Be a Millionaire to Own This Simulated Diamond Ring

AMAZING OFFER
to readers of Family Weekly

FULL ONE CARAT ZOLATRON SIMULATED DIAMOND RING 5.99

Did you know that only a diamond expert can tell the difference between a Zolatron and a costly diamond?

We got hold of a fabulous full carat diamond ring costing $1000.00 and we made a copy of it. A copy so clever . . . so realistic . . . and so precise that only a diamond expert could ever tell it apart from the original $1000.00 ring. We made it from luxurious silver electroplated and burnished by jewelry craftsmen. Then we mounted it with an imported full carat ZOLATRON – the famous simulated diamond that lasts a lifetime. Now we offer it for only $5.99. Imagine it – about a half percent of the original!

PLEASE DON'T JUDGE IT BY ITS LOW $5.99 PRICE!

Now don't think that because it's so low-priced, this must be a cheap, inferior imitation. Far from it! We proudly offer you a superior, quality-made jewel. We simply refuse to use the cheap, soft plastic "diamonds" found in low-cost rings. Instead we use ZOLATRONS exclusively—because they are amongst the world's most dazzling, convincing simulations. These hard, dense stones are diamond-cut and hand set into heavy duty rings of exquisite beauty. Like precious diamonds, ZOLATRONS look, glow and feel like diamonds. And like diamonds, they sure do impress people! But let's face it: ZOLATRONS are different from regular diamonds. However, the most thrilling difference is that you get one for only a few dollars—not thousands!

PROVE IT YOURSELF WITH DARING SULPHURIC ACID TEST

Now you can prove the similarity of ZOLATRONS and DIAMONDS with this daring experiment. Take a loose Diamond, a Zolatron and a Plastic Stone (used in cheap jewelry) and drop them into foaming sulphuric acid. Next day carefully remove them from the acid. Note how both the diamond and the Zolatron come out unharmed. But the plastic stone has disintegrated into a mushy mass. Hard, dense Zolatrons easily pass this corrosive acid test. Just like diamonds they don't break down. CAUTION: Sulphuric Acid is a dangerous substance. Avoid getting onto skin or clothing.

WEAR ZOLATRONS WITH CONFIDENCE!

Yes, wear this magnificent man-made stone with pride and assurance—just like a diamond costing thousands. Keep the secret to yourself. After all, it takes a real diamond expert to detect it from a natural diamond.

THE GIFT OF A LIFETIME FOR SOMEONE SPECIAL!

ZOLATRONS make thrilling, lifetime gifts for special occasions . . . engagements . . . a wonderful surprise for Someone Special. He or she will never know it isn't a diamond worth a fortune — unless you tell. You don't have to go broke for a man-made stone either. A magnificent ZOLATRON Ring can now be yours for only a few dollars — rushed by return mail to your home. By choosing man-made ZOLATRONS instead of regular diamonds, you save plenty for a down payment on a car, real estate or a terrific vacation.

Many millionaires and movie stars secretly wear simulated diamonds. Think of this: the "genuine" diamonds your neighbors show off at parties, may not be so "genuine" after all. We know of rich folks that wear simulations and stash their costly jewels in bank vaults. Be it as it may, you don't have to be a millionaire to own a man-made ZOLATRON Ring.

DON'T FALL FOR INFERIOR IMITATIONS!

Don't waste good money on soft, plastic imitation diamonds that soon discolor, and lose their sparkle. Get genuine original ZOLATRONS – the simulated diamond that truly resembles the hardness, pure color and fiery splendor of fantastically expensive diamonds. So cleverly made only a diamond expert can detect it!

Supertanker

combustible—gases produced by the ship's exhaust system.

Another factor that eases the mind is that these really huge ships are precluded from entering any major port in the United States because this country has no major deep-water facilities to cope with them. (The people of Staten Island—the least-known borough of New York City—are by no means happy, however. Storage facilities for 900,000 tons of liquefied natural gas are being built on that island—and far too near to houses and apartment blocks for their inhabitants' comfort.)

But then consider what I think is the real danger. It was brought home to me quite dramatically.

Last summer, in Manhattan, I sat down to write a novel about a group of activist American Indians who took over a supertanker and held the island of Manhattan for ransom. It was a novel, nothing more—a fantasy with a hero (the mayor), a heroine (Manhattan herself) and a splendid collection of villains.

Of course it could not really happen, I thought. And then I bought some charts and started doing some reading. What I found was that it was indeed possible to bring a huge supertanker into the Hudson and create exactly the situation I had envisaged.

A very unhappy thought.

But the plot was based on the knowledge that in a few years time, such will be the high level of automation and computerization that these huge ships will have minimal crews—possibly as few as eight or ten men. At the moment, few of them sail with less than 26 men on board, and each of these men is generally highly skilled. It is only the "cowboys" who worry me.

What is important is that those people who transport great, almost unbelievable, quantities of fuel and dangerous chemicals should be constantly reminded that they have a massive responsibility to the rest of us; and that these huge loads must be treated as the potent hazard they are.

The Cleveland explosions brought about a major examination of all the potential dangers. Perhaps the time has come for a new reassessment by public authorities and the transporters themselves.

It would be far better to do it now than after an explosion that would almost certainly be far more catastrophic than that of 1944. It is, after all, our lives that are involved.

THE EYES HAVE IT
Neither wind, nor rain . . .

Anyone who wears eyeglasses and has gotten caught in the rain knows that after a while you can't see a thing. Walking into a warm room after being outside in the cold also causes visual problems. To remedy this dilemma, a French manufacturer followed the idea of automobile windshield wipers and designed battery-operated windshield-wiper-fitted spectacles. (Prescription glasses can also be fitted.) The spectacles are lightweight and all you have to do to set the wipers in motion is press a button on the side. But a few queries remain: Wouldn't they become hypnotic after a time? And if they're as unreliable as car wipers, wouldn't a tissue do just as well?

Women are setting a new trend—as runaways: "In no other year have women outnumbered men as the runaway spouse," said Ed Goldfader, president of Tracers Company of America. "Two years ago, for example, runaway husbands outnumbered runaway wives by a margin of two to one. Generally speaking, the average husband leaves home because of professional frustrations and financial pressures. The wife often leaves to get attention; she is anxious to elevate herself from the role of cook, laundress and housekeeper," Goldfader concluded after numerous interviews with wives who had decided to go it alone. The most publicized incident of a female runaway was the case of Angelina Alioto, wife of San Francisco Mayor Joseph Alioto, who last year vanished in the midst of her husband's reelection campaign. After 17 days, Mrs. Alioto returned and publicly explained that she had run away because she felt neglected. There are other reasons for the rising number of female runaways, which reveal the tremendous change in social mores in recent years. As Americans have become more educated, more affluent and more sophisticated, large numbers of men and women have come to believe that marriage is not the only option open to them (as the drop in marriages and subsequent rise in the divorce rate attest).

Wide World

JOE DIMAGGIO
"I don't like comparisons, but . . ."

The Oakland A's, whom Joe DiMaggio coached for three years, have won the World Series three years in a row, but Joltin' Joe maintains that they're still not on a par with the old Yankees: "You get in trouble when you start comparing eras, but would you prefer having Gene Tenace at first base over Lou Gehrig? Would you use Ray Fosse behind the plate over Bill Dickey or Yogi Berra?" But the ex-center fielder of the Yankees admits that a player like Reggie Jackson or Sal Bando would have been an asset to any Yankee team and goes on to say, "In fact, the A's have many of the same qualities that the Yanks did—they wait for the other team to make an error and really capitalize on those mistakes." Joe retired from play 25 years ago; but at age 60, his popularity hasn't diminished one bit. He travels all over the world instructing youngsters, demonstrating that he hasn't forgotten how to use a bat. With all the TV commercials he does, he is quick to add: "More people see me today than at the height of my baseball career."

ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour

FACING IT

Our bathroom mirror has a bubble
That causes me no end of trouble.
I move my face the slightest bit—
The bubble makes a mess of it.
My nose is shifted to my cheek
Or else becomes a monstrous beak;
One eye (it's hard to think it's mine)
Is up or down or out of line;
My lips grow thick and then grow thin;
I look as if I've lost my chin.
That bubble shifts and longs and shorts me,
It unexpectedly distorts me. . . .
Bad as I look, at least I'm glad
I really don't look quite that bad.

Walking along a dimly lighted street, a man was surprised by a stranger who slipped out of the shadows and stopped him. "Would you be so kind," said the stranger, "as to help a poor, unfortunate fellow who is out of work and very hungry? All I have in the world is this gun." —Lucille S. Harper

The best way to find a lost earring is to throw away its mate.
—Lillian Koslover

A government official had to decide whether an elderly woman's farm was located in the United States or Canada. When he announced to her that her property was just inside the U.S., she seemed very much relieved and said, "I'm glad to know that. They say Canadian winters are terribly severe."

Our four-year-old son had done the same forbidden thing time after time, ignoring warning after warning. Finally his dad punished him, then asked him why he had been so stubborn. Between sobs, Bruce answered, "Well, I just did what I did to see if you love me more than you do."

It's slower.
It's easy drawing.
It's a cigarette.

It's a new experience.

It's a whole new look in cigarettes.

A whole new feel.

A whole new length.

More. It's the first 120mm cigarette. Longer and slower-burning than a conventional cigarette, More gives you more time for those relaxing moments. More flavor yet surprising mildness.

More. Put your cigarette against it.

It's a cooling blast.

If you like menthol, now you can have More Menthol.

It's the new 120mm menthol cigarette that starts with a blast, then gives you more coolness and tobacco taste.

More Menthol. Put your menthol cigarette against it.
